GERMANS DEFIANT, ALLIES SUMMON MILITARY CHIEFS

Reply to Coal Ultimatum Is Unsatisfactory and Treaty Terms May Be Enforced.

HITCH ON INDEMNITY, TOO

HOLD LONG NIGHT COUNCIL

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

SPA, July 13 (by Telephone to London and Thence by Cable).—Confronted by the impracticability and obstinacy of the Germans the allied statesmen suspended the conference at 6 o'clock tonight and summoned Marshal Foch and Field Marshal Sir Henry Wilson to come at once to Spa in order that steps may be taken to try and convince the Germans that the Allies won the war. In the meanwhile the German delegation is to remain here, probably to receive an ultimatum from Foch.

All chance of agreement upon the amount of the German indemnity and method of its payment has now practically vanished. The Germans have refused to make any offer at all and there is nothing left for the Allies to do except adjourn all matters or set their figure and stand by it.

The conference broke up on the question of coal, which in reality is part of the reparation problem. The technical point on which the impasse was reached was the fixing of a figure for the amount of coal delivery, but the real problem is larger. This is the attitude of the German Government. True it is that Foreign Minister Simons says eloquently that Germany intends to carry out her obligations, but each time the Allies have tried to get these words transformed into acts they have met with temporization and evasion.

Seek to Make New Terms.

The Germans seem absolutely to ignore the existence of the Versailles Treaty, and their whole policy has played for a new arrangement between the Allies and the Germans, an arrangement much more advantageous to the Germans. The concessions they demand are so general and so sweeping and so prejudicial to allied interests that Lloyd George and Millerand have had enough.

This morning the allied experts with the Reparations Commission called in the German experts to explain just what the German plan submitted on Sunday amounted to in performance. The Chairman of the Commission said to me after the meeting:

"We could make no progress. The Germans dodged at every step. They would set no figures until we met their coal demands. There was nothing to do but report that it was useless to try to agree with them. There is only one thing to do, and that is for the Reparations Commission to fix a just amount and let us collect it."

During the session Hugo Stinnes advanced the argument that if the Allies did not make a coal settlement favorable to Germany they would force a general miners' strike called by the miners' conference now in session at Geneva. The French delegates retorted that the Allies would take that chance.

At the evening session of the conference proper, which began at 5:30, Dr. Simons, in making his latest coal offer, said that if the miners were asked to work longer hours they would refuse, and declared he could not make the decision the Allies asked for because it would be unfair to the miners.

Bid for Upper Silesia.

Dr. Simons then said that if Upper Silesia were given to Germany the Germans would get more coal out of it than the Poles and be able, perhaps, to increase deliveries to the Allies. He declared that Upper Silesia had belonged to Germany for 700 years and had no doubt that a plebiscite would leave it to Germany, but he thought there should not be a plebiscite, because it would cause too much excitement among the population and prevent the miners doing good work. As the situation stood, Simons said, Germans could offer no more than 1,700,000 tons monthly, and that only if the Allies supplied food for the German miners.

When the Germans left the conference for their headquarters it was evident they were very worried, but after a meeting of their experts a statement was given out supporting the attitude taken on the coal question. It said it was useless for the German Government to sign any agreement against the miners. It is too early to predict what will be done. The French viewpoint is that the Allies should occupy the Ruhr Valley, take their share of coal and turn the rest over to Germany. Lloyd George has for months fought this contention. It is a question whether his sad experience at Spa has changed his mind.

In view of the German threat that if the Ruhr is occupied the German miners will not work, it is worth while to recall that the same prediction was made with regard to the Sarre Basin. If the Allies occupy the mines the

SPA, July 13.—Some members of the German delegation have complained to Chancellor Fehrenbach of aggressions of which they claim to have been the victims since their arrival at Spa.

One journalist attached to the delegation came to blows with a former Belgian officer, whose house here he occupied during the war.

According to these claims, last evening as the Germans were in a café the orchestra struck up the British national anthem. The Germans began singing in their native tongue. A Belgian civilian took offense and ordered them out. They were finally ejected after a scuffle in which the same journalist received a blow over the nose with a cane.

The Belgian civilian emerged just as Herr von Eckhardt, editor of the Hamburg Fremdenblatt, and Herr Stoklossa, correspondent of the Wolff Agency, were passing. Recognizing them, he struck Stoklossa in the face with his cane, injuring him so severely that he was confined to bed today.

The German delegation will make representations to the Belgian authorities regarding the affair.

BRITISH FOR STRIKE TO ASSIST IRELAND

DEMAND IMMEDIATE TRUCE

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, July 13.—By a majority of more than one million votes, the special Trades Union Congress called today to consider the Irish question decided in favor of a general "down-tools" policy to compel the withdrawal of troops from Irelapd.

This approval of a policy of direct action was reached at the end of a session during which other voting was contrary to such a revolutionary policy. The deciding vote was cast for a resolution submitted by the Miners' Federation of Great Britain, of which Thomas Smillie, one of the most extreme of British labor leaders, is the head.

The resolution was to the effect that the congress protested against British military domination of Ireland, demanded the withdrawal of all British troops from that country and also demanded the cessation of the production of munitions of war destined for use against Ireland and Russia.

It should be explained that the adoption of the miners' resolution at present amounts to a threat of direct action and no more.

Whether the threat will at once be put into effect will depend upon the ballot of members of each union, which will be taken when the Government refuses the demands made in the resolution.

The Parliamentary Committee of the Trades Union Congress has no power to call a strike. Each trades union will act according to its constitution, and in most cases a ballot will be necessary.

Another congress may have to be called before there is any likelihood of the threat becoming effective. Eight hundred delegates were present at today's congress. They represented a total membership of 25,000,000, and a majority of 1,124,000 for the miners' resolution was obtained on a card vote.

Has Effect of Ultimatum.

LONDON, July 13 (Associated Press).—What is tantamount to a threat of direct action for the purpose of forcing the Government to call a truce, withdraw the troops from Ireland and institute an Irish Parliament was voted at the Trades Union Congress in London today, when a resolution introduced by the Miners' Federation was adopted on a card vote by 2,760,000 against 1,636,000.

This vote followed previous rather confusing votes, but its effect, according to James Henry Thomas, General Secretary of the National Union of Railwaymen, is that, should the Government ignore the railwaymen's resolution calling for a truce in Ireland and opening an Irish Parliament, it will become the duty of the Congress Committee to see that the miners' resolution is carried into effect.

It is believed, however, that before any ballot on this object is taken another congress will be summoned to consider the matter.

The miners' delegates are jubilant over their success in carrying the congress for a "down-tools" policy by a majority largely exceeding 1,000,000.

Machine Guns Guard Court.

BELFAST, July 13.—Lifford, where the County Donegal Court of Assizes is being held, was in possession of the military today.

Two Lewis machine guns were in position on the roof of the Court House, and when Justices Dodd and Kenny arrived to open the court guns commanded the principal thoroughfares and soldiers occupied positions behind sandbags on the roof.

A couple of detachments of the West Surrey Regiment were posted in the square in front of the Court House, and other detachments were in the building, where the balconies were guarded by soldiers with fixed bayonets.

In an attempt to prevent the jurors from reaching Lifford, rails were torn up on the Burtonport extension of the Lough Swilly Railway and the telegraph wires were cut.

Dublin Barricades Removed.

DUBLIN, July 13.—Barricades on roads leading to Dublin, which were erected last week, all were removed during last night. It is now supposed that they were intended to prevent the dispatch of arms to Ulster for the July 12 celebration.

A police motor was ambushed by an armed party tonight between Cloghan and Dingle. Two constables were shot dead and the driver and District Inspector Fallon were dangerously wounded.

DE CORDOVA MURDER MYSTERY DEEPENED BY SLAYER'S WIFE

HAD 'PHONED SLAIN WOMAN

MANIAC'SDEED,LAWYERSAYS

Mr. De Cordova's Counsel Asserts Crime Was Due to Unreciprocated Infatuation.

The motive that drove Bernard B. Geissler, young chauffeur, with his machine halted in an unfrequented dirt road seven miles out from Stonington, Conn., to level an automatic pistol at Mrs. Florence Mercédes De Cordova, and kill her, and then put a bullet through his own head, from temple to temple, causing his death twelve hours later, remained hidden last night after nearly twenty-four hours' investigation by the authorities of three Connecticut communities.

Theory after theory came to the investigating officials seeking an explanation of the chauffeur's sudden deed, and each, failing of supporting facts, was dropped—theories that Geissler died in defense of his employer's wife; that a quarrel had driven him to murder and suicide, and that the chauffeur, repelled when he displayed infatuation, had gone mad. These all failed of corroboratory evidence, and only the decision of Coroner Franklin H. Brown of New London County—murder and suicide by Geissler, motive unknown—remained positive last night.

One thing that the authorities gave attention to in their inquiry into the strange crime, especially in their efforts to establish the reason for it, was a ports that Geissler was infatuated with Mrs. De Cordova. In addition to the testimony of James Main, a witness examined yesterday in New London, who told of seeing the broker's wife and her chauffeur side by side on the machine's runningboard, acting in "a hilarious manner," was a statement contained in an interview which the chauffeur's wife, Mrs. Anita Geissler, gave to a reporter of THE NEW YORK TIMES a few hours before she went to the Connecticut city to take care of her husband's body.

"I Expected This," Wife Says.

While scores of detectives were searching the maple-fringed road where the tragedy occurred, while her husband, lying in a New London hospital, was making a losing fight against death, the chauffeur's wife—29 years old, slender, brunette, pretty—sat in the kitchen of her four-room apartment on the third floor of 201 West Eighty-fourth Street, looked up calmly at a TIMES reporter who had brought her the news and said:

"I expected this. I had a presentiment of his death. I knew something would happen to him, to 'Barney.'"

The small young woman broke off abruptly. Her hands lying in her lap contracted. "I won't tell you anything," she said dully. A minute later, staring at the wall over the reporter's head, she seemed to take a decision.

"Yes, I will," she said, "I'll tell you what I know."

In a weary monotone, seldom shifting her fixed gaze at the green-painted kitchen wall, she told how she had met "Barney" and how after a speedy courtship he married her in February, 1917. She related how the chauffeur had gone to work for the De Cordovas, five years ago, and told of the trips that the broker, his wife, and their two children, Heustis, 20 years old, and Janice, 21 years old, took to the Griswold Hotel, near New London, starting on July 1 every year.

"When my husband came back from Connecticut last Labor Day, the date that the De Cordovas always came back every year," she said, and the hands began to clinch, "I could see right away that he was a changed man. He began to stay out late at nights, spending all of his money, and when I remonstrated with him, called me down, he would answer me sneeringly, and sometimes he would threaten me.

Says Chauffeur Struck Her.

"On the night of June 5 last he came home in that frame of mind and I tried to talk to him. He struck me and knocked me down.

"On the morning of June 7, two days later," continued the chauffeur's wife, "Barney came into the house, packed up all his personal belongings and left me. Several weeks later, on June 28, I called Mrs. De Cordova on the telephone at her residence and talked to her." Mrs. Geissler reported what she had said to Mrs. de Cordova.

"She made no reply," said the chauffeur's wife. She was silent a moment.

"On the morning of July last," she continued, "Barney called me on the telephone and bid me good-bye, saying that he was starting that day for Connecticut with the De Cordova family. That was the last I heard from him until last Thursday when I received his check."

Then the wife disclosed that on June 18 last she had brought her husband before Magistrate Koenig in the Domestic Relations Court in East Fifty-seventh Street, seeking an allowance pending trial of a suit for separation on the ground of cruelty. She said that the

Stick to Porch Campaign, No Barnstorming, Says Hays

"There is no intention at present of abandoning the Republican 'porch campaign plans,' and there will be no barnstorming by Senator Warren G. Harding."

This was the statement of Will H. Hays, Republican National Chairman and commander in chief of the Harding-Coolidge campaign, upon his arrival here yesterday to again take charge of Republican headquarters.

Conferences with leaders of sixteen States brought Mr. Hays back very optimistic, his advisers said, and it was made plain that he and Senator Harding were in full accord on the "home" campaign idea. "Conditions could not be better," was the National Chairman's phrase, as he tackled the accumulation of work that had come in his week's absence in Chicago, and in Marion County, Ohio.

National City Plans to Increase Its Capital from $25,000,000 to $40,000,000.

The growth of New York banking operations and the movement toward centralization of banking interests were emphasized yesterday through important changes affecting three leading institutions. Dominant stockholders of the Bankers Trust Company and the Liberty National Bank it was learned practically had agreed upon terms they would accept for a merger of the two institutions. The proposal has yet to be laid before the Boards of Directors, but when it is completed the resultant institution will be exceeded in point of resources only by the National City Bank and the Guaranty Trust Company.

Directors of the National City Bank voted to increase the capital stock from $25,000,000 to $40,000,000, subject to the approval of stockholders at a special meeting to be held Aug. 26. It was decided, also, to increase the combined capital, surplus and undivided profits from $83,300,000 to approximately $100,000,000.

The consolidation of the Bankers Trust and the Liberty National has been considered in financial circles as a logical development in local banking growth for several years. Both are classed in the "Morgan group" of banks, and there has been close affiliation between them ever since the former was established in 1903. E. C. Converse, one of the founders of the Bankers Trust, is a Director of the Liberty National, while Daniel G. Reid and Daniel E. Pomeroy have long been on the boards of both banks, and Seward Prosser, President of the trust company, is also a Liberty National Director. It is believed that when the program is complete the Liberty National will be absorbed by the Bankers Trust, ending the identity of the bank and joining its operating staff with that of the trust company.

Combined Capital Is $30,000,000.

In the statements of the two institutions as of June 30, it is shown that, together, they have capital stock aggregating $25,000,000; loans and discounts amounting to $344,667,700, including funds due from trust companies, banks and bankers; surplus and undivided profits of $24,618,750 and total resources of approximately $518,094,711. Both concerns were prominent in war financing, and since the armistice was signed they have devoted a great deal of attention to handling international trade undertakings.

The Liberty National last year absorbed the Scandinavian Trust Company, and has since, through visits of its officers to Europe, worked to extend mercantile and banking relations with the Scandinavian countries. The President, Harvey D. Gibson, was the Director of

JAPAN TAKING UP CALIFORNIA ISSUE WITH WASHINGTON

GROWING PROBLEM SEEN

STRONG FEELING ON COAST

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, July 13.—Informal conversations are in progress between the American and Japanese Governments relative to the situation in California that has been precipitated by the proposed initiative on State legislation designed to prevent Japanese from owning or leasing land within that Pacific Coast State. This proposed initiative on legislation is to be submitted to the voters of the State in the coming November elections, and there is every indication that it will be approved by the voters of California.

Whatever the action to be taken in California, there is now no doubt in Washington that the problem presented by the influx of Japanese into California, and by the proposed action in California, combine to confront the American Government with an extremely difficult and intricate problem, one of the most important problems that the United States has to face in the next year, and a problem of far greater significance than the country at large had been inclined to attribute to it.

The influx of Japanese into California, and the increase of Japanese population there, as a result of the entry of Japanese picture brides, and increase of Japanese population through births, is known by Federal officials to have developed a situation in California which must soon be met fairly and courageously. There is now no doubt in well-informed quarters here that before another Winter passes, perhaps soon after the voters of California act in November, the matter of the attitude of the United States toward the California angle of the Japanese question will loom above the horizon of American international relations, if not acutely, at least more prominently than any other foreign question facing this country.

Governor Stephens Urges Action.

Secretary of State Colby, who returned from San Francisco to Washington today, declined to make any comment whatever on the California-Japanese question. During his absence the State Department received from Governor William D. Stephens of California a letter addressed to the Secretary, appealing to the Federal Government for further protection against the entry of Japanese into California. Governor Stephens's letter asserted that the influx of Japanese into California had brought about "alarming" conditions and that it had become necessary to protect the sovereignty of the State against this growing menace through diplomatic negotiation or a strict exclusion act.

The letter of Governor Stephens had not been actually brought to the attention of Secretary Colby today. He was compelled to attend a Cabinet meeting and to attend to some other accumulated matters of state and had not reached the point where he would, in regular order, take up the Stephens letter. Secretary Colby was asked today whether he had conferred with Governor Stephens while in California. He replied that he had not, said that he had not read the Stephens letter and declined to make any comment whatever on the California situation.

While Mr. Colby declined to talk about the situation, it is known that there is a growing disposition here to feel that there has been a tendency in various parts of the country, not directly affect-

COX TO CONSULT WILSON ON ISSUES SUNDAY; HARDING ACCEPTS CHALLENGE ON LEAGUE; LA FOLLETTE READY TO LEAD THIRD PARTY

Gov. Cox Sought the White House Conference; Washington Democrats Pleased With Early Date

WASHINGTON, July 13.—President Wilson will have his first personal conference with the Democratic national nominees at the White House at 10:30 o'clock Sunday morning, July 18. Announcement to this effect was made at the White House this afternoon after Joseph P. Tumulty, secretary to President Wilson, had had another telephone conversation with Governor Cox. This was one of a series of such conversations that had taken place between Governor Cox and Mr. Tumulty since the nomination.

The request for the conference was made by the Governor. The President's response was that he would cordially receive the Democratic nominee. Governor Cox will leave Dayton in time to arrive in Washington early Saturday afternoon. He will be accompanied to Washington by Judge Timothy T. Ansberry, formerly a member of Congress from Ohio and now a practicing lawyer in Washington. Governor Cox will not spend Saturday night at the White House, but will go to the residence of Judge Ansberry, who is an intimate friend.

Franklin D. Roosevelt, who has gone to Hyde Park, N. Y., for a home-coming celebration, will come to Washington later in the week in time to be able to join Governor Cox for the White House conference.

Democratic leaders here are greatly pleased over the fact that there will be no further delay of the meeting between the President and the party's nominees. Efforts have been made by Republican politicians to make it appear that the President and Governor Cox were not in complete harmony over the League of Nations and other matters of party policy, and a further postponement of the first meeting between them after the convention might unjustly give rise to the belief there was some foundation for these rumors.

Men in close touch with the White House assert that after the conference between the President and Governor Cox it will be made very plain that there is no real difference between them over the League of Nations project, and that, if Republican leaders are counting upon the failure of President Wilson to give enthusiastic support to the Democratic national ticket they are doomed to bitter disappointment.

The very morning of Governor Cox's nomination it was apparent that the President and his closest friends in Washington were greatly pleased. It was also pointed out that the President warmly approved the speech that Governor Cox made at the Jackson Day banquet in the Washington, in which he declared that, inasmuch as the American soldiers in France had not gone over the top with reservations, it did not behoove American politicians at home to take the treaty over the top with reservations.

LA FOLLETTE SENDS WORD HE WILL LEAD

Wants Third Party Platform to Meet His Views and It Will Be Changed.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Wednesday, July 14.—Senator La Follette at Madison, Wis., this morning told a Milwaukee Sentinel reporter that he would accept the third party nomination for President "if the platform is such as can be accepted by me."

The new draft of the platform as made by the Resolutions Committee was started to Madison from Chicago at 3 o'clock this morning for Senator La Follette's consideration.

CHICAGO, Wednesday, July 14.—Senator La Follette has changed his decision not to become the candidate of the Amalgamated Parties in session here and announced over the telephone this morning that he would accept the nomination. The Platform Committee will rearrange the platform to meet his requirements, work continuing on the instrument all of the night. La Follette's acceptance is contingent upon the creation of a platform that suits him and this requirement will be met.

The Third Party Formed.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, July 13.—A third party was formed today by a combination of the groups which have been holding conventions here.

The amalgamation was a triumph for the extreme radicals, the "Labor Party of the United States" being the largely dominant factor. It has the cordial support of delegates from the farmers in the Non-Partisan League and such elements as Hearst's American Constitutional Party and the World War Veterans of America.

The single tax followers were in the new combination until late tonight when they withdrew because their views were not in the platform.

The Committee of Forty-eight shook the feeble control of its Eastern organizers and stampeded into the labor convention. J. A. H. Hopkins, Allen McCurdy, Amos Pinchot and others of the Forty-eighters' right wing, entered the joint meeting, recognizing that they were beaten, but hoping to carry on the fight for a middle-of-the-road party which would make more than a class appeal. As soon as the amalgamation was effected, however, the Hopkins group discovered that the labor party had swallowed the Committee of Forty-eight with one gulp.

The convention ran a relentless steam roller over those who were comparatively conservative. It adopted a series of resolutions of interest mainly to the extreme Labor Party, prepared to adopt a platform incorporating the "democratization" of industry and other radical features and ignored every protest from the original Forty-eighters.

From the moment when the united convention got in motion this afternoon things went exactly to the taste of the big majority of delegates. Then when they were all assembled tonight, ex-

HARDING ACCEPTS LEAGUE AS ISSUE

SEES WILSON PARAMOUNT

Special to The New York Times.

MARION, Ohio, July 13.—Speaking for the Republican party and its candidates, Senator Warren G. Harding today accepted the challenge of the Democratic Party to make the League of Nations the paramount issue of the campaign.

His willingness to make the election "a national referendum" on the league is expressed in the following statement:

"Columbus dispatches describing the conference between the Democratic nominees for President and Vice President on Monday, say that Governor Cox left it to the Vice Presidential nominee to make known the conclusions reached.

"And, thus authorized to speak for both of them, the Vice Presidential nominee stated that he considered the League of Nations one of the dominant issues of the campaign, not only in the East but in the West. He expected to make his campaign on the League of Nations issue.

"So we have complete proof that President Wilson has won, and forced acceptance of his paramount issue. The party machinery has been taken over by the Tammanyites of New York, New Jersey and Indiana, but President Wilson has forced his issue on them. He has but one concern, and that is the vindication of his foreign policy, first by his party, later by the country.

"The Democratic campaign harnesses the party absolutely to the Administration policy of ratification without protection to American interests. Should the Democrats win, the league would be ratified, and America would become at once a party to the twenty-odd wars now going on in the world. European leaders have repeatedly explained that it is impossible for the League of Nations to function effectively so long as the United States has not ratified. The obvious implication is that when the United States ratifies, the league will proceed to settle up these matters: To enforce its authority in the conflict between Poland and Russia, to settle the Adriatic troubles, compel peace between Turkey and Greece, assume responsibility for pacification of the whole Near East and Middle East.

"All this cannot be done unless the league employs force. America would have to contribute its army and navy. President Wilson has urged acceptance of a mandate for Armenia, which the Harbord mission found would require us to use a great army and pour out money by hundreds of millions. Congress overwhelmingly refused, and the country has sustained it so insistently that even the San Francisco convention did not dare to enforce the mandate. Yet that mandate would hardly be more than an intimation of the many world-flung conflicts into which America would be pro-

NOT A "COURTESY CALL"

White House Conference to Deal With Questions of Grave Moment.

WILSON'S ADVICE SOUGHT

PLAN TO END 'SLUSH FUNDS'

Special to The New York Times.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, July 13.—Governor James M. Cox, Democratic nominee for the Presidency, and Franklin D. Roosevelt, his running mate, will discuss the conduct and issues of the national campaign with President Wilson at the White House on Sunday. The announcement was made by Governor Cox after he had received a telephone message from Joseph P. Tumulty, Secretary to the President, informing him that Mr. Wilson would receive him in Washington at 10:30 Sunday forenoon.

While for some reason friends of Governor Cox seemed anxious to have it appear that he would journey to the capital for the sole purpose of paying, as one expressed it, "an ordinary and natural courtesy call" on the President, that version of the visit is not sustained by the facts. It is known that the conference was arranged at the personal request of Governor Cox and that questions of the gravest moment in connection with the coming national campaign will occupy the attention of the conferees while they are together.

As has been already indicated in THE NEW YORK TIMES dispatches, Governor Cox has sought this conference chiefly for the purpose of obtaining the guidance and co-operation of President Wilson in the preparation of his speech of acceptance. This does not in any sense involve an even partial surrender by the Governor of his individual views on questions of moment which will be issues in the campaign, except where these views may be changed by the light which President Wilson will undoubtedly be in a position to shed upon problems with which the Governor, of necessity, is less conversant than the President.

Will Discuss World Conditions.

One issue coming within this category is that of the League of Nations, which is intimately bound up with the question of America's foreign relations. Governor Cox hopes to obtain from the President, in the course of his visit, an intimate picture of world conditions, which he believes the President is in a better position to present with thorough accuracy than any other man whose council he would be in a position to seek.

Strange as it may seem, there has been in certain quarters an attempt to discourage Governor Cox from seeking the advice of President Wilson, on the ground that his visit to the White House might hurt him with certain classes of Democratic voters, notably the large Irish element. Some Democratic leaders have urged, that with Governor Cox winning his fight in the San Francisco convention without any aid from the representatives of the Administration in that conclave and, in fact, against their bitter opposition, he should signalize his victory by "cutting loose from the White House."

Governor Cox has turned a deaf ear to the clamorous representations of these advisers, exponents of a "new deal" idea that would bring into the foreground as the dominant element in party affairs from now on the "organization" group of leaders who have been concerned chiefly with the mechanics of Democratic politics, as contrasted with the group of men who won their spurs in the service of their country under the Wilson Administration. The Governor regards President Wilson as, beyond dispute, the leader of his party, and himself only as the leader in the national fight to keep the party in power in the Federal Administration and restore it to dominant power in Congress.

It is believed here that, while most of the White House conference will undoubtedly be devoted to the country's foreign relations, which will figure more largely in the campaign than any other question, issues related to its domestic policy will come up for discussion, too, and that in particular Governor Cox will seek advice from the President with reference to his prospective public utterances on reconstruction and problems involved in bringing about a better understanding between employers and workers as a means to peace and stability in American industry. The Governor believes that the President's views and his own will coincide very closely on the principal questions that will come before the country in the campaign.

The Governor has known President Wilson since 1912, when they spoke from the same platform at several large campaign gatherings in Ohio. His last visit to the White House was in March last year in the brief period President Wilson spent in this country to act on legis-

League to Pass on Anglo-Japanese Treaty; London Sees Our Interests Involved

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Wednesday, July 14.—The Chronicle's political correspondent writes:

"The Anglo-Japanese treaty has formally lapsed today, being the last day on which parliamentary notice of its renewal could have been given by the Government. This abstention of the Government is due to a new departure in policy and one which is of vital importance to the standing and prestige of the League of Nations. Great Britain and Japan have agreed in the first place that the old treaty should lapse in order that a renewal of the agreement in some similar form or possibly with some modifications should be referred to the League of Nations.

"I have the best authority for saying that the advisability of the renewal of such a treaty between Great Britain and Japan will forthwith be referred to the League of Nations for decision. The relations between both countries and the United States have been under recent diplomatic consideration and must also naturally be considered by the League of Nations, since the old treaty between Great Britain and Japan had a clause forbidding its exercise in respect of any war arising with the United States. Possibly a reference now of the renewal of the old treaty to the League of Nations may make for amicable agreements also between Japan and the United States.

"This is the second vital matter between nations to be referred to the League of Nations for decision, the first being the vexed question of the Aland Islands."

LONDON, July 13.—The Anglo-Japanese treaty will be automatically renewed for a period of one year, according to announcement made in offical circles this afternoon. Today was the last day on which notice of the abrogation or modification of the alliance could be made.

It was also announced today by the League of Nations, simultaneously with the notice of the renewal of the Anglo-Japanese compact, that the British and Japanese Governments had addressed notes to the League of Nations on the subject of the renewal.

The officials explanation of the renewal is that the British Government has not been able to communicate fully with the Canadian and Australian Governments on proposed alterations of the terms of the treaty. It was stated that the Colonial representations would be taken up probably in September or October.

There has been no reply on the part of the British Government to the note of the Peking Government, issued several weeks ago, in which the Chinese Government reiterated its objections to some of the provisions of the Anglo-Japanese treaty.

lation passed by Congress while the Peace Congress was in progress.

While Assistant Secretary Roosevelt was here yesterday an agreement on a tentative campaign plan was reached between him and the Governor which undoubtedly will be submitted to the President at the conference on Sunday. The new Democratic National Committee has already made arrangements for a meeting at Dayton, the home of Governor Cox, next Tuesday for the purpose of planning the campaign. The Governor and, in all likelihood, his running mate will attend this meeting, and in the meantime they will have had the benefit of President Wilson's advice upon many topics that will come up for discussion before the committee.

Governor Cox expects full co-operation from the Administration in his campaign, and undoubtedly ways and means by which such aid may be extended will be one of the subjects that he will have discussed with President Wilson before he meets the Democratic National Committee next week.

The Governor will start for Washington on Friday afternoon. He will return to Dayton on Monday for the purpose of being on hand to welcome the Democratic National Committeemen, a majority of whom will reach the city on that day.

One important topic that will be discussed when the new National Committee meets will be the method of gathering and administering the necessary campaign funds. While, like the Republicans, the Democrats have had under way for several months an organized effort to collect money for campaign purposes, according to all accounts this effort has not been as successful as those who have been actively identified with it had reason to expect.

Alert to Avoid Money Scandals.

The disclosures before the United States Senate committee which investigated campaign contributions and expenditures just before the two national conventions have not helped matters. While the testimony reflected principally upon the Republicans and did not in any considerable measure affect the Democratic Party, Governor Cox is on the alert and determined that nothing shall happen in the course of his campaign to subject either his party or its candidates to censure. Incidentally it is known that the Governor, who feels very keenly on this subject, is resolved if possible to make the Republicans keep within bounds in their collection and expenditure of funds for campaign purposes.

While it is understood that Governor Cox may have some pertinent things to say on this subject in his speech of acceptance, he was not ready to discuss it today. No one would be much surprised, however, if a proposal should be made by him at the meeting of the Democratic National Committee next week for periodical reports while the campaign is in progress, giving the source and amounts of all campaign contributions and showing how money has been spent for campaign purposes during the period covered by the reports.

The adpotion of such a plan would, in the opinion of Democrats here, act as a check on the Republicans, who, they feel, invariably have more success than they in getting money for campaign purposes and at the same time lay the foundation for a challenge to the opposition to adopt a similar plan, with the certainty that a refusal to comply would prove extremely harmful to the opposition candidates.

Governor Cox said today that he had called public attention to the fact that the Republicans "were seeking to raise a big slush fund for the 1920 campaign" long before the Senate committee began to investigate the lavish expenditure of money in the Spring primaries by candidates seeking the nomination for the Presidency. This was after a letter had come to light calling upon business men and manufacturers in Ohio to contribute substantially to the Republican State and national campaign funds as a "commercial proposition." The letter had been sent out by a committee of which Colonel William Cooper Procter, who later became manager of the pre-convention campaign of General Wood, was the head.

The proposal was inveighed against in an open letter to Colonel Procter which was signed by W. W. Durban, the Chairman of the Democratic State Committee, but inspired by Governor Cox, Chairman Durbban at the same time sent a letter, also inspired by the Governor, to Homer S. Cummings, Chairman of the Democratic National Committee, in which the latter was asked to "turn the spotlight of publicity on the Republican attempt." The letter also taxed the Republicans with the intention of raising "a slush fund of $100,000,000 with which to buy the 1920 election and put big business once more in the saddle."

There is every indication that the excessive use of money in campaigns will be one of the subjects upon which stress will be laid in the coming campaign. Governor Cox has this way. It is likely that the Governor will lay the foundation for a fight along this line in his speech of acceptance.

Governor Cox was asked today if his speech would be of great length. He smiled, but made no reply.

"Senator Harding has already announced that his speech will be very brief, for the reason that people read brief speeches in their entirety," was suggested.

"Well," said the Governor, with a new and broader smile, "we have a platform we can talk a lot about."

Callers at the Executive Chamber.

One of the callers at the Executive Chamber today was Daniel F. Mooney of St. Mary's, Ohio, formerly a member of the Ohio Legislature, now American Minister to Paraguay.

"Sentiment in Paraguay," said Mr. Mooney, "is strongly in favor of the League of Nations, and Paraguayans are expectant and hopeful that the United States will ratify the League covenant and take a conspicuous part in the work of the League. The people of Paraguay are anxious to establish more direct and intimate business relations between their country and the United States, with which they are much better acquainted than we are with Paraguay, and they believe that the League of Nations, with America one of the leading nations in it, would promote to such relations."

Another caller was William A. Green of Coshocton, Ohio, Secretary of the United Mine Workers of America. He came to assure Governor Cox that the mine workers of Ohio would give him cordial support. The Governor has been a promoter of legislation to improve their working conditions.

It was said today that Edward H. Moore, Democratic National Committeeman from Ohio, and the man who has received more credit than any other for "putting over" Governor Cox at the San Francisco convention, could have the place at the head of the Democratic National Committee if he would take it. Mr. Moore is now in San Francisco, recuperating from a slight indisposition the result of hard work. It is thought likely that for business reasons Mr. Moore will decline to accept this post of heavy responsibility, which must be filled when the Democratic National Committee meets in Dayton a week from today.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, July 13 (Associated Press).—Governor Cox said today that he expected the date for his official notification to be fixed by the National Committee at some time between Aug. 1 and 10, and that it would probably be at his home, Trail's End, in Dayton.

Message to Roosevelt Celebration.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, July 13.—Governor Cox today sent the following telegram to the Chairman of the Franklin D. Roosevelt Celebration Committee, Hyde Park, N. Y., where the Governor's running mate will be welcomed home this afternoon.

"Will you please permit me to enter with you and your neighbors into the spirit of happiness occasioned by the high honor which has come to Mr. Roosevelt? The provincial view of him has grown from the affection which he won in his boyhood and held throughout the years. The national view is that of the man, stalwart, courageous, progressive. He will be a great help in the contest."

WANTS NO MUD SLINGING

Vice Presidential Candidate Says He Hopes Only Truth Will Prevail in Campaign.

Special to The New York Times.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., July 13.—"All I ask in the coming political campaign is that there be no mud slinging," said Franklin D. Roosevelt, Assistant Secretary of the Navy and Democratic nominee for Vice President, in an address delivered tonight before the assembled citizens of his home town and of the County of Dutchess.

The streets were thronged with people. Every band in the city turned out, and flags and bunting decorated the line of march through the city to Eastman Park, where the addresses were made. A platoon of policemen headed the procession, followed by city officials, passing all the apparatus of the different fire houses, which were drawn up along the square of the court.

Mr. Roosevelt, accompanied by his wife, former Democratic State Senator Thomas Newbold, Justice of the Supreme Court Joseph J. Morschauser, William A. Adriance, a prominent Republican here, followed in automobiles. Mr. Roosevelt standing during most of the parade and waving his hat to many friends whom he recognized.

Riding behind him were his mother, Mrs. James Roosevelt, and other members of the family. In another automobile were Jeremiah F. Connor, secretary to Governor Alfred Smith, and Robert J. Powers, Secretary of the Democratic State Committee, who came down from Albany for the celebration.

In order to share the day with her husband, Mrs. Roosevelt traveled all night and all day from Eastport, Me.

At the park Mr. Roosevelt was introduced by the Mayor of the city, Ralph F. Butts, who said:

"My friends, we are gathered here this evening upon an occasion which deserves to be noted among the greatest events in the history of Dutchess County. There are just two offices which may be voted for by all the people of this nation, and tonight Dutchess County stands in the proud position of offering to the nation one of her sons for the second highest office in the gift of the people."

Mr. Roosevelt said:

"Mr. Mayor, my friends and neighbors, I'd rather come here and have this happen to me than have a hundred thousand people in any other part of the world give me such welcome. I am very much touched. It is a day that I will always remember, but I like to think that this is not so much any personal tribute to me as it is a tribute to the splendid citizenship of Poughkeepsie and Dutchess County.

"I am going to be taken in the next three and a half months into very nearly ever State of the Union. It is going to be a very great privilege for me to know this country, because no matter what party wins next November, this country is going on for better things and better things. And it is because we have citizens that I like to think are modeled on our citizenship right here that I know this country is not going to stand still.

"Out there in San Francisco, and, indeed, on the whole trip, there were two men, I believe, who put up a game on me. I didn't know anything about this until one gentleman was on the platform nominating me, but from what I discovered afterward there are two persons present right here now who are the guilty parties, because of their activities from the day we started until the day we got back. I have had to name the gentlemen the 'Dutchess County Gold Dust Twins.' Their names are John Hack and Tom Lynch.

"So I am back here with only one possible regret for the future, and that is, if things go right on Nov. 2 or 3—whatever election day is, I haven't had time to look it up yet—I will have to spend the greater part of the next four years away from home, but it will give me some consolation to know, possibly, that I can be here from election day until the 4th of March next.

"You know, they tell a lot of stories out in California about the wonders of California. They tell about an experiment that the Fish Commission tried a few years ago. They took hundreds of thousands of crayfish out of the ocean from the Pacific Coast, brought them here in tank cars and put them in the Atlantic Ocean with labels attached, and people were asked, if they caught them, to send the tags to Washington, so that it might be known whether these fish were staying in the vicinity and were increasing.

"After a week or two the tags began to come in from the West Indies, later from Brazil and then from Argentina, and then from the west coast of Chile, and at the end of two years all these crayfish got back to what they might have called God's own country. But, believe me, I have those crayfish beaten a mile, now that I have returned to what is to me really God's own country.

"And I want particularly to thank you for this hearty nonpartisan spirit. I have got to wage a partisan campaign. It is right, I think, that these issues should be presented this year by the two parties fully and clearly. All that I ask is that there be no mud-slinging—let the truth and the truth alone prevail. So let me thank you from the bottom of my heart and wish you godspeed. Thank you."

Greeted at Hyde Park.

HYDE PARK, N. Y., July 13 (Associated Press).—Franklin D. Roosevelt was given a noisy and affectionate greeting by his townspeople here today upon his arrival from San Francisco.

The nominee arrived here shortly after 5 o'clock on the Knickerbocker Express which was flagged at the village railroad station. He was met by a reception committee and accompanied to "Springwood," the Roosevelt home, where a village band and several hundred villagers were lined up at the gate.

Former Senator Newbold then led Mr. Roosevelt to the front veranda and presented him to his neighbors with the brief introduction: "Here's our boy."

"Neighbors, I am more moved by this than by anything else in my life," declared Mr. Roosevelt. "I am more moved than I was in San Francisco, where the unexpected happened, and the unexpected did happen at the last minute.

"I was sent from the floor of the convention to meet a man under the speakers' platform. The man whom I was supposed to meet was not there. Someone rushed up to me and said: 'They are nominating you.' I replied: 'Quit your kidding.' No one was more surprised than I was to get the Vice Presidential nomination.

"I want to tell you from the bottom of my heart that my success is due to my association with the good old stock of Dutchess County and the straight-thinking people I have been brought up among here. That has given me the inspiration to do everything I've done. We are going to carry this campaign into every State of the Union. We believe that is the square Democratic way of doing things.

"About the first of August a most extraordinary thing is going to happen here. They are going to notify me of my nomination for the Vice Presidency, and my strongest inclination is that I'll accept. The leaders of the national party will be here, but the thing that will count most will be your presence. I hope you will be here to help me through with it. I need all the help I can get. I don't mean votes—I mean your moral support.

"There is one thing that I want to tell you and that is that the National Democratic Convention was run in the open. All my life I have tried to do things in the open, where every one could see and where nothing was concealed. That was the spirit of the convention and I hope that will be the spirit of the campaign."

La Follette Objects to Planks.

A messenger arrived from Madison, Wis., bringing word from United States Senator Robert M. La Follette that he would not accept the third party nomination. La Follette was the first choice of all the important factions and no serious effort has been made to find another candidate. Gilbert E. Roe, the Senator's confidential associate, and his son and Secretary, Robert M. La Follette, Jr., were called into conference with the messenger and the new party's leaders.

The only ray of hope for the new party was that the Senaator's decision had been reached before he knew that the amalgamation had been effected. Efforts were begun to induce him to alter his decision and the convention may even go so far as to draft him despite his refusal.

Senator La Follette, it is understood, objects to the declarations in the platform favoring a League of Nations, recognition of the "Irish Republic" and Soviet Russia, and the nationalization of industries. Efforts are in progress to obtain agreement on a platform which will meet his views.

If he proves unavailable in the end the candidacy question will be absolutely open. Henry Ford is the only active seeker for it and the labor men are showing little enthusiasm for him. Since the laborites gained complete control there has been some talk of indorsing Eugene V. Debs, the Socialist candidate, but thus far it has not reached impressive volume.

Other bare possibilities, at least from the viewpoint of the delegates, are William Jennings Bryan, Senator Joseph I. France of Maryland and former Senator William Mason of Illinois. There is no reason to believe that any of them would accept.

The delegates almost certainly will not stay here after tomorrow, and all three big tasks—name, party platform and candidates—must be accomplished in a single day. The "Farmer-Labor" name seems most probable of selection, and there are no present indications that the radical features of the platform draft will be altered materially.

An indication of the temper of some of the delegates was given when Harry Neuberger of New York said in a speech: "We may not be able to grab the entire earth at this time, but we can take this step in that direction." A roar of applause greeted this utterance.

Radical Laborites Take Lead.

After an almalgamation of third party elements this afternoon, under the leadership of the radicals of the Labor Party, the joint convention met in Carmen's Hall tonight, but an adjournment was taken until 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

The Committee of Forty-eight held a morning session and, yielding to the Labor Party ultimatum, decided on fusion. By interlocking membership the joint convention also includes elements of the Non-Partisan League, the Single Taxers and the World War veterans, besides a number of smaller groups.

Before the delegates resumed their convention at night after a brief afternoon session, at which the Forty-eighters and other groups had been received in fellowship by the labor men, delegates of the various States met and organized about the State standards in Carmen's Hall.

There had been no formal provision for reorganization of the joint convention with State delegations. It was done by flat of the Chairman just before the afternoon session adjourned and after the labor men and other radical groups had established their overwhelming domination.

Platform of Nine Planks Drafted.

The Platform Committee had drafted a platform of nine planks. A score or more of proposals dear to the hearts of radical laborites had been disposed of by resolutions and the platform sheet was confined to the nine planks.

The first plank was a declaration of 100 per cent. Americanism. The second called for the abolition of imperialism at home and abroad, demanded recognition of the "Irish Republic" and Soviet Russia, pronounced against going to war with Mexico "at the behest of Wall Street," and declared for an eventual league of all the world "to the end that all wars may be abolished."

The third plank was a flat call for "Democratic control" of industry to which the right wing of the Forty-eighters had been vainly opposed from first to last. The fourth called for public ownership and operation of railroads, waterways and other public utilities and basic resources.

The fifth plank was on Government finance, including demands for a capital tax and soldiers' bonus. The sixth dealt with increased production, and the seventh with labor's "bill of rights," including the abolition of injunctions in strikes. It was the plank adopted by the American Federation of Labor at its Montreal convention and presented by Samuel Gompers to the Democratic and Republican platform committees at their conventions.

The eighth plank dealt with reduction of the high cost of living, and the ninth was an appeal to the Non-Partisan League and other radical agrarian groups, calling for the promotion of agricultural prosperity.

The delegates expected a hot fight by the Single Taxers for the inclusion of a plank expressive of their views. They also expected that the Hopkins-McCurdy group would try once more to steer the meeting back to the middle of the road. But all the delegates were tired and many made no secret of an impending financial stringency for themselves. Some had brought their hand baggage to the hall, determined to wind up the session in a hurry, select a name, adopt a platform, choose candidates and go home, despite opposition. But this plan failed.

Malone Speech Applauded.

Chairman Parley P. Christensen called the night session to order at 8:30 o'clock. The Chairman announced that he had to attend an important conference downstairs. He relinquished the chair to J. A. H. Hopkins, who, in turn, passed the gavel over to Dudley Field Malone of New York.

Malone promptly announced that he would take advantage of the opportunity to make a speech, and did. "I sometimes wonder," he said, "if this is the same country which a few years ago we were taught to revere and respect. It is the same fight, but we have been working from rotten government. Let none of us bear the name radicals."

There were wild cheers at this.

"The candidate of the Republicans was dictated from a hospital," Malone added, "and the platform of the Democrats was dictated from a sick room. I am glad we are here whole in body to attend to our own business."

This drew another big volley of approval.

Malone denounced the League of Nations, particularly as failing to stop "unjust imperialistic war against Russia, and the convention went wild.

Christensen resumed the chair at 9:45. He announced that the conference had been held because "Senator Robert M. La Follette wants to lead this movement if possible. When he dispatched his messenger, who is now downstairs, he did not know that all these great groups had amalgamated. The Senator does not want to dictate to us at all. He begged us not to nominate him. His confidential associate, Gilbert E. Roe, is here and so is the Senator's son.

"Under the circumstances we are not going to be dictated to by him. We are going to do our duty. He has said that as things stood when the messenger left he could not accept the nomination. I repeat we will not be dictated to; the whole matter is now in the hands of your Platform Committee."

The Chairman ended without the delegates understanding whether they were to nominate La Follette or not. After further delay and failing to hear from the Platform Committee, the convention adjourned until 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Joint Convention Assembles.

The fused convention got under way just after 3 o'clock this afternoon when the delegates of the Committee of Forty-eight arrived at Car Men's Hall in a body. They had formed at the Hotel Morrison, where their own convention had just ceased to function, and, with Chairman Parley P. Christensen as Chairman, marched to the hall where the labor men had been in session since Sunday.

The arrival of the Forty-eighters, bringing a united third party to the threshold of reality, had been awaited with keen impatience by the labor men. As soon as the vanguard appeared in the doorway there were wild yells and cheers and cries of welcome.

The party thus brought into being comprised the Labor Party of the United States, the Committee of Forty-eight and, by interlocking membership and most cordial manifestations of sympathy, the Non-Partisan League, the World War Veterans, the Single Tax Party and numerous smaller groups.

In all there appeared to be about 1,000 delegates on the floor, while the galleries were two-thirds empty.

As soon as the convention got under way it became apparent that the Eastern right wing of the Committee of Forty-eight, despite the defeat it had just taken at the hands of its own creation and the complete abandonment of that organization to extreme radicalism, had concluded to swallow its chagrin and stick by the movement.

The men who started out to be the leaders of the whole movement, the J. A. H. Hopkins, Amos Pinchot, Allen McCurdy group, were among the first to enter the hall. Christensen gave up his Chairmanship of the Forty-eighters when that body ceased to exist separately, and Hopkins accepted the joint Chairmanship of the convention. He took his seat beside John H. Walker, President of the Illinois Federation of Labor, who is the labor candidate for Governor of the State and Chairman of the labor convention. Walker continued to rule over the joint gathering, Hopkins, after he had addressed the meeting, lending the encouragement of his presence in another chair.

In his speech to the delegates Hopkins made no reference to the defeat he and his cohorts had sustained. He declared that the gathering had greater significance than the delegates realized. They represented, he said, a nucleus for multiplying political power and gaining victory.

"Now is the time!" he cried. "Success in 1920 is not impossible."

The delegates seemed glad to know that Hopkins had decided to remain with them, and applauded him cordially.

Then McCurdy made known his decision to go along with the radicals by taking the platform. McCurdy, too, glossed over the defeat he had suffered in his own convention, which had departed widely from the lines laid down in his keynote speech. He declared that sometimes one day is as a thousand years, and that this was such an occasion from the viewpoint of political importance. "We have come together because we had to have unity," McCurdy said. He went on to advise that the convention achieve real consolidation on a short declaration of principles.

Chairman Walker told the joint delegates that the merger was viewed with great alarm by the old political parties, which, he asserted, saw their day drawing to a close. This brought more applause.

Amos Pinchot then made a last stand for the views of the right wing group. He declared from the platform that there was no place in this country for a purely Labor Party. "Do not become a class party," he begged, only to receive a cold response. He expanded his plea by asking that the party be designed to appeal to the "great majority of unrepresented citizens," and not to one or two classes alone, but again he failed to move more than a scattering minority of the delegates, the farmers and labor men sitting mute and glum.

Swinburne Hale made a brief speech which seemed to be aimed at the Hopkins faction, in which he asserted that the Committee of Forty-eight had no separate axes to grind, and that if any of its members had expected to acquire such axes they knew better now.

O. E. Thomasen, of the Non-Partisan League of North Dakota, made an impassioned plea for union of the farmers and labor. He asserted that the two classes had been taught that they were separated by insuperable barriers, but that in his State they had found both were producers with common interests.

Laborites Show Their Control.

Up to that point the convention, devoted to a joy-ride of oratory, had proceeded smoothly. But suddenly it hit a bad bump in the road when the Labor Convention's Platform Committee, through its Chairman, Robert Buck, resumed its report with planks 22 and 22A.

A delegate in the gallery objected, insisting that the Forty-eighters did not know what had preceded. That was the first sign of restlessness on the part of the recruits, and Hopkins promptly heightened it by inquiring what the voting arrangements were with respect to the various organizations.

Chairman Walker stated the terms under which the labor men had "agreed to receive" the other groups, and that made the Forty-eighters angry. Walker told them that they could withdraw if they were not satisfied with the joint action taken, though he hoped they would not do so.

By that time the Forty-eighters fully realized that they had walked into an impasse. If the delegates were to vote just as individual delegates the Forty-eighters were hopelessly outnumbered, even if they had been a unit among themselves. The labor men made it plain they would consent to no other form of voting, and again the Hopkins men saw their lingering hopes fade.

Hopkins took the chair and recognized McCurdy, who pleaded with all the eloquence of which he is a ready master for order and slow, reasoned procedure, instead of a rush and hurry just for the sake of getting through.

Vote to Proceed with Platform.

The delegates cheered wildly for McCurdy and then proceeded to mangle him mercilessly with their steam roller. Harry Weinberger of New York, a delegate to both the labor convention and that of the Forty-eighters, moved that the convention ignore everything else and proceed at once to choose a name, adopt a platform and nominate candidates for the Presidency and Vice Presidency.

A hundred men and women tried to get the floor at once, and in the midst of a great hubbub the motion was carried. Hopkins proved unable to control the crowd, and yielded the gavel to Arthur Hayes of the Labor Party. Hayes obtained quiet promptly and put a motion that the convention reconsider all the work of the labor convention, explaining that a vote "Yes" meant to do the work all over again. The motion was lost with a great whoop, and the Labor Party, with one gulp, had swallowed all the other groups.

The Forty-eighters made another attempt to have the platform taken up anew, but the delegates rose in their desire to go ahead with Resolution 22, and the Forty-eighters were forced to submit to voting on the tail end of a platform without having had any vote on the preceding part.

This resolution was from the pen of Alexander Howat of the Kansas Miners' Union, who has challenged the validity of Governor Allen's industrial court law. The resolution condemned efforts to enslave the workers and pledged support, both moral and financial, to the United Mine Workers of Kansas in their "refusal to recognize" the industrial court.

Demand Russian Recognition.

The next resolution asserted at much length that evidence of the innocence of Tom Mooney, the convicted California dynamiter, had been strengthened and another resolution condemned Judge Anderson of Indianapolis for refusing citizenship to aliens "because of their political beliefs." Still another accused Great Britain of fostering the opium traffic in India and declared for the freedom of India. The next called upon the New Majority, official organ of the labor party, to print the "iniquitous records" of the Republican and Democratic candidates for the Presidency. Recognition of Soviet Russia was demanded and the Administration's Russian policy was condemned.

All the resolutions were adopted by overwhelming majorities despite the occasional protests of the Forty-eighters that all these things were labor business. The convention then adjourned until night.

The final session of the Committee of Forty-Eight as such was a complete victory for the radicals and a disastrous defeat for the little group of Eastern men who started the movement, arranged the convention and then had to stand as helpless witnesses to the birth of a third party far different from that of their dreams.

J. A. H. Hopkins, Executive Chairman of the committee, Allen McCurdy, who made its keynote speech, Amos Pinchot, one of its prime movers and others knew they were beaten before Chairman Parley H. Christensen had tapped his gavel to convene the last meeting of the separate convention.

Yesterday they had hoped to make a last, even if a losing, fight for their principles on the floor. But the labor party's ultimatum, giving the Forty-Eighters twelve hours in which to get together, had brought the psychology of a stampede among the big majority of the delegates, already determined to merge with the labor men on a free and easy economic and political program.

Hopkins and his cohorts, who had hoped almost to the last that they might sway the convention, saw finally they were beaten and avoided the painful consequences of a fight on the floor. Most of that group either stayed in corridors and committee rooms or else flitted in and out of the hall, resorting to the whispered word, because they knew that oratorical efforts and persuasion were doomed to failure.

Richmond's Radical Prayer Cheered.

The session was opened in a style that fitted well with the temper of the delegates by the Rev. Dr. George C. Richmond, now of St. Louis, whose radicalism has received attention in the past. "God Bless Eugene Debs," he prayed at one moment and "Bless William Bross Lloyd, now on trial in this city," at another. Much of his prayer was in the same vein, and the convention, forgetting the silence usually accorded the invocation, cheered and roared and applauded.

Sheridan Carlisle of St. Louis introduced a resolution that all conference committees be discharged and that the delegates get together with the labor convention as a whole. Many of the single tax and Non-Partisan League men already had deserted the Morrison Hotel in favor of Car Men's Hall, and the rest were so eager to go that the resolution was carried with a shout.

Swinburne Hale, Eastern leader of the left wing, asserted that the delegates had not come to Chicago to have committees waste time and money, but Howard Williams begged that the convention should not be swept off its feet. Dean Robert Morss Lovett of one of the schools of Chicago University added his plea for deliberation. There was a whirl of motions, and the resolution was recalled and tabled, after Chairman Christensen had assured the delegates that the Platform Committee was ready to report.

Committee Presents Platform.

The Platform Committee then reported through George L. Record of New Jersey. It had added to the public ownership plank the words "democratic control," thereby surrendering to the labor men, despite the expressed fear of the right wing that the little phrase really meant something very like Bolshevism. Record reported a disagreement on the "public ownership of mines" plank, saying that the Conference Committee on Platform had not felt authorized to go quite that far. He said that there also was a divergence on the capital tax plank, largely as to the amount of the tax. The Plumb plan for the railroads, he said, had been considered, and we "tried to get in the plan without the name."

Other planks were amnesty for all "political" prisoners, with no imprisonment because of industrial action or religious feeling, repeal of the sedition and espionage laws, recognition of the right of labor to strike, abolition of injunctions in all labor strife, election of Federal Judges for four-year terms, subject to the recall; the initiative, referendum and recall; no declaration of war except in the case of military invasion until the question has been submitted to the people, withdrawal of all further participation in the Treaty of Versailles and refusal to commit our Government to being a party to the "exploitation of weaker peoples," recognition of the "Republic of Ireland" and Soviet Russia, no secret diplomacy and prompt publication of all matters of State, the right of labor to an increased share in the management of and responsibility for industry and the inclusion of the Gompers Bill of Rights for Labor drawn up at the recent Montreal convention of the American Federation of Labor and submitted by President Gompers to the Republican and Democratic convention platform committees.

This platform was practically identical with one which the labor men meantime were approving in their own convention at Car Men's Hall while they waited for the amalgamation to become a reality. In addition they had incorporated planks for the relief from "starvation wages" of postal employes, sympathy for Eugene V. Debs and James Larkin as "martyrs," and immediate repeal of the Esch-Cummins railroad law, to be followed by "democratic management" of the railroads.

The Single Taxers fought hard to get their precise plank incorporated, but the convention, impatient of delay, decided to let the matter deal with itself with that. There was some oratory by Dudley Field Malone, Arthur L. Dakin of the British Labor Party and others in the course of the session. As it was drawing near 2 o'clock, at which hour the Forty-eighters were scheduled to join the others in Car Men's Hall, their separate convention came to an end.

Single Taxers Withdraw.

CHICAGO, July 13 (Associated Press).—The single tax delegates were the first to withdraw from the Fusion Party convention. Upon adjournment of the amalgamated meeting tonight, they went into separate session and selected their own party standard bearers. Robert O. Macauley of Philadelphia, Chairman of their National Committee, was nominated as the party's Presidential candidate. For the Vice Presidency they chose R. C. Barnum of Cleveland.

Single tax leaders said they withdrew from the fusion party when the inclusion of a single tax plank was refused and when they were convinced that the new party nominee would not conform to single tax theories.

FIGHT ON HARDING AS LEANING TO WETS

HE SAID HE WASN'T A DRY

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, July 13.—In view of Republican assertions that Governor Cox will be rejected by Western voters because of his alleged "wet" proclivities, Democrats are preparing to use one of Senator Harding's speeches as campaign material against the Republican nominee.

The statements to be used against Senator Harding, based on a speech made by him in the Senate Aug. 1, 1919, are that he declared that he was not a prohibitionist and had never posed as such; that he considered it "unwise, imprudent and inconsiderate" to force the issue at that time; that he insisted upon a time limit for ratification being placed upon the prohibition amendment; that he objected to candidates for office "being measured by the wet and dry yardstick;" and that he advocated compensating the liquor interests for their property destroyed through a bone-dry law.

Senator Harding's speech was delivered on the last day of the Senate arguments upon the national prohibition amendment offered by Senator Morris Sheppard of Texas. Mr. Harding offered an amendment that the proposed article of the Constitution be inoperative unless ratified by the States before July 1, 1923. He accepted a change in phraseology, making the time limit read "six years" from the time the amendment was passed by Congress. The time limit in this form was incorporated by the Senate.

Democrats will admit that Senator Harding was one of the sixty-five Senators voting for the joint resolution embodying the Sheppard amendment, but they will contend that he confessed he did so against his general judgment, and that he showed clearly that the was not a prohibitionist at heart.

Assert Parallel to Cox.

The assertion that Senator Harding voted for the constitutional amendment while not approving its principle will be employed by the Democrats as a parallel to the case of Governor Cox. They will say, in answer to Republican indictments of Governor Cox's "wetness," that the Democratic candidate demanded strict enforcement of anti-liquor laws, although he did not believe in the theory of them.

It is probable also that allusion will be made by the Democrats to the fact that Senator Harding owned shares in a small brewery in Marion. However, it is doubtful if a sincere attempt will be made to obtain capital out of this. Friends of Senator Harding say that he bought the brewery stock merely as an investment in a Marion enterprise, following a policy which he adhered in connection with any new industry in his home town.

The bringing out of the statement by Senator Harding that if the amendment were ratified, "I am willing to go further and join in a movement to make it effective through a process of compensation to the business destroyed," was much commented upon today. Prohibitionists, including Senator Sheppard, Wayne Wheeler of the Anti-Saloon League, and others would object strenuously to any compensation for brewery and distillery property. It is said that the "drys" will ask Senator Harding to explain his present stand upon his statement. About $775,000,000 was invested in liquor property at the time the prohibition amendment went into effect, it is estimated.

Text of Harding Speech.

The speech made in the Senate by Mr. Harding on the occasion now cited reads:

"The thought I have in mind is the elimination of this unending prohibition contest in the halls of Congress. At the same time, I am in sympathy with the opposition to the resolution about the unfairness of adopting a Federal amendment under the provision of the Constitution on a question relating to personal liberty, and if there were any other method of submitting an amendment, I should be very glad to do it.

"I am not a prohibitionist, and never have pretended to be. I do claim to be a temperance man. I do not approach this question from a great moral viewpoint, because I am unable to see it as a great moral question.

"I can remember very distiently, when I was a boy, during the early days of a hardy rural citizenship in Ohio, some of the most moral people the State boasted had a jug of whisky in the fence corner during the harvest time. I am not saying that I favor that. I only cite it as an instance that it is not always and invariably a moral question.

"But I do see the ethical and economic side of it, and when it comes to a decision on this point, at a time when we are boasting of our warfare for popular government, I cannot be inconsistent enough to deny the settlement of this much-mooted question by popular will in the only manner in which the Constitution provides.

"I do think it is unwise, imprudent and inconsiderate to force the issue at this time. I do not question the sincerity or the high purpose of the prohibition forces, but I do believe, and very sincerely, that it is a great imposition on Congress and a great misfortune to the country to divide American citizenship into two hostile camps over this question of personal liberty at a time when we ought to be promoting the concord of citizenship that is essential to win this war. But having expressed myself as regretting the pressure brought to bear to settle this issue now, I must go further and say that since it is insistent and intruding, so that we must reach a decision now, I find myself impelled to take the side which I think in the end must contribute to the most good of our common people.

Said Law Would be Ineffective.

"I do not think a prohibition amendment will be effective. You cannot make any law stronger than the public sentiment which sees to its enforcement. I have watched the progress of this question from the conflict in the hamlet to the municipality, to the county, the State and the nation, and while I stand here and freely express my doubts about its practicability, at the same time I recognize that it is growing and persistent and it must be settled.

"Ever since I have been in public life in a small way I have seen men continually measured by the wet and dry yardstick, and the submission of this amendment is going to measure every candidate for public office by the wet and dry yardstick until the final settlement. When I say that, I have expressed my strongest reason for putting a limitation upon the pendency of the amendment. I want to see this question settled. I want to take it out of the halls of Congress and refer it to the people, who must make the ultimate decision. I want to make the demand for submission and witness a decision.

"So then, in spite of its untimeliness, in spite of the lack of prudence in submitting it now, since we have come to this question of prohibition as a war measure and there has been no yielding on the one hand against drastic prohibition in the Food bill, I think this submission is a sort of compromise between the contending forces, and I am willing to be counted a compromising agent.

"All our great movements are the result of such endeavors. I do not hesitate to say that I approach the question from a strong sense of justice, and if this amendment is submitted to the people of the United States and receives the sanction of three-fourths of the General Assemblies, then if my tenure of office still obtains, I am willing to go further and join in a movement to make it effective through a process of compensation to the business destroyed."

TELLS LABOR HOW TO VOTE.

"Elect Our Friends and Defeat Our Enemies," Morrison's Advice.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., July 13.—"Neither platform contains planks labor felt it was entitled to," Frank Morrison, Secretary of the American Federation of Labor, said today in addressing the convention of the American Flint Glass Workers' Union. He admonished the delegates to go out and "elect our friends and defeat our enemies."

"We have a wonderful chance this Fall to put the right men in," he said. "Labor today is a power to be reckoned with. Twenty-two years ago we had a membership of 265,000, and today we have 4,078,000. There are enough votes there to swing a Presidential election."

Mr. Morrison evaded mentioning either Presidential nominee, but paid a tribute to President Wilson and his attitude toward labor. "Mr. Wilson," he said, "named the first Secretary of Labor, which department was provided for by the Taft Administration, and appointed William B. Wilson, a former Secretary of the United Mine Workers."

Mr. Morrison charged the delegates to go back home and have every candidate, no matter what the office, declare himself as to his attitude on labor.

NEWTON SEEKS RE-ELECTION

State Attorney General Says He Does Not Want Governorship.

ALBANY, July 18.—Attorney General Charles D. Newton announced his candidacy for renomination today.

"I am a candidate for Attorney General and for no other office," he said. "I have no gubernatorial aspirations. The field of aspirants for the Republican nomination for Governor is sufficiently large to give the Republican electors ample opportunity for selecting a first class candidate.

"My candidacy for renomination is upon the record of the office under my management."

jected by ratification of the league without rigid safeguarding reservations.

"The President demands a campaign on this issue; the Democratic platform makes the issue paramount, and, finally, the Democratic candidates unqualifiedly acquiesce. The score and more of Democratic Senators who voted for Lodge reservations are repudiated. The real opinion of the American nation is flouted because the President insists upon his issue regardless of costs or consequences. The Republican Party and candidates gladly accept the challenge. We are more than willing to make the election a national referendum on the question whether we shall have four years more of Democratic readiness to surrender this Republic."

Longworths Visit Candidates.

It is evidently the opinion of some of Senator Harding's advisers here that the Republican nominee's assumption that Governor Cox and Mr. Roosevelt will stump the country in support of President Wilson's foreign policy demands an explicit declaration from the Democratic candidates whether they believe Governor Cox's suggested reservations as printed in Sunday's issue of THE NEW YORK TIMES, conflict with the President's views.

In connection with Governor Cox's second reservation which reads, "It will, of course, be understood that in carrying out the purposes of the League the Government of the United States must at all times act in strict harmony with the terms and intent of the United States Constitution, which cannot in any way be altered by the treaty-making power," it is held by some here that the spirit of this reservation bears close resemblance to a number of amendments to Article X., which were opposed by the Administration as impairing the heart of the covenant." Should Governor Cox persist in these reservations, there is considerable speculation here as to the outcome of his conference with the President in Washington next Sunday.

"The League of Nations would be a very welcome issue to some of us," Representative Nicholas Longworth said today. Mr. and Mrs Longworth arrived in Marion last night, and were guests at the Harding home, returning to their home in Cincinnati this forenoon.

"We talked over the campaign generally and the issues before the country," said Mr. Longworth in referring to his talk with Senator Harding.

"I am very glad to find that we agree absolutely over the general situation and the issues. The Senator is growing in strength all the time. Certainly he is growing in strength in my part of the State.

"So far as my district is concerned, it is overwhelmingly for Harding. The general unanimity of sentiment is very remarkable. Hamilton County, which takes in Cincinnati, will give Senator Harding the largest majority that it has given a Republican candidate for many years. We are very glad that the next President is to be from Ohio, but that was sure before the nomination made by the convention at San Francisco."

With respect to the issues of the campaign, Mr. Longworth said that something would depend upon the attitude of Governor Cox toward the League of Nations. He was of the opinion that the Governor would "soft pedal" this issue.

Mr. Longworth referred also to the Kentucky

FIGHT FOR CONTROL OF NEXT SENATE

32 SEATS ARE TO BE FILLED

Poindexter Announces That Republican Senatorial Committee Will Direct Contests.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, July 13.—Both the Republican and Democratic Parties are already working toward obtaining a majority in the Senate during the Congress beginning March 4, 1921. Both sides are striving to avert the indubitable handicap of having a President faced by a hostile Senate.

At present the Republicans control the Senate by a very narrow margin. There are forty-eight Republicans, forty-seven Democrats and one "Republican and Progressive," Senator La Follette, who is ordinarily counted in the Republican ranks. Automatically thirty-two Senators go out of office next March. Seventeen of these are Democrats and fifteen Republicans.

Senator Miles Poindexter of Washington, Chairman of the Republican Senatorial Committee, issued a statement tonight showing that his organization would not allow its activities to be swallowed up by the Presidential campaign. The Senator admits that the issue is in doubt for the election of Republican Senators in fourteen or fifteen States, and that hard work will be necessary in order to assure a Republican majority in the Senate. His statement reads:

"In view of the importance of such issues as the League of Nations and our foreign relations generally in this campaign and the ensuing Administration, the control of the Senate will have more than usual significance. In my opinion the Republicans will elect their Presidential ticket, but it would be a great embarrassment to a Republican Administration if all of its official appointments of importance had to be submitted to a Democratic Senate for confirmation. The Administration would be largely deprived of full liberty of action and seriously embarrassed in the performance of the great tasks devolving on it. For that and other reasons the Republican Senatorial Committee will conduct a very thorough campaign in some fourteen or fifteen States where the issue is in doubt for the election of Republican Senators.

"The campaign for the Presidency and for Congress is, of course, interwoven at many points, but there is special work to be done in various local circumstances and conditions for the election of candidates for the Senate.

"This campaign will be conducted entirely under the control of the Republican Senatorial Committee of the Senate. It will not in any way be amalgamated with the National Committee, although it will work in entire harmony and co-operation with that committee. Personally, I expect to devote considerable time to the Senatorial elections, including the one in my own State of Washington, where, however, I think Senator Jones is practically certain of re-election, and the States of Idaho, Utah, Oregon, California, Arizona, Colorado and Nevada. There are interesting situations in each of these States with different conditions, but in them we expect to make the necessary increases in Republican membership which will strengthen our control of the Senate.

"Mr. O. E. Weller, who is responsible for the splendid administration of the road funds of the State of Maryland, with the result that that State has become famous for its good roads, where it used to be famous for its poor ones, has been nominated by the Republicans for the Senate in Maryland and has an excellent and complete organization working for his election. We expect to make a gain in that State. The same thing is true in Kentucky.

"Plans for the campaign are being perfected; and considerable preliminary work has already been done, but it will be our object to so arrange matters as to increase the activities of the committee constantly up to the time of the election.

"Reference has been made to a speakers' bureau of the National Committee directed by Senator New. This is entirely a matter of the National Committee, but to a large extent the Senatorial Committee will avail itself of the services of this bureau in the various Senatorial campaigns—not exclusively, however, as there may be special occasions and places where it will find its own speakers.

"The great issue in the Senatorial campaign especially is the issue of Americanism. President Wilson has said that we should be ready to sacrifice some portion of our sovereignty. Possibly the American people, assembled in convention, could, if they saw fit, sacrifice some portion of the sovereignty of the nation, but there is no constitutional power in the Government to sacrifice any portion of it whatever. The maintenance of complete American sovereignty, the withdrawal of our military forces from Europe, the co-operation of the nation for the preservation of the peace of the world and the re-establishment of peace and commercial relations with Germany without compromising American independence, are all peculiarly involved in the Senatorial campaign."

Predicts a Democratic Congress.

Representative Hal D. Flood of Virginia, Chairman of the Democratic Congressional Committee, who returned to Washington today from San Francisco, predicted that with Cox and Roosevelt heading the ticket, the Democrats would defeat enough Republican Senators and Representatives in November to place control of Congress again in the hands of the Democratic Party.

Mr. Flood said that reports coming to the Democratic National Congressional Committee headquarters here from the men having the campaign in charge in the different districts were optimistic and indicated unusual interest in the contests for the election of Senators and Representatives by the Democratic candidates and their friends.

MUST LICENSE BATHHOUSES

Aldermen Pass Ordinance Intended to Curb Profiteering.

Ordinances providing for the licensing of all beach bathhouses in the city, with a view to "curbing profiteering bathhouse proprietors" and "insuring proper investigation of the sanitary conditions of all bathing establishments" were passed last night by the Board of Aldermen on the recommendation of Mayor Hylan.

The Mayor, in a letter to the board, described conditions as he found them during a visit to the beaches on July 11. He said "a 300 per cent. increase over the normal fifty-cent charge for an individual was commonly reported, and this extortionate price was often accompanied by an indecent herding of many people into quarters intended in each instance for a single occupant."

The ordinances, which were introduced by Alderman Rudolph Hannock, provided for a license fee of $25 and a bond of $500. Regarding charges, the new ordinances say: "Every bathing establishment in the City of New York shall post in full public view a schedule of all rates for lockers, houses, suits, and other accommodations, and these prices must not be changed, under penalty of forfeiture of licenses." The ordinances further provide for inspections by the Department of Health and for a fine of $200 and imprisonment of not to exceed sixty days for violations of the ordinance.

PRIEST ROUTS ARMED MAN.

One Assailant Wounded in Battle in Greek Parish House.

The Rev. Dr. Nicholas Pidhorecki, 51 years old, for twelve years pastor of the Ukrainian Greek Catholic Church of St. George, 24-26 East Seventh Street, who is said to have bitterly assailed the Russian Bolsheviki in his sermons recently, was attacked by three armed men and badly beaten in the office of the parish house yesterday morning.

The priest, who is six feet tall, fought and routed his assailants. In the scuffle a revolver was discharged and one of the assailants wounded. Three men were arrested later. One, the police say, confessed that he had planned the attack on the priest and admitted a grudge against the priests of the Greek Catholic Church.

This man, who said he was Samuel Dero, 38 years old, of 68 Avenue A, was captured late in the afternoon by the Rev. N. S. Kapitan of Little Ford, N. J., who said he recognized him as one of four men who attacked and robbed him on June 2 in a parish house at Singac, N. J.

The other prisoners are John Siviskey, 25 years old, a sailor, of 25 South Street, and Anton Waislok, 32 years old, a laborer, of 216 East Thirty-eighth Street. They were arrested soon after Dr. Pidhorecki gave the alarm. Waislok first took refuge in the basement of the Ukrainian Settlement House, 217 Sixth Street. A short time later he was overtaken about two blocks away by J. Bych, manager of the settlement house clubrooms, and Policeman Sheehan. Siviskey was arrested in front of 438 Fifth Street by James Brodsky, a former patrolman, who disarmed and held him until Patrolman Sheehan arrived.

In the basement of the settlement house where Waislok had been were found three revolvers, a large knife, two blackjacks, 154 cartridges and several lengths of rope.

J. Bodriansky, Secretary of the Ukraine Settlement House, said the three men first visited the Parish House about two months ago to arrange for the marriage of one of their number to a Ukraine girl, who accompanied them. Last Thursday they returned. Dr. Pidhorecki was not at home. They returned Monday afternoon. Again the priest was out. Yesterday they were accompanied by a fourth man, who remained on the sidewalk and who has not yet been arrested, though the police have his name and address.

The three men talked with the priest about the marriage and then handed him a $100 bill from which to take a fee of $10. After they received the $90 change, the men drew revolvers and exclaimed, "Now we have got you." Dr. Pidhorecki pointed to his safe and told them to help themselves but not to molest him.

Instead they pounced upon the priest, knocking him down three times. Each time he regained his feet. One of the men pulled the trigger of his revolver, but the priest struck the muzzle of the weapon with his hand, causing the bullet to enter the shoulder of Waislok, who then fled to the Settlement House.

Dr. Pidhorecki ran to the front door and called for help. A laundryman coming from the parish house basement was bound and gagged by the two assailants, who then escaped through the back way.

Dr. Pidhorecki was attended by Dr. Ferber of 35 Seventh Street for lacerations of the scalp. According to the police, he identified Siviskey and Waislok as two of his assailants.

CITY'S HEAT FELLS THREE.

Three heat prostrations were reported yesterday, with a maximum temperature of 88. Mills Sandstrom, 76 years old, an inmate of Sailors' Snug Harbor, Staten Island, was overcome while walking up Broadway at 230th Street, and when he fell on the sidewalk suffered a fractured right hip. He was taken to Fordham Hospital.

Mrs. Agnes Nester, 28 years old, of 622 East 163d St., the Bronx, was stricken in front of 3,729 3d Av. She was attended by an ambulance surgeon and went home. Mrs. Anna Sarodi, 31 years old, of 410 East Thirteenth St. was overcome at Southern Boulevard and 183d St., the Bronx, and after being attended by an ambulance surgeon from Fordham Hospital, went home.

D. J. HILL WILL OPEN STATE CONVENTION

Republican Executive Committee Makes No Selection for Permanent Chairman.

COL. HAYWOOD DISCUSSED

At a meeting of the Executive Committee of the Republican State Committee, held yesterday at 43 West Thirty-ninth Street, David Jayne Hill, former Ambassador to Germany, was unanimously chosen temporary Chairman of the unofficial Republican convention scheduled to open July 27 at Saratoga. No selection for the permanent Chairmanship was made, but the name of Colonel William Hayward, overseas veteran, came in for considerable discussion. It was decided that an exceptionally aggressive campaign would be needed to insure victory in the Fall.

Representative Bertrand H. Snell of Potsdam, N. Y., presided, and, as spokesman for the committee, he later said:

"In picking David Jayne Hill we have chosen a great big man of the calibre of Elihu Root. He is capable of writing a message that will become a campaign document."

"An excellent selection," was the comment of Secretary of State Francis M. Hugo, candidate for the Gubernatorial nomination, when informed of the committee's action at his Hotel Commodore headquarters.

Notwithstanding the apparent harmony at Republican State headquarters, it was known that the younger element in the party, the representatives of the so-called "new order," had not looked with an overexcess of favor upon the selection of a man regarded as of the stand-pat persuasion. Their choice, it was said, had been Colonel Arthur Woods, once Police Commissioner, but, while his name was discussed at the meeting, it apparently failed to make much headway.

Candidates Not Mentioned.

Representative Snell said that discussion of the State political situation had indicated the necessity for "a live, aggressive campaign," adding that another meeting of the committee, after the Saratoga convention, would lay definite plans for the Fall drive.

"Absolutely not a candidate's name was mentioned," he said, "and we did not discuss the question of designating a candidate. Of course, individually, the committeemen felt that this—a designation—should be done. The platform was not discussed either."

He added that in addition to Colonel Hayward, the name of Harry L. Lewis, District Attorney of Kings, had been put forward for the permanent chairmanship, but that the matter had finally been delegated to a group of three—George Glynn, State Chairman; Mrs. Arthur L. Livermore of Yonkers, and himself.

Lieutenant Col. Theodore Roosevelt waited in the Republican Club during the two hours' session of the committee, but had nothing to say for publication following the choice of Dr. Hill.

Besides Glynn, Snell and Mrs. Livermore, the committeemen at the meeting were Representative Norman J. Gould, of Seneca Falls; Samuel S. Koenig, County Chairman; Frederick J. H. Kracke of Brooklyn, Seymour Lowman of Elmira, William A. Glenn of Albany, John G. Wickser of Buffalo and Mrs. Charles H. Sabin.

Chairman Glynn held the proxy of George W. Aldridge of Rochester, who originally suggested Dr. Hill, and also voted for ex-Justice Nathan L. Miller of Syracuse. Lafayette B. Gleason, Secretary of the committee, held the proxy of Mrs. Ruth Litt. Former State Senator Theodore Douglas Robinson appeared for his wife, sister of the late Colonel Roosevelt; Congressman John McCrate of Brooklyn voted for Mrs. Luther W. Mott, while Harry Barrett was proxy for William L. Ward of Port Chester.

Hugo Pleased at Outlook.

While the committee was holding its meeting, Secretary Hugo, regarded a leading candidate for the gubernational nomination, was laying plans for an intensive drive locally, lasting until Sunday, when he plans to resume his campaign up-State. He declared that he was thoroughly satisfied with the sentiment he had found toward his candidacy and that he considered his personal outlook "first rate."

Last night he addressed the regular monthly meeting of the Bayside Republican Club, Bayside, Queens, receiving word that the Royal Republican Club of the Nineteenth Assembly District, Manhattan, of which John J. Lyons is leader, had declared its membership of about 1,000 in his favor. Tonight he addressed that club and tomorrow speaks before the regular organization of the Twentieth Assembly District.

In his talk last night Mr. Hugo commended the choice of Harding and Coolidge, outlined his views on the issues of the national campaign, and said that the issues of the State campaign concerned a full development of the State's resources, especially of the farming resources. He advocated State help to make farming "more remunerative and attractive," as having a direct bearing on efforts to lower high prices.

While he declared for taxes sufficient to the administration of the State's affairs without parsimony, he emphatically declared against excessive taxation as likely to "prove a temptation to extravagance and waste through piling up a surplus."

KILLS SIX BULLS ALONE.

Mejias Hero of Barcelona Ring—Mexican Torrero Wins Ovation.

MADRID, July 12.—Sanchez Mejias proved the hero of yesterday's bullfighting at Barcelona, where, performing alone, he killed six bulls from the Soler herd. Mejias displayed unusual skill, placing the banderillas with dexterity until the animals were ready for the final thrust of the sword. Bulls' ears and tails were awarded to him and he made his exit from the ring mounted on the shoulders of admirers.

In Castellon, de la Plana bulls were met by Francisco of Madrid and Saleri with great success, while Valencia distinguished himself. Luis Freg, a Mexican torrero, accounted for two bulls of the Tamaron herd at La Linea, amid ovations. Villamortia and Chicuelo displayed bravery and skill.

At Pamplona, Fortuna, Varelito and Dominguin encountered bulls of the Diaz herd. All were wildly applauded.

NO MERCY FOR PROFITEERS.

Three Large French Dealers Sentenced and Forced to Advertise Fact.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, July 13.—They have a sharp way with food profiteers in France. Three leading members of big provision firms operating on the Paris market were arrested a few weeks ago for having sent telegrams to production centres in the country countermanding orders in order to maintain prices which had broken suddenly.

M. Emile Lecouffe became famous throughout France as a result of the publication of the telegram: "Landslide in little peas. All orders canceled." He received three months' imprisonment and $1,000 fine, and Victor Quenaile, director of a big stock slaughterhouse two months' imprisonment and $1,200 fine.

The three culprits also were forced to pay for ten to a dozen insertions of the terms of sentence in the Paris press at advertisement rates and have a large copy pasted on the door of their business premises for a period of one year.

PEN CREW, TO WASH CRETIC.

Boston Health Officials Allow 1,700 Passengers to Land.

BOSTON, July 13.—The White Star Liner Cretic, which has been detained at Quarantine with her 1,700 steerage passengers for four days because the crew refused to submit to a bath, was released today. The passengers were landed but the crew, still unwashed, were placed under guard in the detention pen at Commonwealth Pier.

After disinfection of the ship, which is considered necessary here because of a dispute with the health authorities at Naples over requirements for the inspection of prospective American immigrants, the crew will be placed aboard the Cretic again.

ALLIES SUMMON MILITARY CHIEFS

By EDWIN L. JAMES.

miners will get a good food supply and that might well have its effect. Without going into details, I may mention that Foch has still other coercion projects than occupation of the Ruhr.

In their general view of the situation the Allies will tomorrow take up the problem of Poland. It may or may not be that the Germans have stiffened because of what they regard as allied revenge for Russian success in Poland. The reply from Moscow to Lloyd George's invitation to the Soviet to make peace with Poland may arrive at any time. It is reported tonight that Moscow has replied that the Russian offensive against Poland will be halted only on condition that the Allies recognize the Soviet régime in Russia. There is no official confirmation of this report.

The German delegation today made a protest to the Belgian Government against the treatment of Herr Stockloss, correspondent of the Wolff Bureau, who was beaten by a Belgian ex-officer in front of the Spa café last midnight. The Belgian Government has sent the Germans a letter of regret. There appears little justification for the ex-officer's action and it should be regarded as an isolated incident, the behavior of the Belgian population toward the Germans being generally correct.

Germans Held Council at Night.

PARIS, July 13.—The German experts held another conference this evening which lasted until midnight, according to a Havas dispatch. Chancellor Fehrenbach also conferred with the members of his Cabinet.

The allied chiefs will meet at Spa at 11:30 tomorrow morning to examine the situation, according to the same dispatch. Marshal Foch will be present at the meeting.

Apart from the coal question, the German financial experts this morning proposed to the mixed commission charged with the examination of the reparations plan that the Allies provide a subvention of 3,000,400,000 marks gold for Germany's food supplies during the first year the treaty is in force.

Official Report of Conference.

SPA, July 13 (Associated Press).—The official communique in today's proceedings of the conference says:

"At a plenary conference this evening Dr. Simons (German Foreign Secretary) submitted the German coal reply and emphasized the necessity of obtaining the assent of owners and miners for an increase in the output and also for improving the feeding of the miners. He said that for the Government to promise higher tonnage without such an agreement would be to run the risk of a revolt.

"Dr. Simons continued that in these circumstances the German proposals are as follows: First, from October, 1920, 56,000 tons per working day, or 1,400,000 tons per month; second, from October, 1921, 68,000 tons per working day, or 1,700,000 tons per month, and this only if it were found possible to improve the feeding and to build workingmen's houses.

"The main cause of the fall in the output was the position in Upper Silesia, which depended historically upon Germany and whose coal mines would be much better worked by the Germans than the Poles. The mortgage which France, Belgium and Italy had on German coal as a result of the treaty could better be satisfied if the plebiscite, which is keeping Upper Silesia in a ferment, were abandoned and a mining agreement was made with the populations of Poland and Bohemia, who are also concerned.

"M. Delacroix made it clear that Dr. Simons's reply caused deep disappointment and created a grave situation. He said the Allies had manifested a desire to make an effort at moderation by calling the Germans to Spa. He reminded them of the clauses of the treaty relating to coal (3,250,000 tons monthly) and that a reduction had already been made by the Reparations Commission (to 2,400,000 tons monthly) and of the conciliatory state of mind of the Allies, who had shown their willingness to learn the German Government's explanations and offers.

"In view of the attitude of the German Government, which took no account either of the treaty or the program of the Reparations Commission and made totally inadequate offers, the conference would be suspended to enable the Allies to examine into the situation.

"Marshal Foch and Field Marshal Wilson have been summoned to Spa on matters of extreme urgency."

Powerless to Resist, Says Simons.

The German Foreign Secretary said to The Associated Press:

"The Allies may, under the treaty, give us an order concerning coal. If they give an order, we, of course, would try to satisfy it. But we do not believe we could. That would not be a voluntary co-operative arrangement."

Dr. Simon said later:

"The Allies can occupy the Ruhr or other territories. They can send their own agents into Germany and probe the situation. They may fix any penalties. We are not in a position to resist."

The Secretary expressed the attitude of the German delegation as it is tonight, but the Allied Ministers hope, before they take further measures, that the Germans may change their decision.

M. Millerand, the French Premier, regrets that it is not possible for Germany to co-operate with the Allies in the execution of the treaty, but he is firmly resolved to stand on the position now taken up.

Mr. Lloyd George declined to comment on the situation.

Marshal Foch will leave for Paris tonight arriving at Spa tomorrow morning. Field Marshal Wilson is scarcely expected to reach here from England before tomorrow afternoon or evening.

In well informed circles it is the opinion that if enforcement of the treaty is undertaken the Ruhr will be surrounded rather than occupied.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, July 13.—An expression of French dissatisfaction regarding the Spa conference appears in the Temps tonight. The leading editorial begins:

"The French public does not understand what is happening at Spa. It learned by the declaration of San Remo that there would be presented at Spa a performance entitled 'The Execution of the Treaty.'

"The news from Spa—first act, disarmament; second act, coal; third act, reparations—appears to be entirely descriptive of a very different sort of play, whose name can only be 'Revision of the Treaty.'"

In strong language the Temps attributes the change to the fact that the power in Germany is now really in the hands of reactionary Germans of the class of von Seeckt and Hugo Stinnes, to whom Bismarck's motto "Blood and iron," is far more real than all the palavers of the Allies' diplomatists and Von Simons. The latter they allow to carry on because he has his uses. Any concessions he can win by diplomacy are so much to Germany's advantage. The Temps continues:

"With procedure on the pleasant lines of argument with such people we are on the downward slope. We must cry halt before matters become more serious. Why did Germany capitulate in 1918? Because we were the stronger. Why did Germany sign the treaty in 1919? Because we remained the stronger. On what basis will she execute the treaty in 1920? That we go on remaining the stronger.

"If we give in before the Bolshevist menace to Poland, if we are incapable of restoring peace in Asia, Germany will realize that we are the stronger no longer and all the protocols of Spa will avail us nothing. In the last resort sabres have always cut papers to pieces. If the allied Governments want to retain the advantages of peace they must consider realities and not accords or arrangements on paper. Everything depends on our authority over Germany. That authority we can only exercise if we are strong."

British Press Blames Stinnes.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Wednesday, July 14.—The Daily Chronicle, commenting on the Spa deadlock, says:

"The central fact which has hampered the negotiation throughout is the German Government's weakness and lack of authority in its own house. There cannot be much doubt that in the coal question the sinister influence which proved too strong for them is that of Stinnes. If misfortune follows the German people should be let know plainly to whom to ascribe it."

The Daily News says:

"M. Millerand has been compelled by the wild men of his own country to insist on full payment by Germany of the full measure of coal demanded of her. On the other hand, Chancellor Fehrenbach has been terrorized by his wild men in the person of Hugo Stinnes and the political party which he has created. To end the suffering of the half starved workers of Central Europe the Allies might honorably concede much in the treaty with profit to themselves and the world. To assuage the swollen pride of Herr Hugo Stinnes we would not alter a comma."

STINNES A POPULAR HERO.

German Nationalist Press Lauds His Aggressive Attitude.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, July 13.—Whatever else the Spa conference has accomplished or failed to accomplish, it has added enormously in Germany to the prestige of Hugo Stinnes. In Nationalist circles, at any rate, he is a new hero. Their newspapers printed his speech in full and recorded in fat black type how he got to his feet so that he might "look in the face the representatives if not of the whole world at least a good part of it."

"With relentless fist," says the Lokal Anzeiger, "Stinnes tore away the curtain of political phrases which had hidden the facts." Lloyd George "leaned back in his seat with a sigh" as he realized that "the limit had been reached." At least so testified the correspondent, whose eye apparently was able to pierce the walls of the conference hall.

"When they read this speech," says the Tägliche Rundschau, "the great mass of German people will feel themselves behind this man and every enemy Government must regard his words as the Alpha and Omega of our policy and our power of performance. He told them a few raw facts—how the peace of Versailles was extorted from the German people, how both German employers and workers were doing everything possible to help 'victorious France' out of its present position. We hope that the mockery of those last words were fully appreciated by the members of the conference, and they must have blushed with shame when Stinnes told them that no more deeds of force, not even occupation of the Ruhr Valley with black troops, will help. Such words have been too long wanting."

Vorwärts, writing before the outcome of the coal negotiations was known, said this:

"Stinnes makes no secret of it that even if the German Government signs he will prevent the carrying out of this coal agreement." To which the paper added the significant comment: "In co-operation with the miners he has the power to do so." In this there lies a threat which obviously cannot be ignored.

SOCIETY REPUDIATES DR. HAMMER AGITATION

Bronx County Medical Association Tells Prosecutor It Favors Upholding the Laws.

The Bronx County Medical Society yesterday wrote to District Attorney Francis Martin making it clear that the organization was not supporting the agitation by certain Bronx physicians in behalf of Dr. Julius Hammer, convicted of manslaughter growing out of the death of a woman he operated upon. The society's position was set forth as follows:

Hon. Francis Martin,
District Attorney, Bronx County.
Dear Sir:

A special meeting of the Comitia Minora of the Bronx County Medical Society was called this day, July 12, at the office of the Secretary. This action was taken in view of the publicity that was given to the case of the People versus Dr. Julius Hammer, and the appearance of the names of several members of the Bronx County Medical Society in the newspapers in connection with the case.

The following resolutions were adopted at this meeting, the Secretary being instructed to forward them to the office of the District Attorney for his information:

1—Dr. J. Hammer is not and never has been a member of the Bronx County Medical Society.

2—That no member is authorized to use the name of the society in any way in connection with this case.

3—That the matter of Dr. J. Hammer's conviction has never come before the society, or the Comitia Minora for discussion previous to this date.

4—That the Bronx County Medical Society, through the Comitia Minora, desires to go on record as upholding the laws of this State and country as interpreted by the court.

I. J. LANDSMAN, M. D., Secretary.
391 East 149th Street.

Dr. Hammer is scheduled to appear before County Judge Louis D. Gibbs on July 19 for sentence. Ever since his conviction an effort fostered by some of his colleagues has been under way seeking to prove that the doctor's conviction was a blow at the medical profession. Judge Gibbs, meeting that assertion, cited sections of the law covering such cases and it was his interpretation which the county medical organization yesterday indorsed.

GOULED CASE HELD UP.

The application of Felix Gouled, a raincoat contractor, under $25,000 bail pending an appeal from his conviction in October last of defrauding the Government out of $40,000, for permission to go to Poland to negotiate raw cotton trading between this Government and the Polish Government, was held up yesterday by Federal Judge Howe until he could obtain more information concerning the matter. The application was granted by Judge Howe on Monday.

DE CORDOVA MURDER MYSTERY DEEPENED

Magistrate had granted her an allowance of $12.50 a week, which was paid with the check which she received last Thursday, and that the date of the trial had been set for June 26.

Inquiry at the court yesterday disclosed that the Magistrate in an effort to effect a reconciliation between the two had delegated Court Attache Patrick J. Shelly to investigate. Shelly, according to the records, reported the wife as willing to forgive her husband.

Refused a Reconciliation.

The investigator, however, reported that Geissler had refused, saying "I can't tell you why, but it's impossible for me to live with her."

"I had a presentiment of his death," resumed Mrs. Geissler, "and when I went to bed, shortly before 9 o'clock, I put his picture and a crucifix next to my heart. Shortly after 9 o'clock I had a stifling sensation in my chest and I got up out of bed and could not sleep any more. Something seemed to tell me that everything wasn't right with Barney."

Arthur De Cordova, husband of the slain woman, called last night, just after 10 o'clock, at the Geissler home. With the broker was a man introduced as Dr. Meyer and described as a brother of Mrs. De Cordova. For nearly two hours the husband and the physician talked with the chauffeur's wife, and then left. Mrs. Geissler refused to divulge what had been discussed.

Mrs. Geissler will go to New London today to make arrangements for the care of her husband's body.

Mr. De Cordova, who is a member of the firm of Cyril De Cordova & Brother, brokers, of 25 Broad Street, returned with his wife's body to the De Cordova home, 251 West Eighty-ninth Street, yesterday afternoon. The funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon.

Accompanied by his attorney, George Y. Bauchle of 51 Chambers Street, the broker, almost prostrated by the shock of his wife's death—he had returned to this city only a few hours before she met death — went to the scene of the tragedy. He returned to this city shortly after 5 o'clock yesterday. When he arrived at the Grand Central Terminal, where a score of newspapermen and "movie" men had halted a large crowd of homegoing commuters, he was too grief-stricken to speak of his bereavement.

Satisfied with Verdict.

Assisted by his brother, Cyril De Cordova, he was led to an automobile and hurried to his home. His two children accompanied the broker. Mr. Bauchle, speaking for him, said:

"Mr. De Cordova and I are perfectly satisfied with the verdict of Coroner Brown, murder and suicide, as necessary and the only one that could be rendered. The fact that no powder marks were found on Mrs. De Cordova indicated that the revolver was held at least four feet away. Powder marks, however, on the chauffeur's temple—his right one—plainly evidenced his suicide. The report that his unconscious form had been found lying across a barbed wire fence was erroneous. Mrs. De Cordova was found lying beside the halted car, her feet pointing toward it as though she was about to step in when shot down. Geissler was lying on the other side of the machine, between the bars of a stile, now used as a cow-gate leading into the pasture on the side of the road.

"Regarding the story concerning a half-filled bottle of whisky and the cigarette stubs, which were reported as having been found in the bottom of the automobile, I would say that while Mrs. De Cordova may have smoked at times, I am positive that she never drank. The bottle which give rise to the report of whisky being found really contained Poland Springs water.

"Another report has been sent out that a letter had been found in Geissler's possession. The report had it that the missive was addressed to Mrs. De Cordova and concerned a real estate deal in Maine. As a matter of fact, our investigation disclosed that the letter was in Mrs. De Cordova's handbag and that it was this communication, found in the bag, that led to her identification following the discovery of the crime.

"Mrs. De Cordova," continued the lawyer, "left the Hotel Griswold at 4:15 o'clock. Our investigation proved that beyond a shadow of doubt and this fact can readily be verified by consulting the records of the garage maintained in connection with the Hotel Griswold. She did not leave at 2 o'clock, although this has been reported as the findings of the police of New London.

"When I left the Hotel Griswold to go out to the scene of the murder and suicide it took me exactly one hour and fifteen minutes from the time I left before I reached the road. This disproves, I think, reports that Mrs. De Cordova and the chauffeur had ridden around a great deal on a sort of 'joy ride.'

Had Taken Direct Route.

"When Mrs. De Cordova left the Hotel Griswold she panned to go to the laundress with some fine linen which she did not care to entrust to the mechanical washing facilities of the hotel. This linen was found later in the car, and the road where the car was found was the most direct route to the laundress's home, near the limits of the Borough of Stonington.

"As for Geissler, he was a man who, I would say, had a mania for religion. I mean that if he was ordered to have the ear at the hotel door at say 9 o'clock of a Sunday morning, he would get up very early and go to mass first.

"As to the motive for the deed I would say that it was not an infatuation for a woman who never returned it. Mrs. De Cordova was a woman who, I would say, to use a slang expression, would never even look sideways at another man, and I know that she was greatly devoted to her husband and her children.

"If," the lawyer continued, "by any chance she would ever choose to show interest in another man, I am certain it would not be in a little rat-faced runt like Geissler."

The lawyer was asked concerning a report from New London that a lock of hair somewhat like Mrs. De Cordova's had been found in the chauffeur's wallet, and his answer was: "I did not even look at his effects and I do not know what he had."

"We went," he said, "expecting to bring back two bodies, but when we investigated we brought back only one."

A rumor that a poem alleged to have been written by Mrs. De Cordova to the chauffeur had been found by the police officials checking up Geissler's belongings was mentioned to Mr. Bauchle.

"That report is most absurd," he responded with emphasis. "Mrs. De Cordova was a very practical woman and she never was inclined to poetry."

Then, when the reporters asked what in his belief caused the stopping of the machine in the quiet, almost lonely road, he said he thought that possibly Mrs. De Cordova wished to get out and gather flowers. Mr. Bauchle declared that the broker's wife had been fond of flowers, and that she had often told him how she would go off on expeditions during her girlhood days in Philadelphia to gather them. Another reason cited in explanation of the detour down the road was that it was a wonderfully shaped highway, with magnificent scenery on either side.

Beyond the statement that funeral services would be conducted on Thursday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, no one at the De Cordova home would discuss the tragedy last night. It was stated that interment would be in the family plot in Woodlawn Cemetery.

MURDER AND SUICIDE, SAYS PROSECUTOR

Satisfied That Chauffeur Killed Mrs. De Cordova and Himself, Official Asserts.

NEW LONDON, Conn., July 13.—The shooting of Mrs. Florence Mercedes De Cordova, wife of Arthur De Cordova, a New York broker, and Bernard Geissler, the De Cordova family chauffeur, on a lonely part of North Road, North Stonington, shortly after 6 o'clock last night was not a double murder, but a suicide and a murder. This statement was made tonight by Benjamin S. Hewitt, Prosecuting Attorney of the town of Stonington, after a twenty-four hour investigation into all of the phases of the case.

For a long time Mr. Hewitt inclined to the theory that there was a third person involved in the shooting, but after examining numerous witnesses he was satisfied Geissler had murdered Mrs. De Cordova and then killed himself with the same weapon. What the motive of the crime was still remains a mystery and the prosecutor tonight is investigating various stories and rumors current around the Hotel Griswold, Eastern Point, near here, where the De Cordova family was stopping, and other places the family were known to visit. Whether Geissler was actuated by motives of jealousy to kill his employer's wife or whether there was a suicide pact are among the questions the authorities are endeavoring to solve.

Accompanied by George Young Bauchle, his New York attorney, Mr. De Cordova arrived here this morning and claimed his wife's body. Mr. De Cordova was visibly affected by the tragedy and declined to discuss the case, referring newspaper men to Mr. Bauchle.

"Please do not publish anything of a scandalous nature," was all Mr. De Cordova would say.

Woman's Body Taken to New York.

An autopsy was to have been performed on the body of Mrs. De Cordova this afternoon by Medical Examiner William Gray and Coroner Franklin Brown, but the authorities waived this procedure to permit Mr. De Cordova to take the body to his home in New York for burial. Mr. De Cordova and the attorney went to the Griswold, where he met his two children, Miss Janice De Cordova, 21 years old, and Heustis De Cordova, 20. The family, with the body of Mrs. De Cordova, left for New York this afternoon on the Knickerbocker Express.

The body of Geissler, which was taken to the undertaking establishment of James Kelley in this city, has not been claimed. According to Kelley, a woman called up on the telephone today and said that she was Mrs. Geissler.

"He was my husband and I want to do the right thing," he quoted her as saying. She indicated to the undertaker that she would come to New London during the day, but did not appear.

As brought out by the authorities in the examination of witnesses, just after luncheon yesterday Mrs. De Cordova sent word to Geissler in his quarters in the Griswold Annex that she wanted him to bring the family car, a Mercer automobile of the victoria type, to the side entrance of the hotel. Geissler complied with the instructions, and with Mrs. De Cordova in the rear seat they left the hotel grounds about 2 o'clock. Where the next intervening hours were spent until 5:30, when they were seen on the North Road, has not been ascertained by the authorities.

The distance from the Hotel Griswold to the point where the shooting occurred is about thirteen miles. The road they traversed is known locally as the back road and is little frequented by automobiles, as the road bed is poor. James Main, 35 years old, who is employed in a saw mill on North Road told the authorities that as he was on his way home from work at 5:30 he saw Mrs. De Cordova and Geissler sitting together on the running board of the automobile at the spot where the shootings later took place.

Waved Their Hands at Him.

He described the two as conversing in a "hilarious manner," and said they waved their hands at him. "This made an impression on me," Main said, "because Summer visitors as a rule are not over friendly and seldom bother to notice local residents."

Main said the machine was drawn to one side of the narrow road, and the motor of the machine was not running. He said Mrs. De Cordova and the chauffeur continued to wave to him after he had passed them.

George Paradise, owner of the sawmill, who passed by a minute or so later in his automobile, told a similar story. He recalled that Mrs. De Cordova and Geissler were sitting on the opposite running board from the roadway, just their heads visible to him. Five minutes later Paradise passed James F. Brown, a farmer, who was driving a wagon in the direction of the De Cordova machine.

Brown, who lives at North Stonington Border near Milltown, when he reached the Mercer noticed a woman was lying motionless on the ground. He was about to pass on, he said, believing that the woman was asleep, when his attention was drawn to Geissler who was leaning in a stooping position over the gate of a fence with his head resting on the pickets and with blood streaming from a bullet wound in the head.

Brown said he jumped from his wagon and ran over to where Mrs. De Cordova lay and discovered she was dead. Geissler seemed just about alive and was unable to answer any questions that Brown put to him. Brown drove to the nearest telephone and sent a hurry call to Drs. Thurkan Maine and H. F. Thurber of Stonington, and Medical Examiner Gray at Mystic.

Shots Heard by Farmer.

The shooting occurred within 100 rods of the farm of George Wheeler. Wheeler recalled hearing shots between half-past 5 and 6 o'clock, but said he did not take the trouble to investigate. When Deputy Sheriff William F. Broughton and other local authorities arrived on the scene they found an automatic pistol lying to the left of Geissler. An examination of the weapon disclosed that three shots had been fired from it. The fact that the clothing of Mrs. De Cordova was burned and seared from the powder gave evidence that the shooting had been at close range.

With the arrival of the doctors a hasty examination was made of Mrs. De Cordova and it was discovered that two bullets had entered her body. The first bullet struck her in the left side by the eighth rib and had taken an upward course, while the other had entered an inch below coming out above the right hip. Internal hemmorhages caused Mrs. De Cordova

REFUSES TO HALT MARCH OF SUFFRAGE

MILITANTS TO SEE COX

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, July 13.—The District of Columbia Supreme Court refused today to halt ratification of the suffrage amendment. Justice Bailey dismissed the proceedings instituted by Charles S. Fairchild of New York, President of the American Constitutional League, seeking to enjoin Secretary of State Colby from signing the ratification proclamation when the thirty-sixth State has ratified.

Suffrage leaders at once redoubled their pressure on the Democratic Party, which they now seem to consider their paramount hope. It was announced that Governor Cox would receive a delegation of the National Woman's Party, headed by Miss Alice Paul, at Columbus next Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock. In less than three hours afterward the Democratic nominee will leave Columbus for a conference with President Wilson in Washington on Sunday morning. The President has already personally asked the Governors of Tennessee and North Carolina to call special sessions of the Miss Paul and Miss Sue White, Tennessee Chairman of the Woman's Party, will meet the Ohio State Committee, Dr. Gillett Hayden and other officers of the party at Columbus. The delegation will include members and officers of the Woman's Party from Eastern and Middle Western States, who will lay before Governor Cox the exact status of ratification as regards Democratic States. In Tennessee a special session has been called for Aug. 9, and in North Carolina for Aug. 10. No session has been called in Florida.

Miss Paul will remain in Ohio after the interview with Governor Cox to prepare for the suffrage demonstration at Senator Harding's notification in Marion on July 22. It is understood that plans will be made for picketing Senator Harding's headquarters during the Summer, or until a Republican State has given the thirty-sixth vote necessary for ratification.

MULCAHEY IS ACQUITTED.

Jury Clears Policeman of Clubbing Boy on Roof of Pier.

Policeman Michael J. Mulcahey of the West Thirty-seventh Street station yesterday was acquitted in General Sessions on an indictment charging him with clubbing John Applegate, 14 years old, of 445 West Twenty-eighth Street, May 25. The boy alleged he was playing with other youths on the roof of a pier at the foot of West Twenty-seventh Street, when the policeman struck him several times with his club, breaking his wrist and bruising his body.

Policeman Mulcahey told the jury there had been several burglaries on the pier and that when he chased young Applegate and his companions the former fell and injured himself. Several business men and residents in the West Thirty-seventh Street station testified to Policeman Mulcahey's efficiency.

TO INVESTIGATE BURIAL BILL

Health Department Acts on Woman's Complaint of Charges.

Acting Health Commissioner Dr. Frank J. Monaghan will begin today an investigation regarding the charges made by an undertaker for the burial of Mrs. Julia Laute, who died on Feb. 16. The body was taken to the morgue, where it was held for ten days pending its claim by relatives, and was then buried in Mount Olivet Cemetery. It was reported that the woman's life was insured for about $275 and that the undertaker's bill amounted to $225. The investigation was undertaken on complaint of Mrs. Elizabeth Lyons, the dead woman's sister.

Dr. Monaghan said he had invited to the meeting representatives of the Police Department, the Department of Public Welfare, the Public Administrator, the Chief Medical Examiner and the undertaker.

JAPAN TAKING UP CALIFORNIA ISSUE

ed by the Japanese immigration problem, which has been the source of such frequent agitation along the Pacific Coast, to look lightly upon the seriousness of the issue raised by California. There has even been a disposition to look upon California as being an unjustified disturber of the national tranquility in the matter of the Japanese issue.

California's conduct has been regarded by many outside of California with impatience, as an alleged uncalled-for provocation in a matter of local significance not justifying the consequent embarrassment to the National Government. This feeling in other States is described as somewhat similar to the annoyance experienced by persons desiring to live in quiet toward the noisy complaint of a neighbor whose particular difficulties do not interest those about him.

While the situation resulting from the anti-Japanese agitation in California has not been a subject of official comment in Government circles, the conviction is expressed in well-informed quarters here that the Japanese question on the Pacific Coast cannot any longer be regarded as a "local" issue, without vital interest to the nation at large, but will have to be dealt with as a "national" problem. The questions involved in it represent one of America's foremost international problems, and this will undoubtedly be demonstrated before the lapse of many months.

Economic Side Presented.

Men here who have followed the situation closely consider that the Japanese question must be looked on from an economic point of view and in no sense as a question of race or racial antagonism. As an economic question the feeling is growing that the attitude of the Californians is not without justice.

The physical attributes of the Japanese settlers, together with radical differences in their customs, and manner of living, preclude competition with them in the economic field by the white races in California, enabling the Japanese to accomplish more work at lower living cost than the native inhabitants of the State. This economic advantage, coupled with the high rate of reproduction, which prevails among the Japanese people, it is now realized, must render it a matter of decades before the Japanese, at their present rate of progress, will supplant the white race as the dominant element in the population of California. This situation, it is now fully realized here, must inevitably force itself into prominence as a paramount national problem which must be faced and cannot be evaded by the Federal Government.

The letter of Governor Stephens, now awaiting consideration by Secretary Colby, stated that twenty years ago the Japanese population of California was merely nominal; that ten years ago the Census reports of the United States Government showed a Japanese population, in California, of 41,356 and that a computation and survey made recently by the Board of Control of the State of California indicates that this Japanese population has been more than doubled. It now amounts to 87,279.

Governor Stephens fears that if the initiative measure is passed it may fall short of its purpose through the Japanese retaining possession of agricultural lands through personal employment contracts and that, therefore, Government action was necessary.

REFUSE TO SUPPORT JAPANESE EXCLUSION

Rainbow Veterans Urged by Senator Underwood to Help Pilot Nation.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., July 13.—Declaring that it was not the policy of the Rainbow Division veterans to meddle with questions that did not vitally concern the organization, the first annual convention today voted to table a resolution introduced by the California delegation calling on Congress to exclude Japanese from the country. The Californians, who said they journeyed across the country solely to offer the resolutions, made a strong fight. A resolution favoring the extension of suffrage to the District of Columbia also was rejected.

The second day's session opened with full delegations from every State except North Carolina and Pennsylvania. The principal speaker was United States Senator Underwood.

"We are standing in the dawn of a new era of our Republic," the Senator said. "The tremendous force of new ideas and new conditions must be met and solved. Apparently, no plan remains steadfast and no policy is approved. The Government has become the football of the partisan and the desire of the plunderer.

"Where can we better turn to find the leaders to pilot the nation out of the doubts and dangers that seem to threaten us than by turning with confidence to the courageous soldier who saved our honor and followed our flag on the battlefields of France in the great war? Men of the Rainbow Division, you who served and sacrificed on the field of battle as volunteers at your country's call, are you really mustered out of your country's service, or have you been furloughed to serve and sacrifice again as citizens of the Republic for the honor of our country, the glory of our flag and the safety of our common heritage?"

He was followed by Lieutenant Vincent de Wierzbicki, official representative of the French Government, who was received with great applause.

The veterans pledged support to the Government in combating Bolshevism and approved a proposal that both capital and labor be drafted in the event of another war.

PROTEST TO JAPAN.

Subjects Here and in Hawaii Object to Military Laws.

WASHINGTON, July 13.—Japanese in the United States and Hawaii are said in official dispatches received here today to be making vigorous protest against the application of recently promulgated laws relative to military obligations of foreign-resident Japanese. The new laws raised the military exemption age of Japanese living outside Japan, China or Siberia to 37 years and reduced the time which a Japanese subject living outside the three countries may spend in Japan without becoming liable for military service from six months to one month.

AMERICAN SLACKERS HEAD MEXICAN REDS

SAY THEY ARE PROTECTED

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MEXICO CITY, July 13.—The Mexican Government's greatest danger is in the Bolshevist movement, not in revolting Generals.

A clearly defined Bolshevist movement is shown here in the published announcement of the reorganization of the I W. W., with Lynn Gale, an American army deserter; Jose Rodriguez, and C. F. Tabler as leaders, in conjunction with a local Bolshevist society, headed by Manabendranath Roy, who is now attending Red conferences in Europe.

Irwin Granich, Secretary, and another American army slacker, from New York York, named Biernbaum, alias Martin Brewster, compose the committee.

Charles Philips, a Columbia College student, is first President of the "Soviet." The Russian Soviet has sent an agent named Grozemberg to Mexico City to start activities and organize a society among Mexican working men.

Manabendranath Roy, a native of Burma, was involved in an East Indian revolutionary movement. He was implicated in the Hindoo trouble in California, and escaped to Mexico City, accompanied by a wealthy American woman who is financing an anti-British movement.

It is noted that most of these leaders of the Soviet and I. W. W. are wanted in different countries on criminal charges as forgers, absconders, slackers, bail jumpers and heads of forbidden societies.

The Mexican laborer, owing to his ignorance, is easily duped by such smooth talkers, who pretend to be political refugees from the United States. They are blindly followed by a number of Mexican working men, who support the leaders in idleness. Practically all the Mexican labor troubles, dating from the cotton strikes in the State of Vera Cruz in 1914; the cotton mills in Puebla, Queretaro and Jalisco; the mining troubles at El Oro, Pachuca and Guanajua; the present railway mechanics' grievances and the latest troubles among oil strikers at Tampico, provide a fertile field for the agitators. The threatened street railway strike is said to be due to Bolshevist influence.

The "Reds" magazine here publishes a statement saying that on the day previous to his flight from Mexico City Carranza had ordered the expulsion of Gale as a slacker and bail jumper from New York. Some members of the present Cabinet favor the expulsion of all known Bolsheviki, but other members take the stand that Mexico is a free country, with free speech and a free press, and that no one can be expelled for political opinions, all of which are pretty phrases but do not mean anything, as the Government has often expelled persons for no reasons other than personal revenge.

The Soviet holds meetings near the central part of the city, in the Calle Uruguay, where bitter attacks are made against all Governments. Propaganda is distributed in the main streets openly, and the leaders state that they have no fear of the Government curtailing their activities, as they count a number of friends in the administration.

WOMAN ADMITS FORGERY.

Helen Bottomley Confesses Guilt, Pleading Love of Finery.

BOSTON, July 13.—Miss Helen Bottomley, stylishly dressed, who maintained an expensive limousine and a fashionable apartment in the Back Bay, told the court before which she was arraigned today that a desire for finery caused her to commit forgery. She sought to plead guilty to charges of forging and uttering and of larceny, involving $3,200, but the court ordered that a plea of not guilty be entered for her.

Miss Bottomley is 31 years of age. She said her home was in New York. Police officials of Haverhill, Springfield and other New England cities from which reports of bogus checks passed by a supposed society woman have come recently, have been interested in the proceedings against her here.

FELLOW CITIZENS:

You will be interested in reading the names of those who represent the working force of VICTORY HALL ASSOCIATION, 4 East Forty-third Street, New York City.

This personnel should assure all citizens that the $20,000,000 which they will be asked next November or thereabouts to contribute to erect VICTORY HALL, in Pershing Square, will be effectively used to construct a building—inspiring, beautiful, useful, enduring—that will forever bespeak our united gratitude to the men and women of New York City who gave their all for you and me.

It is significant that every individual whose name is listed on the General Committee not only heartily approves of Victory Hall plans, but has consented—either orally or in writing—to serve, and is serving.

Sincerely yours, George W. Wingate, President.

RE-ASSURING

When a man has a building project on his mind, there is nothing so re-assuring as a little conference with an organization like ours, which can give him such intelligent and authoritative advice on just the type of proposition he is thinking about.

Put it up to us to put it up for you!

TRY TO LINK LLOYD WITH RED LEADERS

SAYS ONE CONFESSED IT

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, July 13.—Attorneys for the State were successful today, upon the resumption of the trial of William Bross Lloyd and other co-defendants, members of the Communist Labor Party charged with sedition, in obtaining the admission of testimony purporting to link their party directly with Lenin and Trotzky's Moscow manifesto.

In testimony offered by E. M. Allen, court reporter in the office of the State's Attorney, alleged admissions made by Max Bedacht of San Francisco, one of the defendants, after his arrest in March, 1920, were read to the jury.

According to the reporter's notes Bedacht, who is a member of the National Executive Committee of the Communist Labor Party, said that he subscribed fully to the principles set forth in the Moscow manifesto, from putting guns in the hands of the workingmen to the overthrow of the State by force.

The interrogations, as repeated to the jury, and Bedacht's alleged answers were in part:

Q.—When did you come to this country?
A.—I came from Switzerland in 1908.
Q.—Were you a German citizen at that time?
A.—I was.
Q.—Were you born in Germany?
A.—I was.
A.—Yes, sir.
Q.—I show a book entitled "The Moscow Manifesto" and ask you if that is a true copy of the manifesto as incorporated in the platform of the Communist Labor Party?
A.—It is.
Q.—You mean that the Communist Labor Party stands by principles in this book?
A.—Yes.
Q.—Did you then subscribe, and do you now subscribe, to all the principles in that document?
A.—I do.

By the decision of Judge Habel, the statement was included as evidence only against Bedacht, and not against the other defendants.

Offer Lloyd's Alleged Speech.

A speech alleged to have been made by William Bross Lloyd at the Auditorium in Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 12, 1919, was offered in evidence, though many objections were raised to its admittance.

Parts of the speech read:

"Comrades: I am mighty glad to see you all here, but I am not so terribly proud of you at that. It is your own fault that you are here tonight. You have left a bunch of plutocrats and lawyers run this country instead of workingmen. You ought to take a leaf out of the book of Bolshevism in this country and judicial elections. Don't put a bunch of lawyers in as Judges. Put in workingmen. Put the workers in control, and I'll tell you if you leave it to lawyers and preachers and business men you will never understand what the government is all about.

"Your comrades are polith il prisoners. Force rules the world. The answer to this proposition is preparedness. Now we have heard all about preparedness in this country. We know that the readier we are to fight, the bigger army we have got, the bigger navy, the more ammunition the less chance there is for us to fight. So what we want is revolutionary preparedness.

"We want to organize, so if you want to put a piece of preparedness in the hands of every one in Milwaukee you can do it in three or four hours. If you want every Socialist in Milwaukee at a certain time with a rifle in his hand or a bad egg, he will be there. We want a mobilization plan and an organization for the revolution. You want to get rifles, machine guns, field artillery and the ammunition for it; you want to get dynamite. Dynamite the doors of the banks to get the money to finance the revolution."

Most of the morning session was taken up by George F. K. Kummerow, an attorney and special agent of the Department of Justice, who attended the Chicago convention called to organize the Communists.

He testified that an invitation was sent to "Big Bill" Haywood, well-known I. W. W. leader, to address the convention. Haywood refused, as he was out on bonds after being convicted in the Federal Court and had promised not to make any revolutionary speeches pending a rehearing. He sent as a substitute, Anton Sopher, former Secretary of the I. W. W., who was convicted and served one year in a Federal penitentiary. Sopher made a thirty-minute speech to the convention.

France, Our Sister Republic, celebrates the Fourth of July twice.

Ten days ago she kept the American flag flying in sympathy with her thousands of friends in the United States.

Today, the fourteenth of July, we take notice of our comrades and friends in France, keeping the anniversary of the Fall of the Bastile, from which dates the beginning of the liberty of France.

Shoulder to shoulder we stand in the glorious liberty that has come to each of our nations, just as we stood two years ago side by side in the trenches on the western front when France was in jeopardy.

Let us continue to keep the two Independence Days of July.

None of us can forget Lafayette and Rochambeau, and France will never forget Pershing and his men.

The United States and France stand together in triumphant endeavor to enshrine the eternal principles akin to the Star-Spangled Banner in the hearts of the people. Both are brilliant and mighty and tremendously inspiring, each delighting in the other's genius and energy, to instill in the hearts of the people a new patriotism that will make the world a better place to live in.

May our warm friendship never grow cold and the glory of our flag never fade.

July 14, 1920.
(Signed)

The Young Lady's Summer Corset

Should be carefully made of the softest, coolest materials, lightly boned, and assuring the greatest amount of comfort together with the requisite support.

Our Corset Salons have a number of models designed to fulfill the requirements and made to sell at extremely moderate prices.

Three smart Shantung Suits for Women

Were $49.50.
Now $42.50

The chief virtue of these suits of shantung is their many, many, possibilities. For sports or for town—they may be worn for innumerable occasions with either the city or country as a background.

There are three models—the most successful of this season—at this price. One features the roll tuxedo collar, the other the shawl collar and the third is more of the typically English sports type, with inverted pleat in the back and patch pockets. In natural color only.

Satin Gowns for dinner and afternoon

Illustrated is one frock that has been newly added to the collection in the Gown Salon. It is of fine black crepe meteor, made with a draped hem and featuring the smartest and most becoming bodice that this type of frock is given this season. The lines are most simple, as the sketch shows, but the vestee is unusually delicate and charming, since it is of fine cream colored silk lace, made over flesh colored crepe de chine. The sleeves, the waistline, and the deep V of the front of the bodice are finished with finely pleated black moire ribbon. Price, $79.50.

A perfectly plain crepe de chine frock with draped hem a simple surplice blouse is to be had in gray and midnight blue and black. Price, $59.50.

A lovely frock of brocaded crepe de chine is in midnight blue and black and has a distinctly new type of bodice and skirt arrangement that is now being offered as an advance Autumn mode.

FALLING AMONG REAL RADICALS.

A sad but inevitable mishap has befallen some of the New York Forty-Eighters. As gentle dabblers in radicalism they went to Chicago to patronize the rude nationalizers and sovietizers of the West, but have met with unkind treatment at the hands of the latter. They have had to hear themselves sneered at as "plutocratic philanthropists," or arraigned as "slick lawyers" who were trying to hoodwink the honest toilers. Such, however, is the sure fate of dilettanti when they are brought into actual and rough contact with professionals. The uproarious radicals from Kansas and California and Wisconsin cannot put up with the gentlemanly pussy-footers from New York, afraid of "going too far" in attacks upon property. The impatient Western cry is: "What is property for except to be confiscated?" If the Eastern "plutes" wish to amalgamate with the wild men of the West, there will be no difficulty about it, provided that the wild men do the swallowing. Then it is to be hoped, as the village poetess hoped of a big meal, that all will "amalgamate below."

Senator HARDING has made the formal announcement that if he is elected President he will invite Vice President COOLIDGE to attend the Cabinet meetings. The Senator explains that this would be wholly unofficial. No duties would be laid upon the Vice President. His advice might be asked from time to time, and he would be brought into closer touch than would otherwise be possible with the business of the Administration. The whole suggestion is of a piece with Mr. HARDING'S avowed purpose to introduce into the Presidency, if he attains it, "plural leadership."

The idea is engaging, and doubtless can be, to a certain extent, carried out in practice. Strong men around the President, able to offer him sage counsel and bold enough to oppose his own views to his face, if necessary, would be desirable in any Administration. A weak President might shrink from having vigorous and independent minds near him, but an Executive conscious of his own powers as well as of his official authority would be glad to have such aid, even if it meant a certain amount of friction. LINCOLN found it hard at first to get on with SEWARD, but the latter soon discovered who was master. If HANNIBAL HAMLIN had been invited to sit with the Cabinet in 1862, he would scarcely have expected to name the commander of the Army of the Potomac.

Has the Harding plan been sufficiently considered from the point of view of the Vice President himself? He would doubtless feel highly complimented. It would be pleasant for him to be in cordial relations with a congenial President and to be consulted by him. But wouldn't the thing come in time to be a good deal of a bore? Wouldn't a Vice President without any real power or responsibility at Cabinet meetings be apt to feel that he was wasting a lot of time "loafin' round the throne"? Members of the Cabinet have definite jobs and clear accountability. The President is the one compelled to make the final decisions in matters of governmental policy. Between the two the Vice President would be only a sort of undefined amicus curiae—a position which would be almost certain to grow irksome, after a time, to an active man.

The Vice President seems likely to prove one of those things which the more you change them the more they remain the same. Personal intercourse between the President and Vice President depends largely upon the accident of temperament. President MCKINLEY used to be on very friendly terms with Vice President HOBART. But a matter of individual choice cannot be erected into a permanent system. The way in which the Constitution provides that the Vice President shall become versed in the public business is by designating him as presiding officer of the Senate. That experience he may supplement in various ways. One way would be the proposed plan to let him "sit in" at Cabinet meetings. But neither that nor any other extra-legal scheme will have much success in causing the Vice Presidency to be essentially different from what it has been since the foundation of the Government.

OUR INADEQUATE RAILROADS.

After his interview with Senator HARDING at Marion Senator CUMMINS said: "The inability of the railroads "to do the business of the country is "at present costing the country every "day more than the German war cost "the people any one day." The emphasis thus put on the importance of the railway question is not too great, but "inability" is something different from disability. A correspondent who agrees with what we have published about the cause of the railways' falling below expectations regrets that their efficiency was not measured by carloads and tonnages rather than by the general volume of business. That it is now possible to do, on the authority of the Association of Railway Executives. They publish the statement that between March 21 and June 18 the principal railroads moved 8,264,485 carloads of freight, compared with 7,708,927 during the corresponding weeks last year. In the week ended June 12 there was an increase of 29,000 carloads. The alleged "breakdown" of the railways is most complained of regarding coal, and yet between New Year's and June 12 the railways moved 39,000,000 more tons than last year.

It is difficult to apportion precisely the blame for the inadequacy of railway facilities to the demands upon them, but it is too plain for doubt that the deficiency is due mostly to growth of the demand. Compared with the pre-war year 1913 there has been an increase of production of wheat by 20 per cent., of coal 14 per cent., of iron ore 26 per cent., of pig iron the same, of manufactured steel 44 per cent., and so on through a long list. The country has grown, but the railways were not allowed to grow. Comparing 1918 with 1913, there was an increase in track mileage of 2.2 per cent., and of all tracks (main tracks, yard tracks, sidings) of 6 per cent. In supply of cars and maintenance generally the railways are actually deficient. Rates were increased a billion dollars, but wages absorbed it all. Rates are about to be increased again, and it is not clear how much will be allowed above what the new wage award will absorb. But one thing is sure—the country will have to reduce its business if the railways are not nourished. They cannot be scolded and starved into increasing their service.

More is required than an order that the railways shall carry all the freight offered them. The cars must be built, and the tracks in many cases rebuilt. DANIEL WILLARD has given a bill of particulars of the respects in which the railways have been undermaintained. These deficiencies must be made good if the freight is to be carried. This is apart from the question whether the railways are to make a profit and enjoy a credit. That would hasten their recuperation, and it is for the Interstate Commerce Commission and the country to make up their mind how long they wish the process of recuperation to be drawn out. A year or two may undo the damage of many years. But in any case it is well to restate the facts about the railways having "broken down."

JUDGE BALDWIN ON THE LEAGUE.

Judge SIMEON EBEN BALDWIN, sometime Governor of Connecticut, is one of those irritating persons who pass their lives in studying law and jurisprudence. He has studied and interpreted law. He has studied international law and given much of his life to the consideration of comparative law and the settlement of international disputes. He has an unfortunate eminence as a Democrat and a still more unfortunate eminence as an unprejudiced and capable thinker. He has a hard-headed, logical New England mind, enriched by a long practical administration of the law, and by deep pondering on the differences and the means of agreement between nations.

Now an extemporary or occasional thinker like Senator HIRAM JOHNSON shows the Republican Party that the League of Nations is the sum of all villainies. It must be so or Mr. WILSON would not be in favor of it. Mr. BALDWIN looks at these matters from a different, an impartial and regrettably non-Republican point of view. He has devoted his life, unfortunately, to legal principles. From the unhappy depth of his thought he permits himself to say:

> I have always been in favor of a general league of nations and principles. I have always thought that the scheme of the League of Nations favored by President WILSON would be improved by some reservations prior to our ratifying it. These are few. The main one is to make it clear that no obligations, legal or moral, exist which would force our Government into war without due action by Congress. Theoretically, foreign nations are bound to take notice of the terms and effect of the Constitution of the United States. Practically, the mass of their people do not know about our Constitution except that we are a Republic.

Judge BALDWIN thus believes in reservations such as the San Francisco platform admits. These are reservations which explain and specify, for the benefit of foreign nations or doubters in our own, self-evident facts. In a sense, and assuming that everybody in this country and outside of this country knows exactly what the United States can bind itself to, constitutionally, it might be said that any specifying and interpretory reservations are unnecessary. A wise old head like Judge BALDWIN sees that they may be useful. The United States and the rest of the world are beginning, or trying to begin, or will soon try to begin, a new period in the history of international relations. The Covenant of the League of Nations lays down the rules for intercourse between nations such as in another way has prevailed between the Federal States and the Federal Government. That no international government is created by the League of Nations doesn't alter the fact that nations, like States, ought to be able to live together on a basis of comity and self-interest.

That the hand of the United States, when it becomes a member of the League, can't be forced; that the Constitution defines duties on the part of the Executive and the legislative department that can't be changed by any new supposed obligation is sufficiently obvious. A great lawyer like Judge BALDWIN understands that perfectly. He understands perfectly the concessions, conceding nothing, simply defining, that must be made to satisfy not merely the captious and the timid, but a certain conservative sentiment that wishes to have everything understood, whether self-intelligible or not, before entering upon new arrangements founded upon the essential basis of national polity and life.

The Republicans have chosen to play fast and loose with the great question. They have thought, apparently, that there was a power in prejudice and ignorance that was "a good enough Morgan" for this election. Their notion is far from complimentary to the American people. When a competent and careful authority like Judge BALDWIN shows, so that every wayfaring man can read, the substantial and unchangeable foundation upon which the United States is asked to enter the League of Nations, one sees behind him the great body of "plain Americans" who are not pleased to be treated as children subject to the "patter" of the Republicans. The people cannot be "fooled" even a part of the time. The cynical Mr. PENROSE and his fellow Conscript Fathers are as far away from Mr. LINCOLN as from the facts.

GREETINGS TO FRANCE.

President WILSON made the heartiest response to the message of friendly good wishes sent by Premier MILLERAND of France. And today, on the occasion of the French national fête, it is to be hoped that there will be no lack of cordial greetings from America finding their way to the hearts of the French people. Americans sensitive to the situation must feel that they have a special obligation to do everything within their power to remove the apparent clouding, temporarily, of the relations between France and this country. This seeming is merely an unfortunate accident of our politics. The French ought to be assured of this, and that, at bottom, nothing has really changed; that we in America continue to think of them with admiration and with gratitude; and that we watch with sympathetic pride their heroic efforts to make good the ravages of the war, just as, during the war, we were thrilled by French valor and constancy. In nothing that Senafor HARDING has said has he spoken the general desire more plainly than in his statement that, if he becomes President, he will particularly strive to cultivate the friendliest relations with France. On this her "day of glory" may every doubt of American good-will be far removed from her thoughts.

THE GARDEN REMAINS.

Shedding a pious tear over the imminent demise of Madison Square Garden long ago became an emotional habit in these parts. Now that Mr. G. L. RICKARD assures us that he holds a ten-year lease and will continue the Garden as "a sport and exhibition centre," idle tears would be idler than ever. If any one is unable to rejoice it is those members of the Mayor's Committee who hoped to sanctify the beautiful building as a War Memorial. That project is apparently blocked and there is now no reason why the decision as to the precise form of the War Memorial cannot wait until next Fall.

Meantime the Garden remains. Supremely beautiful as it is, it must be confessed that its usefulness is essentially that of a palace for the city's carnivals. Its delicately patterned walls and graceful belvederes, the airy fantasy of its tower and the lithe beauty of the Diana of SAINT-GAUDENS striding into the wind are eloquent of vivacity and of joy. Beneath its roof the children of a generation have thrilled to the wonders and delights of the circus and later many of them have taken their own children in turn with a joy unabated. The stately seriousness of the Horse Show and the broad comedy of the Beauty Show; peace conferences that broke up in belligerency and "fake" prize fights; the tamed Wild West and the wild French Ball; the Sportsman's Show and the Automobile Show; roller skating redivivus and the zoological dances in their prime—the fads and fancies of the populace, one and all, have found here a hospitable house and home. Mr. RICKARD assures us that he has plans for rebuilding the Garden and enlarging the scope of its hospitality which "will add greatly to its reputation and attractiveness." He will do many admirable things, no doubt; but to fulfill that promise would be to quicken the joys of youth and enhance the humor and the tenderness of memory.

In spite of the promised respite of a decade the old problem remains. Will this city ever learn that, whatever the case with dog shows, beauty shows and prize fights, a genuine work of civic art abundantly pays? In all the world there is no more beautiful palace for a city's pleasuring. The tower is the masterpiece of STANFORD WHITE, the Diana one of the most distinguished sculptures of SAINT-GAUDENS. Since the City Hall, no building has so successfully linked the spirit of our American metropolis with the spirit of beauty. If the city authorities are wise they will make sure that the Garden shall become a permanent possession.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

Opinions Widely at Odds.

It grieves—or perhaps delights—the Secretary of the New York Society for the Suppression of Vice that he has found in THE TIMES two decidedly dissimilar opinions of a book in which he recently has taken what might be called a professional interest. Away back in November, when the book was published, an unsigned article in The Book Review section of THE TIMES said: "It is a book that gives not the slightest ray of illumination to the social problem out of which it comes, that adds nothing to our knowledge of that problem, but does carry limitless possibilities of corrupting influence and evil results." Last week on its editorial page THE TIMES said of the same book: "It has not, however, the particular faults that alone justify the always repellent exercise of the State's censorial power, for while there are many passages in it to displease, and several to disgust, a sensitive reader, there is not one to lead the weak astray by making vice attractive."

The two opinions thus expressed agree as to the book's lack of any value as a sociological document; they are obviously in direct contradiction as to its possible moral influence. The Court of Special Sessions agreed with the reviewer and condemned the book to suppression and its publisher to pay a fine. The Appellate Division of the Supreme Court took the same view of it as did the writer of the editorial article, declared the book harmless and revoked the fine. The seeming inconsistency of THE TIMES, therefore, is paralleled in authorized interpretations of law. Probably the one inconsistency needs explanation and defense as much as the other, and neither much, but while the disagreeing Judges are too dignified to undertake such a task, a newspaper, with no claim to perfection or infallibility, can at least attempt it.

Difficulties and How They're Met.

Theoretically, everything in a newspaper is the product of a single mind, and for everything in the newspaper the possessor of that mind is responsible. Actually, every newspaper deserving of the name in its modern sense is the product of many minds, collected and selected by fewer, but still numerous, minds, and finally issued, as fully harmonized, rationalized and synthetized—in other words, "edited"—as circumstances permit. They permit a large amount of such work, but not enough of it to bring invariable unity between all of many parts and activities.

To a critic of The London Times who once complained to Mr. DELANE that an editorial statement made that day contradicted one made a week before, the great editor replied, "That's nothing. All we expect is not to contradict ourselves on the same day." That was said not quite seriously, of course, but neither was it entirely in jest, as every experienced journalist knows to his sorrow.

As for divergent views expressed in a book review and an editorial article, they may be ascribed either to a change of mind by one person or to a difference of judgment by two persons. On either theory the world will go on much as it did before, and—well, the editorial opinion, like the decision of the Appellate Division, stands.

One Policy Both Commend.

Governor Cox announces that if elected he will choose a "dirt farmer" for Secretary of Agriculture. Senator HARDING, in reply, says that he, too, in case of election, will do the same thing, and then, utilizing the advantage of speaking second, he adds that through several Republican Administrations the Secretary of Agriculture was, or had been, a "dirt farmer," and it was a Democratic President who appointed to the position a "college professor."

The two candidates seem to be in agreement in this one matter—both, that is, consider practical farm experience a better qualification for the Secretaryship than knowledge assumed to be merely theoretical. In a sense, of course, they are right, but both of them must know that not one "dirt farmer" in a hundred, probably not one in a thousand, is competent to be Secretary of Agriculture. For that post something more is required than actual participation in farm work, and the additional qualifications, the necessity for which both candidates would admit, might or might not be possessed by a "college professor."

Amateurs and theorists are not to be despised—not all of them, at any rate. Not infrequently—yes, innumerable times—they have taught the distinctively "practical" man how to do his work or carry on his business better than had been his too contented wont. As for the Department of Agriculture, that, like the other governmental departments, depends largely for efficency upon its staff of permanent officials and employés—persons who remain while Administrations pass and about whom nothing is heard except at rare intervals. The wise Secretary is the one who knows when to accept and when to reject the advice of the permanent staff.

They'd All Like the Name.

Among the most impassioned and the most applauded of the orators who addressed the variegated statesmen and publicists out in Chicago who think they are starting a third great political party is Mr. SWINBURNE HALE of New York. He was a Captain, it seems, in the Intelligence Department of the American Expeditionary Force, but apparently he did not enjoy his experience abroad and does not look back upon his service of his country with pride, for he vehemently announced in the course of one of his speeches that never again would he be an officer in any war, no matter whether it was offensive or defensive or whether there was a draft or not.

This, of course, is a vow that can be kept, as it has not been and will not be the military custom to compel the acceptance of a commission by anybody. But in case of another war and another draft before Mr. HALE passes the military age, is he determined not to serve in it even as a private? That was the implication of his speech and so his cheering auditors evidently took it.

One must conclude, therefore, that Mr. HALE has turned pacifist—is a believer in peace at any price to his country and to himself. And his hearers must be of like mind, else they would not have cheered the determination he proclaimed.

They should not take long to find a name for their party. "Pacifist Party" is short, simple, alliterative and easy to remember.

WHO SAID IT?

Lord Fisher's Memoirs Raise a Question.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

> "A Cabinet Minister, in an article (after the armistice) in a newspaper, stated that the Allies were at their last gasp when the armistice occurred, as it did, as a miracle, for Marshal Foch had been foiled on the strategic flank by the inability of the American Army to advance and the unavoidable consequences of want of experience in a new army (immense but inexperienced—they were slaughtered in hecatombs and died like flies!), and so the American advance on the Verdun flank was held up and Haig therefore had to batter away instead (and well he did it!), and though the British Army entered Mons," &c.

Who was the Cabinet Minister and how much of this extraordinary statement is his and how much original with Lord Fisher? Whoever is responsible for the statements is curiously ignorant of what preceded the armistice. Lord Fisher seems not to know that "the immense but inexperienced" army had reached Sedan and cut the enemy's communications. He seems not to know about the advance through the Argonne. And he seems to be entirely unaware that there were several divisions of the "immense but inexperienced" ones with Sir Douglas Haig.

The statement which I quote is so ridiculous that in itself it is not worth notice. But the book in question is being widely read, and such injustice to our fighting men and their Commander in Chief should not be allowed to pass.

Native Seamen.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Silas Blake Axtell, chief counsel of the Seamen's Union of America, in his plan for making the American merchant marine international, seems to have forgotten the American boy. Why go to Europe for seamen? What is the matter with the men born in the United States for American ships? Mr. Axtell professes a great yearning to bring the blessings of liberty and the Seaman's act to foreign seamen, but why? Are Sweden and England so undesirable and the United States the only asylum? Is it a mere matter of the higher rate that is offered as a bait in this generous invitaton to come over and man our ships?

One of the results of foreign seamen on American ships will be the forcing off the sea of American seamen; another result will be the making of the American Seamen's Union a foreign union; this will mean foreign officers, and many of them now speak some other language better than English. It does not take much of an imagination to see what a strong support Uncle Sam would find his mercenary foreign seamen in time of war!

This enthusiasm for international alliances has a sinister side to it which it is to be hoped American seamen will discover before it leads them astray. Internationalism, as exhibited today in Europe as a panacea of industrial ills, is born of hate and greed, and breeds destruction. It is part of the program to undermine constituted, parliamentary government in every civilized country of the world. There is only one kind of seamen for American ships—men born in the United States, members of an American union whose officers are American born and loyal to American institutions.

Unthanked Servants.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Your editorial article of today (Sunday), entitled "Unthanked Servants," and the Williams College address of ex-Secretary Lane impel me to express my appreciation of your splendid and most interesting and instructive editorial page of today's issue. It is, to my mind, exceptionally able as well as interesting, and full of political wisdom.

The unthanked servants of the press, although they may not always agree with our own particular views, are entitled to expressions of their readers' appreciation and gratitude at times, especially when it is considered how many splendid minds submerge themselves in the editorial composite of a great metropolitan newspaper.

However, gratitude is not essential to the career of a reformer or an idealist. His greatest and perhaps only reward is in seeing his ideas take root in the popular mind and bear the fruit he had intended, no matter who gets the credit for it. The reformer must give up the idea of gratitude and that shabby thing popular acclaim. He must always be prepared to have others claim the credit for his ideas and work—and even to encourage them in that claim—if it will advance what Emerson calls "the just cause."

Much I conceive to be the spirit in which the unthanked servants of the press think and write.

HAPPINESS IS A MIGHTY TOWER.

Builded on the rock of life
High above the waves of strife
And the shifting ocean's power.

Justice, Love and Confidence;
Candor, void of vain pretense,
And Joy that smiles with childhood's face.

Drossy sands are pomp and pelf;
In the quarry of yourself
Sleeps the stone to match Time's seas.

Build within for deathless power—

JAPAN IN THE CONSORTIUM.

Mr. Lamont Points Out Reservations Were Withdrawn.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I have read with great interest the message to the American people sent by Premier Hara of Japan through your special correspondent at Tokio, John Foord. I am sure that all good Americans will welcome Premier Hara's greetings and will return his good wishes.

The Premier was good enough to comment in regard to my recent visit to Japan and my negotiations there with the members of the Japanese banking group and of the Government. Premier Hara, however, must have been misquoted when he is apparently made to say, in regard to the consortium, that Japan adhered to her reservations as to Manchuria and Mongolia. Quite the contrary is the case. My visit to Japan on behalf of the American, British and French banking groups was made in order to find out whether or not the Japanese banking group, with the approval of its Government, intended to come into the consortium for China on the same terms as the Western banking groups. As a result of all our discussions, banking, governmental and otherwise, the Japanese banking group, with the explicit approval of its Government, withdrew the original letter which had set up the reservations as to Manchuria and Mongolia, and announced its entry into the consortium on the same basis as the other groups.

Japan showed, in my judgment, great wisdom and courage in withdrawing her reservations, because, as Premier Hara points out, in Japan there has always been a great sentiment as to the blood and treasure which her people spent in Manchuria. The whole question, however, of Japan's entry into the consortium on the same terms as the other groups is of such importance that I write this in order to correct the inaccuracy as it appeared in your valued columns.

JAPANESE RELATIONS.

A Protest Against the New California Proposals.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Permit me to express my appreciation of the important contribution you are making for promoting right relations between America and Japan by your recent editorial articles and by the contributions from Japan by your special correspondent, John Foord. The great need of the times is light. This you are giving.

The United States needs to know more fully just what the anti-Japanese agitators in California are urging that is so obnoxious to Japan. The proposed referendum in California is summarized by H. B. Johnson in the following paragraphs:

> To prohibit land ownership by Japanese.
> To prohibit leasing of farm land by Japanese.
> To prohibit the acquisition of real property by American-born Japanese minors, who are American citizens, under the guardianship of their parents.
> To deprive the Japanese parents of their natural right to be the guardians of their minor sons or daughters owning real property.
> To escheat real property to the State upon certain prima facie presumptions.
> To prohibit the Japanese from taking any interest in any company or corporation owning real property.

Is it surprising that Japanese resent these proposals—especially when their Government has taken so much pains to help America solve the question of Japanese immigration to this country? Ambassador Shidehara in a notable recent article on "Japanese-American Relations" has well said that the "task [of maintaining right relations] calls for serious self-examination, enlightened by statesmanship and high moral purpose. The grave responsibility is on America and Japan to so adjust their partnership in the Pacific that lasting peace, and harmonious co-operation shall be assured. To preserve a friendship which is so precious to her, she [Japan] is prepared to come more than half way along any path of conciliation which is not incompatible with honor and manly self-respect."

In 1907 Japan entered on the gentlemen's agreement. Immigration from Japan fell from 30,000 to 3,000. The following figures tell the story effectively:

Immigration to the United States, Including Hawaii.

Before Gentlemen's Agreement.		After Gentlemen's Agreement.
1899	2,844	1908	15,803
1900	12,635	1909	3,111
1901	5,269	1910	2,720
1902	14,270	1911	4,520
1903	10,908	1912	6,114
1904	14,264	1913	8,281
1905	10,331	1914	8,929

To understand the nature of the so-called "immigration" since 1908 the figures need to be analyzed. Analysis shows that while 79,738 entered Continental United States between July 1, 1908, and June 30, 1919, 68,770 returned to Japan, the net increase by immigration being only 10,968. Of the 79,738 that entered, 32,879 were former residents returning after a visit to Japan, of whom 12,108 were "laborers." Children coming with or coming to join their parents numbered 10,417 and 24,293 were wives.

The proposal of the California agitators to amend the Federal Constitution so as to deny American citizenship to children born in the United States if either parent is Asiatic will, in fact, injure America and California far more than it will Japan. It will compel all Japanese and Chinese born here generation after generation to maintain political allegiance to their native lands. It will inevitably create a race problem far more serious than if we claim them for Americans and win them to loyal support of our democratic institutions. The proposal is reactionary and un-American. It would deny to a certain class of our people living permanently here, merely on the ground of race, "the equal protection of the laws." This provision of our Constitution was introduced at the close of the civil war in order to secure better justice for all classes of people in the United States.

It may be questioned whether the proposals of the "referendum" are not unconstitutional because they violate the principle of "equal protection of the law." Justice Hughes in a famous case once decided that that phrase means the "protection of equal laws."

Loyal American citizens who desire to preserve our American institutions of justice and fair play for all, and to maintain proper relations with Japan, should speak out frankly on these matters. Japan should be assured that America as a whole is too fair-minded and too sane to allow the clamor of a few misguided citizens, who surely do not see the situation as a whole, to stampede America into a policy so unfair to Japanese and so ominous for America.

PROHIBITION ENFORCEMENT AS AN ISSUE.

Interpretation of the Eighteenth Amendment Regarded as a Proper Question for the Next Congress.

By SAMUEL UNTERMYER.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I take the liberty of joining issue with the arguments advanced and the conclusions reached by THE TIMES in its leading editorial article of Thursday, the 8th instant under the title "Rum Is Not the Issue of This Campaign." In a sense this is true. The big issue and the biggest that has ever confronted the electorate is as to whether this country shall meet or evade the great responsibility and opportunity to serve humanity and to become the greatest force of the nations in enforcing the future peace of the world, that it has ever been or ever will be the fortunate lot of any nation to have come its way.

The adoption of the Republican platform by the "irreconcilables" of that party, and the construction they put upon it, and are permitted by the reservationists to put upon it, confirm our worst fears as to the issue on which they have decided to go to the people. The mask under which that party has been masquerading is now discarded and we are at last face to face with the problem of whether we shall join in ushering in the new régime of justice, peace and good-will between the peoples of the earth under the banner of the League of Nations, with or without reservations, as you please (for they were never really necessary and were at all times a mere cloak under which to tap the public pulse), or whether we shall turn our backs upon stricken, appealing humanity and henceforth tread the path of selfish isolation. That is of course the supreme issue. On that issue, if it can be stripped of the sophistries that have been built around it, and the God-like conception can be made to shine forth in its true glory, there need be no fear, for our people have never yet failed to rise to a great moral responsibility regardless of the sacrifices involved, though in this case there are happily no sacrifices that need be made.

If by the title of your article is meant that the legislation passed by the last Congress to enforce the prohibition amendment as embodied in the Volstead act is not to be an issue and an important one, I beg herewith to set forth the grounds upon which, in my judgment, this will be found to be an erroneous view. The fact that the platforms of both political parties assume an attitude on this question that is discreditably characteristic of the treatment of all the great issues in the Republican platform and is quite out of keeping with the frank and fearless manner in which the Democratic platform has met every issue save this, is not by any means controlling. The parties should and will be forced to meet the issue.

Nor would it be, as you assert, "a degradation of our politics, a cause for national shame and humiliation, if the liquor issue were brought to a place of prominence in the Presidential campaign. • • • Can any decent person imagine without disgust that 30,000,000 people are to be asked to go to the polls and vote upon that miserable issue when questions of the greatest weight and moment they could possibly have been called upon to decide have been presented for their judgment?"

It would, of course, have been a great misfortune if that or any other domestic question were permitted to obscure the overshadowing importance of the league. But there are, as you rightly say, other issues, such as reduced costs of Government and reforms in our system of taxation, and still more urgent among those not mentioned by you—effective legislation to prevent the continuance of the orgy of profiteering through pools and combinations and other still more modern business inventions that unless checked will seriously threaten our social and economic structure.

But I respectfully insist that, urgent as are all these domestic problems, none of them transcends in importance or in its far-reaching moral effects what you disdainfully cast aside as "the issue of rum or no rum."

The newspapers are printing a great deal of nonsense about the so-called "wets" and "drys" as though either party or any section of either party openly or under cover were championing the restoration of the vile traffic in intoxicating liquor in the face of its Constitutional prohibition or were endeavoring to secure a modification of the amendment. This effort to obscure the issue is stupid and deceives no one. The only question sought to be presented to the electorate is as to whether the people by the amendment intended to delegate to Congress the mandate to interdict the sale of harmless non-intoxicating beverages in the home or whether the use that Congress has made of this delegation of power is an abuse and prostitution of power.

After a long and hopeful observance of the effects of the enforcement of State prohibition, I became, and have been for many years, a convert to national prohibition as the only practical means of preventing the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors in this country. By common consent the scourge and pestilence of that nursery of crime, the saloon, has at last been exterminated in this land and our gratitude to the brave men and women who have for generations struggled against the evil influences that held them in check should be unbounded. No political party would now dare agitate for the return of the saloon or of the right to manufacture or sell liquors that can by any stretch of construction be held to be intoxicating within the meaning of the Eighteenth Amendment. Greatly as we might have preferred to see the problem solved by each State or community for itself, the system proved unworkable and for reasons that are now obvious.

But gladly as I welcome national prohibition, I am a still greater believer in honesty in legislation and in rigidly enforcing the principle that Congress shall not, under cover of legislation to enforce a Constitutional amendment, trample upon the Constitution which it is pretending to enforce or arrogate unto itself powers that were not intrusted to it by the people.

The Volstead act in its present form is a piece of glaring legislative chicanery and lawlessness that is without precedent and without even the merit of a decent excuse. It is an incitement to contempt for law, and on that ground, and not primarily because it prohibits non-intoxicating beer, its modification becomes imperative to those who are wedded to the rule of law and order.

Permit me to particularize. The Eighteenth Amendment prohibits "the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquor as a beverage," and gives to Congress and the States concurrent power to enact the necessary legislation to carry this prohibition into effect. The Supreme Court has said in effect that when the people gave to Congress and the States concurrent power they meant to give Congress sole and supreme power to the exclusion of the States. The court further decided in effect that the character and extent of the legislation that Congress may enact is without Constitutional limitation or right of review; that the people left that entire subject unreservedly to Congress and that the courts have no control over it; if Congress has deceived the people and abused its power, its members are accountable to their constituents and not to the courts.

What then has Congress done under this unlimited grant of power "to prohibit the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors as a beverage"? It has legislated to forbid the manufacture and sale of beverages which contain only one-half of one per cent. of alcoholic contents—beverages that it does not pretend and that nobody has ever pretended to be intoxicating or that could possibly tend to intoxicate, as was frankly admitted by the members of the Senate Committee upon the argument on the bill. It is not, therefore, because of anything that has been done with respect to "rum or no rum" nor because there is any controversy over the wisdom of the amendment, which is a great blessing to the country, but because Congress has grossly abused its power, that its action is to be challenged at the bar of popular judgment. The absurdity and bad faith of the limitation are made apparent when we consider that the alcoholic contents fixed by the law are less than are contained in beefsteak. A glance at the proceedings before the committee when the bill was before it will convince any fair-minded person that Congress, under the whip of the Anti-Saloon League, lawlessly arrogated to itself the arbitrary power to outlaw non-alcoholic beverages and that by that act of usurpation it has plunged this entire subject into the political arena as a bone for endless controversy.

Will anybody seriously contend that three-quarters of the States of the Union would have ratified the Eighteenth Amendment if they had suspected that it would ever have been held to include beverages which the promoters of the amendment have time and again themselves admitted to be beyond question non-intoxicating? The people supposed that they were banishing whisky, strong drink and the saloon. We who favored the extermination of the saloon and of the sale of strong drink did not contemplate that, while safeguarding the right of the rich to stock up with strong drink for a generation, if they cared to do so, we were interfering with personal liberty and with the innocent habits of our foreign-born population to the extent of prohibiting the use of non-intoxicating light beer in the homes, where it had been for generations and by tradition part of the food of these people. It is the most vicious form of class legislation and is bound to breed resentments and class hatred, besides which the law is unenforceable in the great cities, where it is most needed, and is only being sporadically enforced and is generally openly violated.

The ruthless confiscation of property resulting from this abuse of power runs into billions of dollars. The business of brewing beer, a wholesome, harmless industry that has since the foundation of our Government been recognized as respectable and encouraged by legislation and that has yielded a substantial part of the State and Federal revenues, is thus summarily annihilated without compensation to the owners, contrary to what is believed to be the will of the people. When those whose personal liberties have thus been invaded and the innocent victims of this piece of legislative chicanery resort to the ballot box, which is the remedy pointed out to them by the Supreme Court and the only means of redress left them, their action is denounced as "a degradation of our politics, a cause for national shame and humiliation."

In my judgment, it is a great public service and a cause for rejoicing that every attempt by Congress to abuse the exercise of its Constitutional powers should be rebuked at the polls and that whenever such abuse is claimed to have been perpetrated the charge should be submitted for popular decision.

If the Volstead act is a legitimate exercise of the power intended to be delegated to Congress and not an abuse of that power, the form of the amendment prohibiting only intoxicating liquors was a fraud upon the people. Their remedy is to elect a Congress that will conform the law to the Constitution, which the Supreme Court has said it is within the power of Congress to do. The issue is therefore not one of "rum or no rum," or whether the vice of the saloon shall be restored, on which we all agree, but of whether the popular will shall be thwarted or obeyed. On that question the people have never been, but are entitled to be, and will be, heard in spite of platform declarations or evasions.

DANES THANK WILSON.

King Expresses Gratitude for Liberation of North Slesvig.

WASHINGTON, July 13.—Upon the incorporation of the first zone of Slesvig into the Danish Kingdom, President Wilson sent a telegram felicitating King Christian and the Danish people on the restoration of that portion of the ancient Duchy of Slesvig to the authority of Denmark "through the application of the principle of self-determination."

In reply, the American Legation at Copenhagen reported to the State Department today that King Christian had expressed his heartfelt thanks to the President for the latter's felicitation and had expressed the warm gratitude of the "entire Danish nation toward the President and the American nation for the liberation of the ancient Danish territory of North Slesvig."

RED BANDS

LOYALTY ISSUE PRESSED

The election of an Associate Superintendent of Schools to succeed Dr. John L. Tildsley, whose term of office expired last month, will be held at the meeting of the Board of Education this afternoon. Dr. Tildsley is holding over until he is re-elected or another chosen in his place. Mrs. Grace Strachan Forsythe, President of the Interborough Association of Women Teachers, and one of the District Superintendents, is the only candidate who has appeared against Dr. Tildsley. She is said to be favored by those members of the Board of Education who are regarded as strong supporters of Mayor Hylan's administration.

Three of the seven members of the board have declared themselves for Dr. Tildsley. They are Arthur S. Somers, Frank D. Wilsey and Mrs. Emma Murray. President Prall said yesterday that he expected all the members of the board to be present at today's meeting. Joseph Yeska, who has been seriously ill, is better, and, it is believed, will attend the meeting.

Colleagues Back Tildsley.

Hol Scholastikol, the old time association of school men, has sent to the Board of Education a statement signed by its President, Frank D. Wilsey, its Executive Committee and general members from the teaching corps, asking for Dr. Tildsley's re-election. Among the signers are Ernest F. Ellert and Dr. Lewis Haupt, former members of the Board of Education, and Mrs. Ruth G. McGray, one of the district superintendents. The statement sets forth that Dr. Tildsley has been assailed for the performance of official duty, resulting in the dismissal of several teachers from the service in our public high schools, and that his course has been justified and approved officially, and that his action of his superiors has, on appeal, been approved by the State Commissioner of Education. After a high tribute to Dr. Tildsley's professional attainments, official industry and integrity the statement declares that failure to re-elect him would bring scandal on the entire educational system of the city.

Caduceus Post, 818, of the American Legion, at a special meeting held last night, expressed their opinion of what was characterized as the proposed ousting of Dr. Tildsley on account of his Americanism. Following is the resolution of the post:

For the sake of genuine Americanism and pure patriotism, which should be inculcated into the minds and hearts of all the children of our public schools, Caduceus Post of the American Legion, composed of citizens of Greater New York who served in the Medical Department of the United States Army, urge the retention of Dr. John L. Tildsley as Associate Superintendent of New York City Public Schools.

Societies of the Revolution Aid.

The National Security League announced last night that its stand for Dr. Tildsley had been indorsed by Robert Olyphant, New York State President of the Sons of the Revolution, and by Mrs. Charles W. Nash, New York State Regent of the Daughters of the American Revolution. Mrs. Nash telegraphed the league yesterday from Albany:

"Any movement which will train the youth of America away from radicalism, teach them Americanism and American ideals should meet with the heartiest approval of every patriotic citizen. Radical propaganda or teaching should not be tolerated in our schools, public or private."

Charles D. Orth, President of the National Security League, in behalf of Dr. Tildsley, says the checking of radical propaganda among school children is the main question in Dr. Tildsley's re-election, and warns against mistaking the issue for a personal question.

WASHINGTON FLIES FRENCH FLAG TODAY

WILSON SENDS A MESSAGE

WASHINGTON, July 13.—Official Washington will pay honor to France tomorrow in commemoration of Bastille Day. Government buildings will display the French Tri-color along with the American flag; President Wilson will send a message of congratulation to the President of France and Secretary Baker will place wreaths on the graves of French soldiers at the Arlington National Cemetery.

Tonight General Pershing sent a message to Marshal Foch and the French Army, and a similar message was sent by Franklin Doller, National Commander of the American Legion.

Bainbridge Colby, Secretary of State, in announcing that the French flag would be hoisted over the State Department Building with the Stars and Stripes, suggested informally that the same action be taken by business men and householders over the entire country.

"It would be a very appropriate and graceful act," he said, "for the people of this country to blend the Stars and Stripes with the French Tri-color on their business houses and homes on Bastille Day. It would be a tribute to France on the great day it celebrates. It would be an expression of cordiality toward that people whose warm friendship has been cherished by this country since the earliest days of the Republic."

Secretary Baker advised the French Embassy today of his plan to lay wreaths on the graves of the French soldiers buried at Arlington and extended an invitation for a representative of the embassy to be present.

"There will be no other formalities than the simple decoration which characterizes our observances of the like memorial to our own soldiers on Memorial Day," the Secretary said.

General Pershing's message to Marshal Foch in behalf of Americans who served in France follows:

"Your American friends and comrades in arms send to the French Army and people their most cordial greetings and felicitations on the inspiring occasion of your victory day, bound together in friendship by historic ties dating from the Revolution, firmly cemented in the World War by the blood of our sons on common battlefields, your people and ours may look with confidence into the future and rejoice together in the present that our unity is unimpaired, and that we have maintained for posterity our high national ideals of liberty and justice. We pay all honor and tribute to the glorious dead who have given their lives in defense of those noble principles. May France enjoy the peace and prosperity which she has so richly earned and which she celebrates today!"

JEWISH AID TO GO ON.

That there is to be no diminution of effort upon the part of American Jews to relieve the distress of Jews abroad because of the tragic deaths of Dr. Israel Friedlander and Dr. Bernard Cantor in the Ukraine was indicated last night in a statement by the Joint Distribution Committee, of which Felix M. Warburg is Chairman, which told of the sailing today of Dr. Bernard Flexner. Dr. Flexner, upon his arrival in Europe, will meet Frederick Warburg, son of Felix M. Warburg, and Lieutenant James Becker. They will investigate the condition of the Jews in the war zones.

Coincident with this announcement a telegram was yesterday dispatched to the members of the Joint Distribution Committee throughout the United States to meet at Mr. Warburg's office, 52 William Street, tomorrow to take fitting action upon the deaths of Dr. Friedlander and Dr. Cantor.

A cablegram was dispatched yesterday to Leo Gerstenzang, who is in charge of the Warsaw office. The cable was as follows:

"Shocked over terrible news. Our prayers go out to you to be strong of heart in this trial. May the memory of this supreme sacrifice spur you on to increased efforts to save our people.

"FELIX M. WARBURG."

Major Schroeder Reduced.

DAYTON, Ohio, July 13.—Orders received at McCook field today reduce Major R. W. Schroeder, who holds the world's airplane altitude record, to the rank of Captain. Major Schroeder, who recently fell nearly six miles in the air during a height flight, has not as yet accepted this rank.

$30,000,000 MERGER OF N. Y. BANKS NEAR

The Bankers Trust Company's growth has been rapid since its formation, seventeen years ago. It was launched by the Morgan interests at a time when the trust company field was expanding rapidly, and its connections assured an important influence in banking matters. About twelve years ago it acquired the Manhattan Trust Company, and later the Astor Trust Company, in which E.

Purchases Additional Land.

C. Converse was a leading share owner, was merged with it.

After the absorption of the Manhattan Trust Company the Bankers Trust erected what was then one of the city's most substantial and lofty office buildings, at Wall and Nassau Streets. Early this year it was reported that the company had acquired an additional parcel of land on the west, for the purpose of extending its office space, presumably to make ready for the addition of the business of the Liberty National.

The Directors of the Bankers' Trust includes many leaders in banking and commercial lines. In addition to Messrs. Converse, Reid, Pomeroy and Prosser, there are Stephen Baker, Samuel G. Bayne, Nicholas Biddle, Cornelius N. Bliss, Jr., E. M. Bulkley, Thomas Cochran, H. P. Davison, Pierre S. du Pont, Allen B. Forbes, Fred I. Kent, Walter E. Frew, Edgar L. Marston, William H. Porter, Herbert L. Pratt, H. K. Twitchell, T. De Witt Cuyler, Horace Havemeyer, Charles L. Tiffany, Edward Townsend, M. Friedsam, Owen D. Young, John J. Downey and Frederick T. Haskell.

NATIONAL CITY BANK PLANS BIG EXPANSION

Stockholders Will Vote Aug. 26 on Issue of 150,000 New Shares, $100 Par Value.

The capital of the National City Bank is to be increased to $40,000,000, the surplus to $45,000,000 and the combined capital, surplus and undivided profits to approximately $100,000,000 if shareholders of the institution approve a recommendation to be made by the Board of Directors at a special meeting called for Aug. 26. At the present time the capital, surplus and undivided profits total about $83,300,000.

No immediate change is to be made in the capital of the National City Company, which is now $10,000,000, but it is believed that an addition to this amount will be made some time in the Fall. The matter, it was said, has been under consideration, but the final decision has not as yet been reached.

If the increase in capital of the bank is approved by the stockholders the plan is to issue 150,000 new shares, of $100 par value, and to offer these on a pro-rata basis to present stockholders at the rate of $125 per share, the extra amount to be paid into surplus, and an additional amount of $6,250,000 to be transferred from undivided profits to surplus. The new shares are to have an equal participation in the National City Company with present shares. This has been provided for by the recent change in the agreement covering the interest of City Bank shareholders in the National City Company.

This proposed change in capitalization is the first to be made by the National City Bank since June 2, 1902, when the capital was increased from $10,000,000 to $25,000,000. It had been raised to $10,000,000 on Jan. 9, 1900.

In the last condition statement issued before the increase in June, 1902, the National City Bank had capital of $10,000,000 and surplus and undivided profits of $7,300,000. At the present time its capital is $25,000,000, its surplus $35,000,000 and its undivided profits $23,800,000, a total of $83,800,000.

Eighteen years ago, when the last previous change in capitalization was effected, the bank had total deposits of about $162,700,000, compared with deposits of $799,000,000 now. Its loans at the earlier date were $81,800,000, against $617,300,000 now, and its total resources were $190,000,000, whereas in the statement just issued they amount to $1,077,000,000.

REAR ADMIRAL HARRIS DIES IN SOUTHAMPTON

Rear Admiral Harris was born in Hartford, Conn., in 1845. His naval career began as an acting assistant paymaster in 1864 and he served during the Civil War in the volunteer service until he was honorably discharged in September, 1865. Five months later he was appointed an assistant paymaster from New York and later he became Paymaster General and was placed upon the retired list with the rank of rear admiral in March, 1905.

LORD FISHER'S FUNERAL IN WESTMINSTER ABBEY

Impressive Cortege, but Simple Services—Eight Admirals Act as Pallbearers.

LONDON, July 13.—Funeral services were held in Westminster Abbey today for the late Baron Fisher of Kilverstone, Admiral of the Fleet. The funeral procession left St. James's Square and proceeded through The Mall to the Admiralty Arch. The route was lined with spectators.

At the Abbey eight Admirals, including Viscount Jellicoe, acted as pallbearers. Interment will occur tomorrow at Kilverstone Hall, Norfolk, where the body will be conveyed on a farm wagon covered with the same Union Jack used at the funeral of Lady Fisher. Eight sailors will carry the coffin across the lawn to the churchyard.

The American Ambassador, John W. Davis, was among the large number of distinguished personages attending the services, and American naval officers were stationed with British officers in the west door of the Abbey when the procession arrived. The funeral cortege was impressive, but the services were marked throughout by simplicity.

DIFFER ABOUT DESCHANEL.

Some Paris Newspapers Say He Is Better and Other Worse.

PARIS, July 13.—President Deschanel's health, concerning which the newspapers have been silent during the last month, now is one of the main topics of Parisian conversation and comment in the press. There is a divergence of opinion, some of the newspapers today expressing the belief that the President, although in poor health, is on the road to fairly early recovery, while other journals declare that M. Deschanel's condition is such as to incapacitate him from discharging the duties of his office for some time to come.

Repeated reports that President Deschanel will resign and another President be elected are printed with expressed regret, with the names of high political figures who might be expected to succeed M. Deschanel.

Several Deputies who visited the President Sunday declared after seeing him that M. Deschanel looked emaciated and tired, but that a few weeks' rest would assure his recovery.

The Temps says today that although President Deschanel will be unable to attend the national celebration he enjoys considerably improved health. The President, according to the newspapers, reads daily documents of state and follows attentively the conference at Spa.

WINS BEAUX ARTS PRIZE.

P. McLaughlin, Jr., a student at Atelier Hirons, this city, yesterday received the annual Paris Prize of the Society of Beaux Arts Architects. The prize amounts to $3,000 for study abroad, and by special arrangement the winner is allowed to enter the most advanced class of the Ecole des Beaux Arts in Paris, a privilege which is denied all Frenchmen.

The designs called for by the conditions of the contest were for the proposed war memorial for the city at the northern end of Manhattan Island, on the wooded knoll between Dyckman Street and Spuyten Duyvil Creek. Five designs were selected for the final competition. Mr. McLaughlin's were placed first in the jury's award, and the four others were rated in the following order: R. S. Simpson, Pittsburgh; E. A. Chapman, San Francisco; E. R. Purves, University of Pennsylvania, and W. F. McCoughey, Jr., University of Illinois.

The drawings were placed on exhibition last night at the Beaux Arts Institute of Design, 126 East Seventy-fifth Street, where they will remain until July 24. The designs have no connection with the official memorial project.

JAPANESE CRUISER COMING.

Kasuga Due Today—Commander to Call on Hylan at City Hall.

The Japanese cruiser Kasuga, which participated in the centennial celebration at Portland, Me., over the Fourth of July, will arrive here this morning and will lay at anchor off Ninety-sixth Street until Tuesday. The cruiser was sent to this country by the Japanese Imperial Government at the invitation of the Maine Centennial Committee, and after the celebration in Portland proceeded to Boston, where it remained five days.

The Japanese Committee of Welcome will meet the cruiser and following the formalities of welcome Captain H. Teraoka, who is in command, will go to City Hall to pay his respects to Mayor Hylan, and later to call upon Rear Admiral Glennon, commander of the Third Naval District, and Rear Admiral John McDonald, commander of the Brooklyn Navy Yard.

A crew of 584, fifteen warrant officers and forty-three officers man the cruiser. She has a displacement of 7,800 tons, is 366 feet long, makes twenty knots an hour and carries one 10-inch gun, two 8-inch, fourteen 6-inch, nine 3-inch and four torpedo tubes. She made a brilliant record in the Russo-Japanese War.

Hall

An air of refinement and good taste is reflected in this simple but beautiful bedstead. Pleasing to the eye by its graceful outlines and at the same time strong and serviceable. Mattress and spring equally good in all the essentials of fine bedding.

FRANK TRUMBULL, RAILWAY HEAD, DIES

Developed a Bankrupt Line, Organized the Colorado & Southern and Sold Its Control to J. J. Hill.

Frank Trumbull, Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad, died on Monday night at his home in Santa Barbara, Cal., of heart disease. Mr. Trumbull was born in Arcadia, Mo., in 1858. His father was a teacher, and, though he came of an old New England family, it was poor, and young Frank had to go to work when only 12 years old in a book store.

His education, however, was not neglected, and for this he was always indebted to his father. He was Deputy Postmaster at Pleasant Hill, Mo., when only 14 years old. Two years later, at 16, he began his railroad career as a clerk in the Controller's office of the Missouri, Kansas & Texas, and for fourteen years he worked his way up, step by step, through the accounting office of the "Katy" and Missouri Pacific, until in 1886 he was made auditor of the Texas & Pacific.

There came a break in his service with the railroads when, in 1888, he went to Colorado and was for five years in the wholesale coal business.

In 1893 he was appointed receiver and General Manager of the Union Pacific, Denver & Gulf. This was the bankrupt branch of the Union Pacific, which Mr. Trumbull developed, extended, connected with the Fort Worth & Denver City and made into the Colorado & Southern. In this work he was associated with Grenville M. Dodge, and later with Edwin Hawley and with the Huntingtons. The road which Mr. Trumbull took charge of had about a thousand miles of line and earned in 1893 $3,500 a mile gross. By 1899 the road had been made an independent property and was organized as the Colorado & Southern. Mr. Trumbull was elected President, with Grenville M. Dodge as Chairman of the board. B. L. Winchell was Vice President and Traffic Manager. Harry Bronner was Secretary and Treasurer, and E. J. Berwind and H. Walters, with whom Mr. Trumbull had been associated in the East, were on the Board of Directors.

At that time the Colorado & Southern had a total mileage of 762 standard-gauge and 380 narrow-gauge miles. In the fiscal year ended June 30, 1900, the total operating revenues amounted to $4,238,000 and operating expenses to $3,133,000. Earnings were at the rate of $3,712 per mile of road. It was not until 1902 that Edwin Hawley became a member of the Board of Directors, but Mr. Hawley and Mr. Trumbull retained their interest in the company until Mr. Trumbull effected the sale of a controlling part of the stock to the late James J. Hill. This sale took place in 1909. The total operating revenues amounted to $14,281,000 and the operating income amounted to $4,635,000. Operating revenues amounted to $7,393 per mile. The company had no floating debt and was paying regular dividends on its first and second preferred stock.

In 1908, when the Colorado & Southern sale was carried out, Mr. Trumbull was 50, and his inclination probably was to retire. He had had many years of exceedingly hard work and a great deal of illness. It was just prior to this time that the Pennsylvania Railroad had divested itself of its interest in the stock of the Chesapeake & Ohio, and this stock was being held by the banking firm of Kuhn, Loeb & Co. Mr. Trumbull was persuaded by his associates to join them in the purchase of this stock and to become Chairman of the Board of Directors of the company. A controlling interest in the Hocking Valley was for sale, and Mr. Trumbull bought this for the Chesapeake & Ohio. About the same time Edwin Hawley put through negotiations for the purchase by the Chesapeake & Ohio of the line from Cincinnati to Chicago which is now known as the Chicago line of the Chesapeake & Ohio.

Mr. Trumbull also was largely instrumental in the formation of the Railway Executives' Association, and he was its first Chairman. He was married on June 8, 1881, to Miss Cora Hale, who died in December, 1889. His second wife was Miss Mary A. Sisson of Sisson, Ill., whom he married in 1891.

BORROWS AS "McMANUS."

George McManus, the cartoonist, has complained to Police Inspector John Cray that an imposter who introduces himself as "McManus, the cartoonist," has been borrowing money under false pretenses.

Mr. McManus said hardly a day goes by that he does not receive a letter or a personal visit from some one who asks for the return of money loaned to a man representing himself as the cartoonist.

Benjamin Lincoln Benedict.

Benjamin Lincoln Benedict, a former Federal Court Clerk, died at his home in Burlington, Vt., on Sunday, in his eighty-fifth year. Mr. Benedict was one of the few surviving Federal officers who were active during the last generation. He was appointed Clerk of the United States District Court for the Eastern District of New York in Brooklyn in 1874, and held that position until 1897, when he was appointed Clerk of the United States Circuit Court. When that court was abolished in 1911 and its jurisdiction given to the District Court Mr. Benedict retired and went to his home town in Vermont. He was the brother of Federal Judge Charles L. Benedict of this district and of Robert D. Benedict, a noted admiralty lawyer.

James C. Peasley.

CHICAGO, Ill., July 13.—James C. Peasley, 80 years old, former Vice President and Treasurer of the Burlington Railroad, died here today. Mr. Peasley retired from the road eighteen years ago because of failing eyesight. He came to the road in 1881 from Burlington, Iowa, where he had been President of the National State Bank. He is survived by his widow and two daughters, Mrs. F. A. Delano, Washington, D. C., wife of the former President of the Wabash Railroad, and Mrs. E. W. Burling of Chicago. Mr. Peasley was one of the best known railroad men in the United States.

ELIAS W. TOMPKINS, for forty-seven years with the banking house of Brown Brothers & Co., in Manhattan, died on Saturday at his home, 262 Gates Avenue, Brooklyn. He had lived in Brooklyn most of his lifetime and was a member of the Society of Old Brooklynites.

How Much is a Million?

Instead it represents only one penny for each inhabitant of our country.

Swift & Company last year had an output of 5,500,000,000 pounds. A profit of one cent per pound would have resulted in $55,000,000.

The actual net profit was $14,000,000 or one-fourth of what we would have made had the profit been at the rate of 1 cent a pound.

An average profit of only a fraction of a cent per pound indicates a highly competitive condition in the industry and also proves our assertion that packer profits have practically no effect on prices.

COURT HOLDS THREE POLICE FOR PERJURY

BAIL IS PLACED AT $1,000

"We Are Innocent. It's a Case of Hard Luck," Says Sleuth After Prisoner Tells of Beating.

Detectives Harry McArdle and James Mohan and Policeman Mortimer Sullivan were ordered under arrest and held under $1,000 bail on charges of perjury yesterday after they had testified before Magistrate Joseph E. Corrigan against Edward Cassidy, manager of the Globe Taxicab Company, whom they arrested Saturday. An additional charge of assault, for which $500 bail was demanded, was lodged against McArdle. William Burns, a Captain of reserves, furnished the bail.

"It is about time perjury by police officers was stopped," said Magistrate Corrigan in ordering the three officers under arrest.

"We all are innocent," McArdle said later. "It's just another case of hard luck."

When the Magistrate first charged the officers with perjury he ordered them held to the Grand Jury. He withdrew this order, however, after he had talked with Captain James McAuley of the West Forty-seventh Street Station.

Cassidy Arrested in Saloon.

Cassidy was arrested by the two detectives on Saturday afternoon on a charge of disorderly conduct. He was locked up in the West Forty-seventh Street Station, and in Night Court asked for an adjournment until yesterday. McArdle testified that he and Mohan, following up a complaint, went into the Palm saloon, at Fifty-third Street and Seventh Avenue. As they entered, he said, they overheard Cassidy say to the bartender:

"Be on your guard, there are a couple of bulls outside."

McArdle told Cassidy to mind his own business and started to leave the place, he testified, when Cassidy struck him from behind.

"I then struck Cassidy in self-defense, my partner came to my assistance and we placed Cassidy under arrest, charging him with disorderly conduct," McArdle added.

Cassidy admitted he was in the saloon, also that McArdle had told him to mind his own business, but he said he was minding his own business when McArdle struck him. He said the detective dragged him outside the saloon and kicked him in the stomach while he was lying on the sidewalk.

Policeman Sullivan came along, Cassidy said, and told the fallen man he would testify to the assault by the detective. Cassidy said he had his injuries treated after he had been released on bail, and produced a physician's certificate to show he had suffered lacerations of the head and face and that he was sober. Several witnesses corroborated Cassidy's story.

Policeman Sullivan denied he had told Cassidy he would testify in his behalf. Magistrate Corrigan interrupted the denial.

Perjury, Declares Magistrate.

"You three officers are guilty of perjury," he said, "but if you will tell the truth I will give you another chance."

McArdle, Mohan and Sullivan at once protested that they were telling the truth. They knew the penalty of the crime of perjury, one of the policemen remarked.

Magistrate Corrigan then ordered a detective to place the three under arrest. Then he turned to Sullivan and said:

"I call you a fool to perjure yourself in the way you have. You are a young cop and don't know any better. But as far as the other two are concerned I have no sympathy for them. The trouble with you police officers is that you will swear a citizen into jail and he can't swear himself out."

Then he sent for the prisoners' superior officers.

Commenting on the case after the adjournment of court, Magistrate Corrigan said:

"It was not the assault upon Cassidy that was the serious thing. It was the perjury. The assault was simply rough work on the part of the police. Some policemen think that because they are policemen they are privileged to treat citizens as they please. If it had been a court of record I would have had the power to commit the men immediately, and I'm not so sure that I did not have this power. The evidence convinced me that it was my duty to order the men arrested on the perjury charges."

McArdle and Mohan are attached to the staff of Inspector William S. Boettler of the Fourth District, both having served in the Police Department ten years.

A policeman who brought a bruised prisoner into court, and who sat through the arraignment of the officers, sought an adjournment of his case. He had some witnesses to get, he said, asking adjournment until Monday, when another Magistrate would occupy the bench. He was told to get the witnesses and return before Magistrate Corrigan on Friday.

USED BROTHER AS BLIND.

Gaston B. Means Testifies Resemblance Fooled Secret Service Men.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, July 13.—Objection to the extensive cross-examination of Gaston B. Means, witness in the hearing before Judge Baldwin of the Circuit Court to decide the validity of an alleged second will of James C. King, was made today on the ground that he was being examined regarding the Robinson trust fund which had been covered previously. The objection was overruled.

The activities of Afton Means, a brother of the witness, Mrs. Marie Deutsch Means, the former's wife, and Henry Deutsch, her father, were recounted by Gaston Means in answers to questions.

"I employed my brother while I was working for the Germans because of his striking resemblance to me," said Means. "Because of the resemblance I could fool the British and the sleuths of Mr. Bielaski in the Department of Justice."

MUSIC NOTES.

Hipolito Lazaro at the Stadium tonight will sing the tenor airs, "O Paradiso," from Meyerbeer's "L'Africaine," and "Che Gelida Manina," from Puccini's "Boheme." Walter Rothwell will conduct Beethoven's fifth symphony, the overtures to Mozart's "Marriage of Figaro" and Wagner's "Tannhauser," and Strauss's "Artist's Life" waltz.

Goldman's Band has a French program in honor of Bastile Day at the Columbia Campus this evening, including with the "Star-Spangled Banner" both the "Sambre et Meuse" and "Marseillaise," and works of Offenbach and Planquette. Bizet and Massenet. Frieda Klink will sing Saint-Saen's air from "Samson et Delila."

Bruno Huhn will give a performance of Dina Lehmann's song cycle, "In a Persian Garden," next Tuesday afternoon at the home of Janies Lawrence Breese in Southampton, L. I. The singers are Martha Atwood, Mabel Ritch, Judson House and Francis Rogers.

Theodore Kosloff, the Russian dancer, is "doubling" this week, appearing—in pictures, that is—as an artist in "The Prince Chap" at the Rivoli and as a starving musician in "The City of Masks," at the Rialto.

WM. MENGELBERG COMING.

To Appear Next Season as Guest Conductor of National Symphony.

S. Bottenheim, of Amsterdam, personal representative of the famous concert conductor, William Mengelberg, arrived yesterday from Holland on the liner Rotterdam to make arrangements for the appearance here next season of Mr. Mengelberg as guest conductor of the National Symphony Orchestra. He will arrive about January 1 to relieve Artur Bodanzky, the regular director of the orchestra.

Mr. Bottenheim said that Dr. Karl Muck, once conductor of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, would take Mr. Mengelberg's place as head of the Concertgebouw Orchestra in Amsterdam during the latter's absence in the United States.

FRAZEE GETS THE HARRIS.

Theatre Is to be Called Frazee and Is to Open Early in August.

The Harris Theatre on Forty-second Street, between Seventh and Eighth Avenues, has been acquired by H. H. Frazee, the theatrical manager and owner of the Boston American League Baseball Club, and who produced "My Lady Friends" at the Comedy Theatre last season. The name of the house will be changed to the Frazee Theatre, and it will be redecorated and renovated.

The opening attraction to appear at the theatre has not yet been decided upon, but it was announced from Mr. Frazee's offices that the playhouse would open early in August. Mr. Frazee formerly was the owner of the Longacre Theatre on Forty-eighth Street.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

Brock Pemberton has made arrangements with the Theatre Guild for the use of the Garrick Theatre from the middle of August until September and on Aug. 16 will present "Enter, Madame," with Gilda Varesi. If the play is successful it will be transferred to another theatre before the guild begins its new season with G. B. Shaw's "Heartbreak House" in October.

Saturday's matinee at the Gaiety Theatre will be the eighth hundredth performance of Frank Bacon in "Lightnin'."

Mabel Withee, the youthful prima donna who played in "Sinbad," will be with the "Rose Girl," Anselm Goetzl's new musical comedy, this Fall.

"The Lazy Lady," a new comedy by David Wallace, was presented in Buffalo last night by Jessie Bonstelle and her company. The comedy is to be produced in New York by William A. Brady.

BEECHAM GRAND OPERA MAY BE GIVEN HERE

Mrs. Hammerstein Is Negotiating with Sir Thomas for a Season of 8 Weeks at Manhattan.

Sir Thomas Beecham has been invited to consider coming to America next Fall to give a season of eight weeks of grand opera at the Manhattan Opera House. The negotiations provide that he shall bring his own organization, possibly combining the British touring company which "carried on" through the war and some of the international troupe now at Covent Garden, of which he is also a conductor. The early Summer is the height of London's season, just as the Winter is of New York's.

Mrs. Oscar Hammerstein, proprietor of the Manhattan, announced last night that, while the actual dates for the Beecham visit are not as yet definitely settled, Sir Thomas has submitted his company's repertory, and it is in the main satisfactory to those who would co-operate on this side. She said also that it had been Oscar Hammerstein's wish to found a permanent English opera in New York, and that she hoped the present plan would enlist all persons here having an interest in fostering this form of art on the same large scale.

She will set aside eight weeks for this purpose, between the San Carlo and Chicago opera seasons at the Manhattan, and expects soon to complete the tentative arrangements. It is her desire, she said, to have this company give a repertory consisting of Wagner's "Ring" cycle, as well as "Lohengrin" and "Parsifal," all in English; to give preference to English-speaking singers and to put prices on a popular scale, with $3 a seat as the maximum. She has arranged meanwhile to complete at a cost of $100,000 the roof theatre of the Manhattan, as originally planned, by Mr. Hammerstein.

Turks More Inclined to Peace.

PARIS, July 13.—The victories of the Greeks, their occupation of Brussa and the demoralization of the Turkish Nationalists have caused a great reaction in Turkish circles, which now show an inclination to accept and sign the Peace Treaty, according to dispatches from Constantinople today.

You Cannot Judge the Ampico
By Looking at it—
You Must Hear It

UNTIL you have heard the Ampico, nothing we can say will convince you how truly marvelous is this instrument that reproduces the art of the great pianists.

You will see only the beautiful Knabe piano, with its rich simplicity of case design and perfection of line—but what a flood of golden melody comes forth from its case! Invisible fingers sweep the keys. Godowsky is playing a Chopin Etude, and the sparkling tide of melody is reproduced by the Ampico just as vividly as if the artist himself were seated at the keyboard.

IN TURN we hear Ornstein, Levitzki, Moiseiwitsch—the great Russian composer-pianist Sergei Rachmaninoff, plays his own C# Minor Prelude. It is delightful and wonderful beyond description—hearing the playing of the famous pianists who have selected the Ampico as the exclusive means of perpetuating their genius.

Then we turn to lighter music and choose from the playing of a hundred talented artists. Gems from Grand Opera, charming Salon classics, snappy dance music, favorite home songs and hymns—all await your hearing. The Ampico brings the supreme pleasure of music to your home.

The AMPICO

It is this wonderful instrument that we invite you to hear. For hearing the Ampico will convince you that such music, heard in the quiet of your own home, will mean more to you than any music you ever heard before. Quiet, restful Studios have been provided, so that you may enjoy an impromptu recital of all the music you love best. Call at any time that suits your convenience. The Ampico awaits your pleasure.

PITCHES 7 TO 2 VICTORY

Baseball enthusiasm soared to undreamed-of heights at the Polo Grounds yesterday, when a record gathering of 38,823 spectators stormed the Brush Stadium to see the Yanks and the St. Louis Browns share alike in an ordinary weekday double-header. On Saturdays, holidays and Sundays big crowds have jammed the Polo Grounds this season, but yesterday thousands were turned away. This collection of fans surpassed that which saw the Yanks and Clevelands play here some weeks ago. At that game there were 38,688 fans by the official count.

The fighting aggressiveness of the Yanks in the pennant hunt and the anticipation of Babe Ruth's smashing his last year's home run record, together with the fact that it was a bargain day bill, were responsible for the outpouring of baseball bugs. Thousands of transients who are in the city were there to see Ruth. They came from as far as Kokomo and as near as the Bronx.

Once more the former Yank flinger, Urban Shocker, came back to worry his old clubmates with his tantalizing spit ball, which was never working with more oily smoothness. Mainly through Shocker's fine pitching the Browns took the first game, 6 to 4. Then the Yanks hit their stride in the second game and trimmed the Browns, 7 to 2.

Babe Ruth, with twenty-seven home runs to his credit, was the centre of attraction, and George Sisler, the kid first baseman of the Browns, with his fat batting average of .416 was watched almost as eagerly. It was rather a sad day for both superlative batsmen. Ruth, crowding close to his last year's record of twenty-nine home runs, seemed overanxious, and he brought moans of disappointment from the fans when he struck out five times during the two games and did not hit a single home run.

Wellman Stops the Babe.

After Shocker had fanned Babe three times in the first game, Ruth slapped a single to left, which gave him a string of twenty-six straight games in which he has hit safely. Then Carl Wellman suddenly halted Ruth's hitting spree in the second game and the Blunderbuss didn't get a hit.

Ruth was far more disappointed than any of the fans. When Wellman struck him out in the fourth inning of the second game, Babe gave a perfect imitation of an infuriated golf player and, when he went back to the bench, he smashed his bat on the concrete steps of the Yankee dugout. "I'll never strike out with that bat again," said the home run king.

Shocker was at the peak of his pitching form in the first game. He struck out fourteen of the Yank batsmen and the slippery ball never cut such frivolous capers at Shocker's command before. The ball jumped away from the Yankee bats like a grasshopper and Shocker controlled it admirably. Rip Collins started for the Yanks, but two St. Louis runs, executed by Gerber and Severeid, upset the Texas marksman and he was gently lifted from the fray in the seventh inning, after the Browns had carved six runs out of his pitching. Thormahlen finished the game.

George Mogridge got back into the game, after a long lay off with a twisted ankle, and, after a wobbly first inning, came through in great shape. The Yanks gathered their hitting power together in the seventh and eighth innings, rushed up from behind and smothered Wellman's pitching.

The crowd started to pour into the park early and once inside the men peeled off their coats and hats and forgot about the heat. A squad of police was on Eighth Avenue to keep the crowd in order and when the sale of tickets for the grand stand was stopped the fans braved the hot sun and jammed into the bleachers until the vacant seats were few and far between.

Tobin Opens on Collins.

Tobin opened on Collins in the first game and Gedeon walked. Sisler rapped a liner to centre. Bodie rushed in to make a great grab and Tobin was doubled at second. Gedeon died stealing. The real damage on Collins started in the fourth. Jacobson singled and Williams sent him along with a sacrifice. After Smith had lined to Ruth, Gerber whacked a home run between centre and right and sent Jacobson home ahead of him.

Shocker was hit in the fifth, and Tobin lined to Ruth. Gedeon singled to left, and both runners went along on a wild pitch. After Sisler had flied to Bodie, Jacobson singled to left and sent Shocker and Gedeon home. With two out in the sixth, Severeid planted a home run into the left field bleachers. Tobin opened the seventh with a double. Gedeon laid down a bunt and Collins fielded the ball to third, but missed his man.

Thormahlen then took Collins's place and Sisler grounded to Pipp. Jacobson walked and jammed the corners. Williams rolled to Pipp, who had a play at the plate, but got Williams out at first instead, Tobin scoring.

The Yanks came to life in their half of the seventh. After Gedeon had thrown Pipp out at first and Ruth had whiffed, Meusel singled to centre and Bodie pasted a single to left. Pratt soaked a hit to left and sent both runners over the plate. After Peck, in the rôle of pinch hitter, had fanned in the eighth, Ward doubled and scored on Vick's double. Jacobson made a great running catch of Pipp's long smash to centre, and Ruth cut a seething single between first and second and Vick scored.

Trouble for Mogridge.

The Yanks tied the score in the third on a double by Ruel, a sacrifice by Mogridge and Ward's sacrifice fly. The Browns went to the front in the fourth. There was one out when Williams shot a Texas Leaguer to left. After Mogridge had tossed out Smith, Gerber singled to right, sending Williams over.

It wasn't until Ruth had walked in the seventh that the Yanks looked natural. Meusel singled to left and Babe scooted to third, Bob taking second on the throw to third. Bodie walked and filled the bases. Pratt's sacrifice fly scored Ruth, and when Ruel skied to Tobin Johnny made a wild toss home and Meusel counted on the error.

GIANTS RALLY AND RETRIEVE ERRORS

Special to The New York Times.

ST. LOUIS, July 13.—The Giants won from the Cardinals, 6 to 4, in twelve wearisome and worrisome innings today. The New Yorkers should have won 4-0 in the regulation number of innings, but a mistake on a ground ball by Bancroft in the eighth let the Cardinals score two runs and tie the score, 4-4.

Errors gave the St. Louisans three of the four runs they scored. The Giants had to make their runs with their bats. In the twelfth inning, with Kelly on third and King on second and two out, Spencer hit to Lavan. Umpire Quigley said that the runner beat the throw to first. The crowd dissented. Kelly and King scored on the play, though the ball was handled cleanly. King's game finish was applauded by the crowd.

As is usual in such games, each team made many good and many bad plays. The Giants made more bad fielding plays than the Cardinals, but did better work with the bat and on the bases. All four bases stolen in the game went to McGraw's men. Bancroft's error in the eighth was costly, for Hornsby followed it with a tremendous triple to right centre, which scored Smith and Stock with the runs that tied. Young misjudged Smith's fly in the sixth, which gave St. Louis its first run. On the other hand, Burns made a regal catch of Hornsby's terrific liner in the fourth and saved the Giants a lot of trouble.

Circus Stuff by Burns.

Georgie had to run in on the low hard-hit ball. He snatched it off the grass with his left hand, threw several somersaults and came up with the ball. It was a really great catch. Frisch made a notable double play in the ninth. Janvrin, running for Clemons, was on second. Heathcote hit hard to Frisch, who made a fine pickup and touched Janvrin near second. By that time Heathcote was sliding into the base. Frisch dived at the runner, hit him on the neck and completed the play. Great speed was necessary to achieve this remarkable feat.

Barnes was the better pitcher in the early part of the game. Schupp was wild and was hit when hits meant runs. Sherdel proved troublesome to the Giants. Barnes was well worn at the finish, but hung on gamely.

Both teams made and threw away many chances to score. The Giants' first run was scored in the third. Snyder walked. Barnes beat out a bunt. Clemons's throw to first was wild and Snyder went to third. Francis scored when Lavan and Fournier doubled up Barnes and Burns.

Three for the Giants in the fourth. Frisch singled and stole second. Kelly singled to left, scoring Frisch. Doyle sent a long fly to centre, Kelly taking third. King reached second on an attempted double steal, Kelly returning safely to third when Clemons made a bad throw. Snyder waited for a good one and then hit it properly to the left field fence for two bases. That scored Kelly and King and put the Giants in the lead, 4 to 0.

Young's Error Hurts.

The Cardinals did not score until the sixth. Then Young misjudged Smith's pop fly for two bases. Stock singled, scoring Smith. A double by McHenry and a single by Heathcote gave the Cardinals a run in the seventh. In the eighth a single put Smith on base. Fournier was an easy out. Stock hit a sharp roller to Bancroft, who missed the play. Hornsby sent a huge triple to right centre, scoring both runners for a 4 to 4 tie.

The break came in the twelfth. Frisch had gone when Sherdel hit Kelly. King singled to right. Doyle hit to Sherdel, both runners advancing on the out at first. Spencer rolled to Lavan for what looked like the third out. Quigley declared the runner safe at first. Meanwhile Kelly and King had scored, the latter by brilliant base running. The crowd booed Quigley, but the Giants had won.

Cardinals Buy Texas Pitcher.

LOCKHART, Texas, July 13.—Pitcher Reverre of the Bay City, Texas, Baseball Club has been signed by the St. Louis Nationals, it was announced today. He will report at the Cardinal training camp next Spring. Reverre is from Liberty, Texas. Three thousand dollars was paid for him.

Curves and Bingles

The Yankees have two good reasons now for building a new baseball park. One is, the Giants want them to go and the other is, the Polo Grounds isn't big enough.

Sisler, the leading batsman of baseball, hadn't made a hit in eleven trips to the plate until he singled in the second game yesterday.

The first three times that Shocker fanned Ruth, Babe didn't even make a foul. But when Ruth fanned he fans right and takes a healthy swipe at the ball anyway.

Baby Doll Jacobson did some of the fanciest fielding in centre field that Polo Grounders have seen since the last visit of Tris Speaker.

Duffy Lewis who has been out of the game for more than a month, went into the first game as a pinch hitter and reached first on Gerber's error.

Urban Shocker has learned a lot about pitching since he left New York. He never showed anything here like the rippling twists that shot out of his hand yesterday.

One peek around the Polo Grounds gave the impression that nearly everybody in town was on a vacation.

The crowds in the centre field bleachers are no longer made up of boys. The law of supply and demand have driven many men who used to sit in box seats out into the sun benches.

CHAPMAN'S HOMER WINS FOR INDIANS

Only Hit Off Rommel in 8 2-3 Innings Results in Defeat of Mackmen, 4 to 3.

PHILADELPHIA, July 13—Chapman's home run in the sixth inning, the only hit off Rommel in the 8 2-3 innings he pitched, won the opening game of the series for Cleveland today 4 to 3. Keefe was batted out of the box with one out in the first and the only man to reach first on Rommel was Chapman, who drew a base on balls in addition to his home run.

NEW RIG IS TRIED BY THE SHAMROCK

CREW IN IMPRESSIVE WORK

Any one who has watched Shamrock IV. during her past practice spins and saw her yesterday or any one who has noted the absence of many yachts from the anchorage off the Columbia Yacht Club, so far this season, and who observed the large number off there last night as well as the many craft that have gathered inside Sandy Hook would realize that some important and unusual event was about to occur.

The challenger's crew showed what it was made of yesterday, and the trim green sloop never showed better speed since she has been in American waters. The great gathering of steam and power yachts is but the advance guard of the many more that will be out beyond the Hook tomorrow for the first of the series of races for the America's Cup.

Shamrock IV. had a most successful trial yesterday, which lasted for about three hours, with a south-southeasterly breeze of fourteen to fifteen miles and a comparatively smooth sea as well as perfect weather to make conditions ideal. Resolute arrived at her anchorage at about 7 o'clock in tow of the tug John Dougherty, after having been hauled out and polished up at a Staten Island yard. She is to be given further trials today. As she passed Sailors' Snug Harbor she was accorded a hearty greeting by the old tars who are ending their days there.

As well as being an ideal day for a trial it was a day of surprises in the way of innovations in sails, for a new rig was run up on the challenger and appeared to accomplish its purpose to the entire satisfaction of Mr. Nicholson, the designer, as well as to that of Mr. Burton, who is to sail the Shamrock IV. in the big contest. The new-fangled idea in the sail line consisted of a streamline effect attached to the luff of the mainsail which does away with air pockets or vacuums. It is a separate canvas which goes completely around the mast and then laces to the mainsail. Those who saw the new rig set up wondered at first, and then, as the sloop got under way, they marvelled.

New Topsail Is Tried.

A new topsail was tried out as well as the stream line to the mainsail, and the inventive designer of the challenger promises more surprises today. At the conclusion of the trial Mr. Burton, who was in fine spirits, said he was more than pleased with the showing the green mystery yacht made as well as the way her crew performed.

Every man in the crew of the challenger has had years of experience sailing aboard yachts, and in the trial yesterday they showed that team work might be depended upon despite the fact that they have had comparatively little work together this season.

The crew of the challenger showed unexpected nimbleness during the trial, which corresponded with the alacrity of the challenger, for once she was outside the Hook she simply romped away from the steam yacht Victoria, aboard which Sir Thomas Lipton and a party of friends, including A. C. Saxton, one of the foremost Corinthians of Sydney, N. S. W., who, with several others from the Antipodes, are in this country and will see the America's Cup races. Sir Thomas received well-wishing cablegrams from the Ponsonby Cruising Club of Auckland, N. Z., and the Royal New Zealand Yacht Squadron yesterday.

Mr. Burton announced that Shamrock IV. would not be hauled out before the races, as he considered her hull clean enough to enable her to show her best speed, and that the crew of the challenger shares the confidence of the skipper as best demonstrated by the fact that it has collected several hundreds of dollars and is taking all bets offered by the men of the Resolute's crew and others at prevailing odds, of course.

Guests on Corsair.

Sir Thomas Lipton and the afterguard of the Shamrock IV. were guests of Commodore J. P. Morgan, aboard the flagship Corsair, at anchor off the Columbia Yacht Club last night. Officials of the New York Yacht Club, who are to take an active part in the conduct of the America's Cup races, also were present and all points having to do with the big international contests were discussed.

During the day many yachts made their appearance off the Columbia Yacht Club, several of them being from other ports than New York. They are gathering for the races off the Hook and many more expected to arrive today, all with parties aboard. Among those already there were the steam yacht Corsair, belonging to Commodore Morgan; the steam yacht Victoria, under charter to Sir Thomas Lipton; the steam yacht Caslena, Ilsgahig of the Atlantic Yacht Club and the property of Commodore Edward L. Doheny; the steam yacht Tech, General T. Coleman du Pont; the Sispot, the Saelmo, the Kalimo, the Sebola III., the Jane III., the Mirage, the Onaway, the Elcomo, the Donelda, L'Allegro, the Wacouta and the Home Run.

The destroyers which are to serve as press boats and for other purposes, in connection with the cup races, also were at anchor off the Columbia Yacht Club last night.

NEW RULES FOR AIRCRAFT.

For the first time in the history of America's Cup races, which have been going on since 1851, when the schooner America won the precious bauble in a race around the Isle of Wight, it is necessary to inaugurate rules to control aircraft as well as vessels that travel on the water, and it is expected that a considerable sized fleet of aircraft will be out for the contests off Sandy Hook.

At no time shall aircraft approach in such a manner as to pass directly over the yachts either from ahead or from astern or from either side.

At no time shall aircraft be ahead or to windward (i. e., between the yachts and the direction from which the wind is coming) of the contesting yachts.

Aircraft shall fly at all times in such a manner as to prevent the blast of the propeller from blowing toward either of the contesting yachts.

In making the turns aircraft shall be at a distance of at least two miles (i. e., 12 minutes) from the yachts, and turns shall be made in such a manner as to prevent any chance of the propeller blast blowing in the direction of the yachts either ahead or astern.

Aircraft in passing the contesting yachts shall fly on parallel course with the yachts and at a distance of at least 1,000 feet from them.

No aircraft shall pass between the yachts at any time.

In case a forced landing is necessary, aircraft shall make their landings astern (back) of the contesting yachts, and if possible shall glide to a position close to one of the patrolling torpedo boats.

As the yachts are sailing on time allowance, the greatest care should be taken to prevent disturbing the second yacht after the first one has finished.

The above rules were drawn up for the guidance and observance of pilots of naval aircraft, and will be observed by them if any flights are made by aircraft of the Navy Department. It is expected that any or all other aircraft, in a spirit of good sportsmanship, will follow out the same instructions in order that there can be no possibility of interfering in any manner with the contesting yachts.

Favorable Winds Prophesied For Day of the Yacht Race

According to the Government's local weather forecaster it will be cooler and there will be showers on Thursday, when the America's Cup races are scheduled to start off Sandy Hook. As regards driving power for the yachts moderate south to southwesterly breezes, becoming variable, are prophesied, and the two racing craft should have no difficulty in covering the thirty-mile windward and leeward course in less time than the limit allowed. South to southwesterly breezes would give the challenger and defender a course down along the New Jersey Coast to off Asbury Park, and return.

MIZPAH WINS RACE OF THIRTY-FOOTERS

It is a pity that more yachts are not at Sea Gate for the race week that the Atlantic Yacht Club arranged in honor of the Corinthians who have gone down the bay for the America's Cup contests. Series races started yesterday, and although only seventeen yachts were started by the Race Committee, made up of Chairman Carlos de Zafra and I. L. Beebe, Jr., they had some of the best races of the Summer season.

The thirty-footers of the New York Yacht Club were the largest boats to race. They were sent over a course that gave them a beat from the starting line down the channel to Ambrose Channel, Buoy 13, a spinnaker run to Fort Hamilton, followed by a reach to Bensonhurst and another reach home. Four yachts made up the division. After as pretty a scrap as one would care to see Dr. Richardson's Mizpah won.

Five of the Victory Class sailed in the first race for the new Lipton Cup. They also went around the long outside course and found it rather hard going outside the Point. As a result they were all late in finishing. The winner of the division was R. Martin's Alerta.

R. Beebe's Fantasie fouled the Norwegian boat Pingvin and each yacht withdrew, spoiling the race in the second division of the handicap class. E. T. Supper's Mouse again won in the knockabout class. Although she carried considerable less sail, Scud put up a game fight against Saturn in the Star Class, but lost on actual time. On both actual and corrected time Sea Cob won in the third division of the handicap class. The second race of the series will be sailed today.

MAY BRING DEMPSEY HERE.

Tex Rickard, Western boxing promoter, who has secured a ten years' lease of Madison Square Garden, began yesterday on the work connected with his new business enterprise. The proprietor of the famous amphitheatre was busy investigating conditions at the Garden with the view of installing his offices and looking over a list of prospective assistants in the task of arranging the different affairs he has in view. Promoter Rickard refused to divulge the annual rental he has contracted to pay the New York Life Insurance Company, but from unofficial sources it was learned the price was in the neighborhood of $200,000 a year.

In the interim up to the time he takes actual possession of the Garden it is probable that Promoter Rickard will arrange a complete set of bouts with which to inaugurate his career as lessee. One of the bouts in prospect for this occasion is a clash between Jack Dempsey, the world's heavyweight champion, and K. O. Bill Brennan of Chicago, who felt the terrific Dempsey punch three years ago. The Chicagoan, who was knocked out in the seventh round, has been campaigning for a return bout. Articles for another engagement between the pair are expected to be signed soon, and it is likely that when the contracts have been signed by the representatives of both boxers, Rickard will submit a bid for the match.

While Rickard has declared his intention of personally attending to the duties of matchmaker for the bouts to be held in the Garden, it is probable he will engage assistants. Promoter Rickard could not be located last night to confirm or deny the reports, but in view of the extensive duties he will have to discharge as sole director of the enterprise, it is possible the Western promoter will seek the services of one or two capable assistants. Ike Dorgan, who was associated with the recent tour of Georges Carpentier, is regarded as likely to secure a berth on the staff of Promoter Rickard when the new lease begins.

BURKE HERE FOR BOUT.

Arrives to Complete Training for Twelve-Rounds Against Tunney.

Marty Burke, New Orleans heavyweight, who has attracted attention through his victories over Willie Meehan, Al Reich and Ole Anderson, has arrived in this city to complete training for his twelve-round bout against Gene Tunney, Greenwich Village heavyweight, which will be held at the Armory A. A., Jersey City, Monday night. Tunney is training at a local gymnasium and is reported in excellent condition.

An eight-round match, to serve as a semi-final attraction, was yesterday arranged by Promoter John Jennings. The principals in this contest will be Frank Carbone of the West Side and Knockout Jaffe of Harlem.

The first of a series of mid-week shows will be held at the Jersey City outdoor arena tomorrow night. A card of one twelve, one ten and two six-round bouts will be conducted. The stellar attraction will bring together Jimmy Sullivan of Hoboken and Georgie Ward of Elizabeth. Freddie Reese and Bobby Michaels will clash in the ten-round bout and in the six-round events the combatants will be Joey Leon and Jimmy Carter and Kid McCoy against Young Jimmy Ross.

BOXERS WIN PLACES ON OLYMPIC TEAM

Edward P. Eagan of Yale, intercollegiate and Inter-Allied light-heavyweight boxing champion, and Policeman Bill Spengler of the New York Police Club, metropolitan heavyweight title-holder, last night battled their way to positions on America's Olympic boxing team in the continuation of the final Olympic try-out boxing tournament at the Sixty-ninth Regiment Armory. These two sturdy boxers were the victors in the only final bouts of the night and performed in a manner which attracted continuous applause from a sweltering crowd of 6,000 spectators.

Eagan, a compactly built son of Denver, earned his place on the team through the medium of a three-round judges' decision over Sergeant Ted Schneider of Camp Kearny. The wearer of the Eli blue, showing an improvement over his boxing of the previous night, scored in clean-cut fashion. Though boxing under disadvantages in height and reach, Eagan, with a cool, well calculated attack, scored points consistently through the three rounds.

In the first round Sergeant Schneider was a dangerous foe. The soldier boxer lashed out with wicked rights and lefts which just grazed Eagan's face. A stiff right caught the Yale student on his injured left eye and started a trickle of claret from a cut which was opened in the boxing of Monday night. A jolting left hook brought Eagan up short near the end of the opening round and started a stream of blood from the Denver lad's nose.

Eagan Cuts Loose.

Through the second round, however, Eagan worked steadily and effectively with stiff blows to his rival's mid-section and before the round had gone a minute Sergeant Schneider was on the defensive. Eagan never relented in his attack and gave no quarter to his opponent. The Yale boxer crowded Schneider all over the ring, hammering away with both hands, and, while many of his blows were wild, enough landed to make Schneider more than ever cautious. The same was true of the third round, in which Eagan continued on the aggressive and forced the milling without letup, while his adversary tried vainly to stem the rushing tide of blows.

Spengler, the oldest competitor in the tournament, showed noteworthy return to the form that six years ago won him the international title when he outpointed Lieutenant Stewart. The army officer, towering, strapping athlete, proved a difficult opponent for the policeman champion. Stewart rushed repeatedly, albeit wildly, throughout the bout and landed with some heavy swings to Spengler's face and stomach. The policeman boxer, puzzled in the face of his opponent's withering barrage of blows, finally solved his attack and, with clever use of a left-hand jab, together with a stinging right cross, accumulated a clear margin on points.

Spengler several times in the second and third rounds landed hard on his rival's jaw with a right swing, but Stewart showed remarkable endurance and assimilated the blows without any trace of weariness and at the final bell was eagerly mixing it with Spengler. The latter received the judges' award.

Sam Mosberg of the Pastime A. C., local champion, and Frank Cassidy, Ozanam A. A., international title-holder, advanced to the semi-final round in the 135-pound division. Mosberg gained the judges' award over Bob Dinimore, East Boston, Mass., in a sizzling three-round session, while Cassidy, with his hefty, free-arm swinging, overcame the cleverness of George Brown, Meadowbrook Club, Philadelphia, and gained the judges' decision at the expiration of three interesting rounds.

Di Gennaro a Winner.

A. J. De Vito, national and local flyweight champion, was another graduate of the second trials. De Vito, fighting under his real name, Frank Di Gennaro, engaged Henry Ford of Boston at 112-pounds, in a stiff three-round struggle, which ended with the Paulist A. C. boxer the recipient of the judges' verdict.

Peter Zivic and Jack Zivic of the Willow A. C., Pittsburgh, competing in different classes, emerged victorious. Peter defeated Bill Salvesky of Cleveland in the 112-pound class and Jack triumphed over Cliff Bent, Meadowbrook Club, Philadelphia, in the 126-pound division.

Because of the unusually large entry and the remarkable interest manifested by the public the officials have decided to hold the finals of the remaining six classes this evening in the 69th Regiment Armory.

The summaries:

BURNS OUTPOINTS SHARKEY

Has the Better of Eight Rounds in Bout in Jersey City.

Frankie Burns of Jersey City had the better of his twelve-round bout with Jack Sharkey of the west side at the Armory A. A. of Jersey City last night. Burns forced the fighting practically all the way and had the lead in eight rounds. Three of the rounds were even, and the only one in which Sharkey showed to especial advantage over his more experienced rival was the last. Burns had tired with all the hard hitting he had been doing by this time, and Sharkey tore in with some damaging blows in the finale.

Burns split the glove on his right hand in the sixth round and both then shifted to six-ounce instead of eight-ounce gloves. Sharkey weighed in for the bout at 125 pounds, showing himself a bit too much inclined to avoirdupois. Burns was scaled at 121.

Bloom Wins Bout on Points.

NEWARK, N. J., July 13.—Phil Bloom of Brooklyn outpointed Mickey Donley of Newark in a twelve-round bout here tonight at the Coliseum open-air club. Bloom was the more aggressive and hit the harder blows. In a second twelve-round bout Johnny Summers of New York outpointed Sailor Joe Dundee of the U. S. S. Tennessee.

Shocker Only Two Strike-Outs Under American League Mark

When Urban Shocker registered fourteen strike-outs against the Yankees at the Polo Grounds yesterday he performed a feat that has occurred but seldom in either major league. Shocker came within two strike-outs of the American League record, established by the late Rube Waddell in a game against the Mackmen in 1908. Waddell, when he made his record, was pitching against the team that had let him go, just as Shocker was doing yesterday. Rube was with the Browns when he set down sixteen on strikes. A few years ago Jim Shaw fanned fourteen Yanks in a game at the Polo Grounds. The National League record for strike-outs in a nine-inning game is nineteen, set by Charles Radbourne back in 1884.

PENDLETON VICTOR IN WRESTLING BOUT

Nat Pendleton, the national A. A. U. heavyweight champion and a former intercollegiate titleholder when he captained the Columbia University team four years ago, last night won a trip to Europe. In the final of the heavyweight division of the Olympic tryouts at the 22d Regiment Armory, Pendleton threw Private F. W. Ray of the army, stationed at Camp Lewis, Wash., in 1:32.

Pendleton had the easiest victory of any of the sixty contestants, and in the trial round on Monday night he tossed Captain A. M. Weyand, former West Point football star, to the mat in less than four minutes. Both rivals had tremendous advantages over the New Yorker, Weyand in both height and weight and Ray in poundage.

Another local man, P. Berlenbach, also N. Y. A. C. representative, won the final of the 178-pound class. He got the referee's decision in the final over Lieutenant F. W. Maichle, U. S. Navy, after full ten minutes of hot and heavy wrestling.

This decision met with hoots and protests from the Navy rooters. Rivalry ran high between the Navy entrants and civilans on both days, and several mansized fist fights were checked only by calmer spectators. On several occasions the Navy men declared they would protest the decisions.

After the Berlenbach-Maichle bout, charges of professionalism were made by Navy men against Berlenbach, and the coach announced he would carry the protest to the American Olympic Committee.

In the final of the 154-pound class, C. F. Johnson of Quincy, Mass., defeated A. M. Frony, another N. Y. A. C. man, on referee's decision, by the full ten minutes.

George Metropulos, of Gary, Ind., the national A. A. U. champion and the national Y. M. C. A. titleholder, was the winner in the 135-pound class. He won on decision from D. D. Detar of Penn State College in ten minutes.

Despite a fractured bone in his right ankle which he received earlier in the evening, C. Edwin Ackerly, of Cornell University, won in the 125-pound class decision. He went the full ten minutes with Roy B. Garber of the Meadow Brook Club, Philadelphia, before gaining the decision.

In addition to the winners of the finals, who obtained places on the team, a chance was also given each man who in earlier bouts had been defeated by the final winners. This added five more men to the team. The five won their places as follows:

In the 178-pound class, Walter S. Maurer, Hebrew Institute, Chicago, defeated C. N. Strack, Newark Y. M. C. A., in ten minutes, referee's decision; in the heavyweight class, F. J. Meyer, also of the Hebrew Institute of Chicago, threw Private F. W. Ray, Camp Lewis, Wash., in two minutes, being the only one of these five to obtain the decision by a fall; in the 154-pound class, A. M. Franz, N. Y. A. C., defeated D. J. Kilton, Worcester Y. M. C. A., ten minutes, referee's decision; in the 135-pound class, Joe Shimmon, N. Y. A. C., defeated John Vorres, Greek-Olympic A. C., Chicago, ten minutes, referee's decision; in the 12-pound class, S. M. Gerson, University of Pennsylvania, defeated R. B. Garber, Meadowbrook A. C., Philadelphia, ten minutes, referee's decision.

A curious feature of the results of the final tryouts was that none of the army or navy men entered in the tests was able to make the team.

As the brackets were narrowed down to the semi-final stage clean falls became fewer. Most of the bouts went the full limit of ten minutes, to be decided by the referees. Intense excitement reigned, the rivalry was keen between army and navy and between the New York competitors and those from Chicago.

Several of those defeated in early rounds by ultimate winners defaulted their privilege of entering the round robin for second honors in each class. One of these was Captain A. M. Weyand of Camp Funston, Kan., the former West Point football star.

The summaries:

121-Pound Class, Second Round—C. D. Ackerly, Cornell, defeated Valentine Vesen, Western Electric Co., Chicago. Time—8:20. Semi-final—Ackerly defeated S. N. Gerson, University of Pennsylvania, on decision. Time—10 minutes. G. B. Garber, Meadow Brook Club, Philadelphia, defeated C. D. Mackey, Cornell, on decision. Time—10 minutes.

Navy. Time—4:40. F. W. Maichle, U. S. Navy, defeated J. A. Brown, University of Idaho, on decision. Time—10:00. B. S. Warren, Clapp M. A., East Weymouth, Mass., defeated Lieutenant J. R. Redman, U. S. Navy, on decision. Time—10:00.

Heavyweight Class, Semi-final Round—F. W. Ray, U. S. Army, defeated C. Strack, Newark Y. M. C. A., on decision. Time—10:00. Nat Pendleton, N. Y. A. C., defeated F. J. Meyer, Chicago Hebrew Institute, on decision. Time—10:00.

135-Pound Class (semi-final)—Metropulos threw Hart. Time—4:37. Detar defeated Conroy on decision. Time—10 minutes. Final—Metropulos defeated Detar on decision. Time—10 minutes.

154-Pound Class (semi-final)—C. F. Johnson, Quincy, Mass., Swedish Posse, defeated D. G. Kilton, Worcester Y. M. C. A., on decision. Time—10 minutes. A. M. Franz, N. Y. A. C., defeated J. Sachs, Chicago Hebrew Institute, on decision. Time—10 minutes. Final—Johnson defeated Franz on decision. Time—10 minutes.

178-Pound Class, Semi-final—P. Berlenboch, New York A. C., defeated Walter S. Maurer, Chicago Hebrew Institute, on decision. Time—10:00. Lieutenant F. W. Maichle, U. S. Navy, defeated B. S. Warren, Clapp M. A., on decision. Time—10:00. Final—Berlenbach defeated Maichle, on decision. Time—10:00.

Willard Botsford was the outstanding figure in yesterday's tennis at the Woodmere Club, as he has been in several other tournaments of the present season. This well-equipped young played advanced to the fourth round of the open singles by eliminating two worthy opponents, Herbert L. Bowman and Franklin P. Adams. The former gave him the closer battle of the two, and might easily have reversed the decision by taking advantage of a few more of his opportunities.

Bowman is a free hitter with plenty of style to his game, and when all his strokes are working he is a hard youngster to beat. Yesterday he was going at top speed in the opening set against Botsford, whereas the latter was distinctly below form, and contributing a multitude of errors toward his own defeat. Bowman took the first set at 6—3, and throughout the first eight games of the second session looked like a probable winner. Then Botsford succeeded in breaking through his service for the first time, taking a lead of 5—4. Apparently undaunted by this turn of events, Bowman proceeded to get his rival in the hole at love-forty, and had three chances to tie up the game, with a straight-set victory still in sight. But here he slumped unaccountably, failing to make use of some obvious chances to put the game away, and allowing Botsford to prolong the rallies until he himself fell into errors. Botsford pulled out the game and took the set 6—4.

This was the beginning of the end, for all through the rubber Botsford had a little the better of the argument. Eventually he upset Bowman's delivery again, and another break gave him the set and match, 6—3. Against Adams the winner ran along smoothly, with few errors, and a speedy victory at 6—1, 6—2 gave him his fourth round bracket.

Following is yesterday's summary of play:

First Round—Ben Landau defeated E. McLoughlin, 6—2, defaulted; J. P. Stockton defeated Augustin Healy, 8—6, 6—4; Herbert L. Bowman defeated George Gutwillig, 6—3, 6—1, 6—3.

Second Round—Harold Taylor defeated Albert J. Ostendorf, 6—8, 8—6, 6—4; T. R. Keen won from E. Weeks by default; Hugh Nearing defeated Walter J. Toussaint, 6—2, 8—6; George Train won from C. Reynall by default; Harry Sachs defeated Steve Siesinger, 6—2, 5—7, 6—3; Harold Swain defeated A. G. Fitzgerald, 6—0, 6—2; E. B. Reese defeated William Katz, 6—1, 7—5; Dr. William Rosenbaum defeated Joseph Clifford, 6—4, 6—1; Ben Letson defeated Milton H. Soper, 6—1, 6—4; C. A. Anderson defeated Ben Landau, 6—4, 6—2; Willard Botsford defeated H. L. Bowman, 3—6, 6—4, 6—3; F. P. Adams won from E. T. Appleby by default; Anton Von Bernuth defeated H. B. O'Boyle, 6—0, 6—2; G. I. Burr defeated George Eleeman, 6—2, 6—1; J. McLoughlin won from J. W. Fox by default; W. Demuth won from A. Bassford, 3d, by default; Frank Pali defeated Ralph Martin, 6—3, 6—0; M. Goldman won from R. De Castro by default; E. J. McCall defeated George Groesbeck, 6—2, 6—8.

Third Round—Carlton Putnam defeated Dr. Henry Harditt, 6—2, 5—1, defaulted; Nehring won from Keen by default; W. M. Jennings defeated G. Train, 6—0, 6—4; Sachs defeated Swain, 6—0, 6—0; Rosenbaum defeated Reese, 6—0, 6—3; Botsford defeated Adams, 6—1, 6—2; P. L. Kynaston defeated B. Kikuchi, 6—1, 6—2; Von Bernuth defeated L. V. Robinson, 2—6, 6—3, 6—3; L. W. Knox defeated Burr, 6—2, 6—1; W. J. Gallon defeated J. McLoughlin, 6—3, 6—1; Goldman defeated Fall, 8—6, 6—4; McWade defeated McCall, 6—0, 6—3.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, July 13.—A heavy rainstorm interrupted play in the national clay court championships at the South Side Tennis Club here today, and but one or two matches were played.

The most important was the one between Vincent Richards of New York City, who has been spending the Summer on a farm in Iowa in an endeavor to regain his health, which suffered through the number of tournaments he played in last year, and Wallace Bates, the youthful Captain of the University of California Tennis team.

Richards won in straight sets, 6—4, 6—2, but Bates suffered from nervousness in his first big tournament, and by no means did himself justice. The blond youth from the Pacific Coast was popular with the crowd, which rooted hard for him to win.

Bates opened with service and lost the game at love, two double faults and two nets giving Richards the game. Richards took the next three before Bates was able to forget that he was facing an ex-United States champion. Bates played splendidly for the next six games. He brought the score to 4—3 and then dropped a game. He won the next, but Richards put a little extra into his service and took the set, 6—4. It was the same story in the second set, Richards winning three games, while Bates played pat-ball. At this point Bates took a game, Richards winning the next two. Richards's win puts him in the fifth round.

H. A. Bolsaat, President of the South Side Tennis Club, defeated a clubmate, and then fell easily before Walter Westbrook of Cleveland, 6—0, 6—2. Kenneth Simmons of Cleveland and Ralph Burdick, Western doubles champion, had just taken the championship court for their fourth-round match when the rain fell.

P. Lindley Murray is expected to make his first appearance in the tournament tomorrow afternoon. He faces R. F. Woods, Treasurer of the Western Lawn Tennis Association, in his first match.

The summary:

Third Round—Bolsaat defeated Haynes, 6—1, 6—0; Grunstead defeated Clark, 7—5, 6—3. Fourth Round—Westbrook defeated Bolsaat, 6—0, 6—2; Richards defeated Bates, 6—4, 6—2.

HARTE BACK IN GAME.

Will Contend for Singles Honors in Longwood Tennis Competition.

BOSTON, July 13.—Richard Harte, who was a leading contender for the American Davis Cup team, has completely recovered from the illness which militated against his chances in winning international honors, and will be one of the leading entries for the singles honors in the contest for the Longwood Bowl, which will commence next Monday. Harte and Wallace Johnson of Philadelphia are considered the strongest candidates for the singles honors, with the members of the United States Davis Cup team unable to return to this country in time to engage in the singles competition.

Johnny Dundee Gets Decision.

Colossus of the Swat—

Hits 18 Home Runs and Gets 18 Boxes of Holeproof Sox

A home run at the Polo Grounds gets a big hand—naturally. It also gets a box of Holeproofs from us. An appropriate recognition of the feat.

Babe Ruth, supreme swatter of the spheres, has received 108 pairs of Holeproof Hosiery from us thus far this season. And we still owe him socks.

A Favorite Hudson Model

The Coupe Seats Four and Is the Finest Example of Utility and Transportation Comfort

You see the Hudson Coupe everywhere expressive of the taste and choice of those who demand utility, comfort, reliability and safety.

It has power for every need—for every road. Two miles an hour or express train speed is its range. It provides every comfort obtainable in a motor car and it imparts a feeling of security, both through its own performance and its reputation which is based upon the history of a hundred thousand Super-Sixes.

The production of this type is limited and the difficulty to obtain closed bodies adds to the desirability of making prompt engagement for your car.

FORM PLAYERS HARD HIT AT AQUEDUCT

The Summer meeting at Aqueduct came to a close yesterday in an orgy of form upsets that gave the Queens County Jockey Club course a rather unenviable record for defeated favorites. When the Redstone Stable's Sporting Blood, at 1 to 1, in the final race of the day, there was recorded a total of twelve public choices that had gone to the slaughter in succession in two days.

The patrons seemed to think that such a run of adversity called for some kind of a demonstration and they proceeded to hold one. Men on the lawn threw straw hats in the air and women and men in the stands cheered as though some big turf event had just been decided. It was a demonstration with a touch of sarcasm to it, for the patrons for the most part were cheering over the corpse of the shattered form they had put their faith in.

The greatest shock, perhaps, was in the defeat of Commander J. K. L. Ross's Billy Kelly in the Iroquois Handicap, a six-and-a-half-furlong dash, in which this honest gelding was third in a field of five starters after going to the post a 7 to 10 choice. The race was won by G. W. Loft's On Watch, with Super second.

Billy Kelly found that he could not carry 132 pounds and get away with it over the distance. He ran a good race, but tired in the final sixteenth under his burden and lost the place by a neck.

On Watch Better Handled.

On Watch ran to improved form over his last effort, when he could not get out of a gallop again a field that contained no horses of the calibre of Billy Kelly. Barrett on that occasion ran him into several pockets. Yesterday, with a small field, Barret rode a better race, avoided pockets and waited until he reached the stretch to make his run. Meantime Billy Kelly had gone up with the pace set by Marie Miller. When the latter tired in the stretch, Billy Kelly made his bid, but On Watch had come around on the outside, and moving up with a rush soon caught the Ross gelding and, with the advantage in the weights, went on to win handily by a length. Super, always a slow beginner, was ten lengths back of the field going through the back stretch, but moved up fast when he reached the stretch and, making up much ground on the turn, got up to take second from the tiring Billy Kelly by a neck.

The Speculation Handicap at a mile was accounted for by R. T. Wilson, Jr.'s Thunderstorm, which showed a remarkable return to good form since his last race, and won easily from Elmendorf and Thrift among the nine starters. Lawrence Waterbury's Tom McTaggart was once more made a favorite, despite his several successive defeats, but failed to become a factor at any stage of the race.

Thunderstorm was full of running, and, breaking in front from the rail position, set a fast pace all the way and had enough left in the final furlong to draw away to a lead of two lengths. Elmendorf, which was away slowly, slipped through on the rail at the turn into the stretch and finished with a rush that threatened the leader up to the last hundred yards. This rush gave Elmendorf second place, a neck in front of Thrift, which also came from far back in the final furlong.

Thimble Wins Dash.

The day started with the defeat of Hope Princess in the five-furlong dash for two-year-old fillies. This was won by the Oneck Stable's Thimble, with Wise Dove second and the favorite third in a field of six. Hope Princess was in front to the sixteenth pole, where Thimble came up and took the lead. The favorite tired badly in the final strides and was badly beaten.

A. D. Bradford's Infidel, 2d, captured the steeplechase event, but had to be ridden out to win from Fair Mac, which became lame in the final drive, but managed to hold second safely against Meshash. Dorcris, a 7 to 5 choice, was fourth. Infidel followed the pace closely and moved to the front on the last turn of the field. Fair Mac raced with him until he reached the last jump, where he faltered and gave the first evidence of lameness. The balance of the field had been so badly outrun that the lame Fair Mac was still able to save second by a good margin.

The next of the favorites to go down to defeat was T. Connelly's Ballast in the fifth race at a mile and a sixteenth. This went to Berlin, which won by a head from Favour, with Pierre-a-Feu third and Ballast, which had gone to the post at 4 to 5, fourth. Favour had all the speed to the final sixteenth and Berlin just got up in time to gain the decision in a driving finish.

Defeat of Sporting Blood.

The climax came with the defeat of Sporting Blood. This youngster had been accounted one of the high-class colts of the season and had been racing with such as Broom Spun, Dimmesdale and others. It seemed that the end to the downfall of the favorites must come with this event, when Sporting Blood was dropped in with Dough Girl and Our Boots, both of which have been defeated in cheap fields.

Dough Girl had a surprise for the patrons. She broke in motion and assumed the lead at once, never to relinquish it. Sporting Blood, which had been quoted at 1 to 4, raced with the leader and was less than half a length back until the final sixteenth, when Dough Girl began to draw away and won by half a length. Our Boots had no speed and was badly outrun, but Sporting Blood had no excuse except that he was not good enough.

BUSY SIGNAL ENTERED.

Will Seek Honors in $10,000 Alabama at Saratoga Track.

SARATOGA, N. Y., July 13.—Busy Signal, which conquered Cleopatra in the $5,000 Latonia Oaks, is one of the strong stable for which Edward R. Bradley of Lexington has engaged stabling here for the impending Summer meeting of the Saratoga Association. Busy Signal is the Bradley candidate for the Alabama. Saratoga's great $10,000 race at one mile and a quarter for three-year-old fillies, and in the Alabama she will meet Cleopatra again, as well as Pontypridd, the crack three-year-old filly of the stable of John Sanford of Amsterdam. The Alabama is the oldest American special for three-year-old fillies of continuous history.

Busy Signal is not unknown to patrons of Saratoga racing. She won here last Summer. She is a daughter of Cunard and Sweet Alice and an own sister of Bradley's Choice. Bradley's Choice and Busy Signal were bred by Mr. Bradley at his Idle Hour stud, which is domiciled on the Bradley farm near Lexington. Bradley's Choice, which once had the reputation of being a sprinter, won a race of one mile and a half, which distance he covered in better than 2:33, at Latonia.

Idle Hour has been brilliantly represented in racing this season by Believe Idle Hour, a daughter of Cunard and Love Not, which won the Clipsetta Stakes at Latonia; Brotherly Love and Black Servant, respectively three and two year old winners, by Helmet and Black Toney; Best Pal, Sewell Combs, Miss Jemima, Barry's Pet, Beck and Call, Bubbling Louder, Blue Jeans, Bone Dry and Broom Peddler. Black Servant, whose dam was Padula, is a very promising youngster. When he won at Latonia not long since he stepped five furlongs and a half in better than 1:07.

INCHCAPE BRINGS $125,000.

Sam C. Hildreth and his partner, Harry F. Sinclair, member of the State Racing Commission, yesterday purchased the two-year-old colt Inchcape from J. H. Rosseter for a price said to be $125,000, the highest price ever paid for a two-year-old in this country. Hildreth had previously offered $50,000 and then $100,000 for the colt, while an offer of $100,000 from another source had also been received.

Inchcape was bred by Mr. Rosseter in California and is by Friar Rock-Rose of Gold. He has started but twice and has been a winner each time, defeating a field of cracks in the Tremont Stakes. Hildreth is one of the best judges of race horses in the country, and he believes that in Inchcape he has the star of the juvenile division.

RUSH WORK ON ARENA.

Prepare to Hold First Bicycle Races at New York Velodrome.

Fortified with the assurance that the contractors will complete the construction of the New York Velodrome at 225th Street and Broadway in about fifty days, work will start at once on the opening program of bicycle races with the view of gathering for competition at this modern stadium the best riders in the world. The committee plans to give the patrons of the cycle racing sport the best program ever arranged in this country. It will be a gathering of all the American and international sprint and long distance champions.

Many obstacles had to be overcome in getting the work started on this $250,000 stadium, chiefly that of transporting materials which are now arriving at the grounds. The work is being rushed so that the track will be ready for racing by Sept. 1.

The arena, when completed, will comfortably accommodate upward of 30,000 people. The structure will be a replica of the stadium at Harvard, the seats being banked on all sides of the arena.

The Velodrome is to be used for all forms of outdoor competition. One of the many features will be a six-lap cinderpath for track athletics. This will be built under the supervision of Frederick W. Rubien, of the Amateur Athletic Union. Open air boxing shows will also be held and during the cold spell the arena will be flooded for ice skating.

CHARGE RACING VIOLATION.

Prosecution of Western Association in Canada Is Ordered.

WINDSOR, Ont., July 12.—Prosecution of officers of the Western Racing Association for conducting a "common betting house" in violation of its charter, is ordered in charges against the association filed tonight by W. E. Raney, Attorney General for Ontario. The Western Racing Association controls Devonshire, one of the three race tracks at Windsor.

It is alleged in the charges that the association failed to establish a "racing business" within three years after its charter was granted, and that, therefore, the charter is void and betting cannot be allowed at the Devonshire track. Hearings will be held in Police Court here Thursday afternoon. A seven-day racing meeting closed at Devonshire last Saturday.

NEW RECORD MADE IN PACING EVENT

TOLEDO, Ohio, July 13.—A new world's record for three-year-old pacing geldings was hung up at the Fort Miami track this afternoon when Rifle Grenade, carrying the colors of the Lon McDonald stable, paced the first mile in 2:06¼, cutting a quarter of a second off the record held by Direct the Work, made at Lexington, two years ago.

King Watts, owned by George E. Dudley of Youngstown, Ohio, and driven by Lon McDonald, won the Tecumseh, 2:12 trot, $5,000 stake. Alta Donavan, the favorite and winner of the Taven "Steak" at North Randall, had to be content with third money. Allie Ashbrook came through and won the last heat.

In going away in the first heat driver Hyde, who was driving Eliza Dillon, was thrown in a collision and slightly cut about the head.

Calgary Earl won the 2:07 pace in straight heats, while Charlie Red captured the 2:07 trot, although in the stretch Tommy Todd came up with a rush and took the third heat. Rifle Grenade won the three-year-old pace in one, two, three order.

FINAL SELECTIONS TONIGHT.

Decision Will Be Reached on All but Olympic Track and Field Men.

The work of selecting America's Olympic team will be continued this evening when the Executive Committee of the American Olympic Committee holds a meeting at the 69th Regiment Armory. Business to be transacted includes the selection of Uncle Sam's men's and women's swimming teams, divers, decathlon, pentathlon, boxing, wrestling, steeplechase and walking athletes for the international tests which will be held next month at Antwerp, Belgium.

This meeting will be the final session of the American Olympic Committee before the meeting to be held in Boston after the final track and field tryouts. The work accomplished at this evening's meeting will provide for all teams excepting the track and field stars.

The tryout records for each sport will be in the hands of the committee before the meeting is called to order by President Gustavus T. Kirby. The decathlon, pentathlon, steeplechase and walking tryout data have already been scrutinized by the members of the Team Selection Committee and the selections tentatively agreed upon, waiting only for tonight's official indorsement. The men's swimming tryout records have arrived from Chicago and the women's information will be available this evening immediately after the Manhattan Beach program is concluded. The boxing and wrestling tryouts will have progressed far enough to enable the committee members to make their leading selections for these sports also.

FINALS FOR MERMAIDS.

Olympic Entries in Women's Swimming Will Be Decided Tonight.

The leading women swimmers of the country will participate this evening in the final tryouts for the Olympic games. The decisive events, including a 300-yard swim and a high-diving competition from a twenty-seven-foot board, will be held at Manhattan Beach under the auspices of the Women's Swimming Association, beginning at 6 o'clock this evening. The late starting time was announced yesterday as essential from the standpoint of convenience for both participants and spectators.

Some of the competitors in the 300-yard race will include Ethelda Bleibtrey, national 500-yard champion and holder of several records; Charlotte Boyle, national distance titleholder; Helen Moses, Honolulu; Irene Guest, Philadelphia; Mrs. Frances Cowells Schroth, San Francisco; Margaret Woodbridge, Detroit; Ruth and Eleanor Smith, the Morningside A. C., twins, and Miss Elizabeth Ryan of Philadelphia.

In the diving competition the prominent entries include Miss Helen Wainwright, Helen Meany, Thelma Payne, Portland, Ore.; Aileen Allen, Los Angeles, national champion; Lonnie Malcolmson, Detroit.

TEST FOR PRO GOLFERS.

Sixty-four to Compete in Local Trials for National Tourney.

The qualifying round of the Professional Golfers' Association championship tournament will be played simultaneously over two courses tomorrow. Sixty-four of the leading pros of the country will alternate between the Richmond County Country Club and the Fox Hills Golf Club. One half of the field will play at Richmond County, while the other half will play at Fox Hills in the morning, and they will switch in the afternoon. Twelve players will qualify for the final round, to be played at Chicago next month. The two clubs have put up a total of $1,200 in prize money.

TENNIS MOVIES ARE URGED.

Value of Action Pictures in Instructing Young Players Argued.

In a letter received yesterday by Julian S. Myrick, President of the United States Lawn Tennis Association, the suggestion is made by Herbert Chase, of the West Side Club and the Dunbarton Club, Washington, that moving pictures be taken of the leading tennis players in action, so that an accurate record of their style may be available for the education of young enthusiasts all over the country. The same plan had previously been proposed to George T. Adee, ex-President of the association, and was favorably considered by him. There were, in fact, pictures of this sort taken at Forest Hills last September, but for some reason the films were never released.

HANDICAP TO OPEN EMPIRE CITY MEET

Racing shifts today to Yonkers, where the Empire City Racing Association will conduct the last of the local Summer meetings which will continue to July 31. A number of improvements have been made at the course this season for the comfort of the patrons and there is also the promise of some high class racing during the sixteen days of the meeting.

The card for the opening day offers the Empire City Handicap, a test at a mile and a furlong with a value of $6,000. Only five horses have been named for the event, but if all of these go to the post the race should be a very good contest.

This small field contains some of the best of the handicap performers and special interest will be taken in the performance of H. P. Whitney's Dr. Clark which will make his first local appearance in a distance test. His only other effort here was in a sprint. Since then he has accounted for a big stake event in Kentucky.

Top weight in the handicap has been assigned to J. K. L. Ross's Boniface, which will carry 124 pounds. M. L. Schwartz's Audacious has been apparently favored in the weights, as he is in with 111 pounds. Dr. Clark will carry 116 pounds, including a penalty of five pounds for his recent victory. The others are S. C. Hildreth's Mad Hatter with 119 pounds and J. E. Widener's Naturalist with 117 pounds.

50,000 SAW LAST RACES.

America's Cup races have always attracted great crowds of spectators. In 1903 it was estimated that a floating city with a population of more than 50,000 persons witnessed the contests off Sandy Hook between the Reliance and Shamrock III. This is a greater number of spectators than attended the Dempsey-Willard fight in Toledo last year and more than ever attended a baseball game or turf classic. Only the largest football contests and intercollegiate rowing regattas at Poughkeepsie have equaled the attendance at the last America's Cup races.

California Bids $300,000 For 1924 Olympic Games

The Pacific Coast's quota of Olympic athletes, including the person of John K. Norton, one of the world's foremost hurdlers, was due to arrive in Boston early today. The team has been making the trip East on the same train with returning politicians from the San Francisco Convention, and, of the two parties, the athletes, especially in their training exercises on station platforms at the various stops, have attracted by far the greater attention. The Pacific Coast candidates for the Olympic Games are bent on bringing the Olympic Games of 1924 to Los Angeles. California is ready to raise the $300,000 necessary to cover the expenses of the event.

NEIDICH IS BEATEN BY CHESS CHAMPION

Special to The New York Times.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., July 13.—Today marked the half-way point in the Masters' Tournament of the Atlantic City Chess Congress, the fifth round of which was contested on the Million-Dollar Pier. Stasch Mlotkowski of Los Angeles enjoyed the sensation of leadership for a brief spell of a few hours, as the result of his victory in the adjourned game with Jaffe of New York.

Mlotkowski dropped to third place when he lost his game in the fifth round to Edward S. Jackson of Philadelphia. It was the shortest encounter of the tournament, lasting only twenty moves, and one of the most brilliant. Jackson had the white side of a French defense, in which the Westerner followed the line of the McCutcheon variation. The latter, for the sake of a pawn, placed his queen far out of play, and Jackson swept across the board with his queen's rook, which he sacrificed at the nineteenth turn. Mlotkowski had no defense, and resigned the first game he had lost thus far.

Both Marshall and Jeffe of New York won their games from Neidich of Cornell and Sharp of Philadelphia, respectively, and, by virtue of Mlotkowski's defeat, the metropolitan experts moved up into first place, where they are tied with totals of 3½ to 1½ each.

The United States champion made quick work oof the collegian's French defense, winning in twenty-two moves. Sharp met a queen's pawn opening irregularly, and Jaffe, although forced to move his king, worked up a fine attack, which yielded victory after thirty-eight moves. For the first time the white pieces won every game today.

	Won.	Lost.		Won.	Lost.
Jaffe	3½	1½	Jackson	2	3
Marshall	3½	1½	Sharp	2	3
Mlotkowski	3	2	Neidich	1	4

The sixth round will be played tomorrow.

BOBBY JONES ADDS TO GOLF TRIUMPHS

MEMPHIS, Tenn., July 13.—Continuing to shoot golf of unusual order, Bobby Jones of Atlanta, the 18-year-old champion of the South, finished rods in advance of the field in the final 18 holes of the qualifying test of the Western amateur golf championship tournament at the Country Club today.

Jones completed the second 18 holes in 70, one over par and one above his record-breaking round of the opening day. It probably means nothing in Bob's brief career, in view of what he accomplished Monday, to know that his 70 equals the professional record for the course, a mark established years ago by W. C. Sherwood, former professional here.

The Atlanta boy finished the thirty-six-hole battle exactly eight strokes better than his nearest competitor, Richard Bockenkamp of St. Louis. Bockenkamp's 147 was three strokes better than Chick Evan's total, the Chicagoan landing in third position with 150, or 11 strokes behind the medalist. As was predicted, two 81s were good enough to get into the championship flight, good enough and then some, for the maximum qualifying total was 169.

Condon of Memphis remained in the championship flight only by the gossamer thread of circumstance. Two other 169s—H. G. Skinner of Chicago and R. D. Potts of Memphis—were to have competed with Condon and R. W. Thompson of New York, but when they failed to respond to the officials' call for a general play off for positions, Condon and Thompson were given the positions without contest.

The completion of the qualifying round failed to disclose any star without the pale of championship chance, unless an exception is to be made in the case of the Rev. Dr. Paul Talbot of Springfield, Mo., a veteran campaigner who usually battles with the top-notchers. The "golfing parson," as he is known wherever golf is played in this section of the country, was terribly off his game, finishing with 173.

Even James Ward, the intercollegiate star, who proved a distinct disappointment on opening day, taking an 88, came back vigorously enough to qualify, thanks to a well played round in 78. His total of 166 let him in comfortably.

The numeral method of pairings, employed by the Western Association, destroys the possibility of a specific featuring Jones and Evans in the finals Saturday. Both the two headliners are in the same bracket, and regardless of subsequent developments one or both will be eliminated before the finals are reached. It is probable, however, that the two will battle each other in the semi-finals. This depends entirely on how the two fare in the interim.

Two rounds of match play are scheduled for tomorrow. The first round this morning brings Jones against Frank Crager of Helena, Ark. Crager is a capable golfer, but the odds are against him stopping the cyclonic Mr. Jones in the present affair.

Evans seems to have drawn an equally easy assignment in R. L. Hickey of Atlanta, who qualified with 164. In the lower half of the bracket Bockenkamp, who is swiftly establishing himself as a genuine sparkler, meets Bert Miller of Indianapolis and ought to win without much trouble.

The scores:

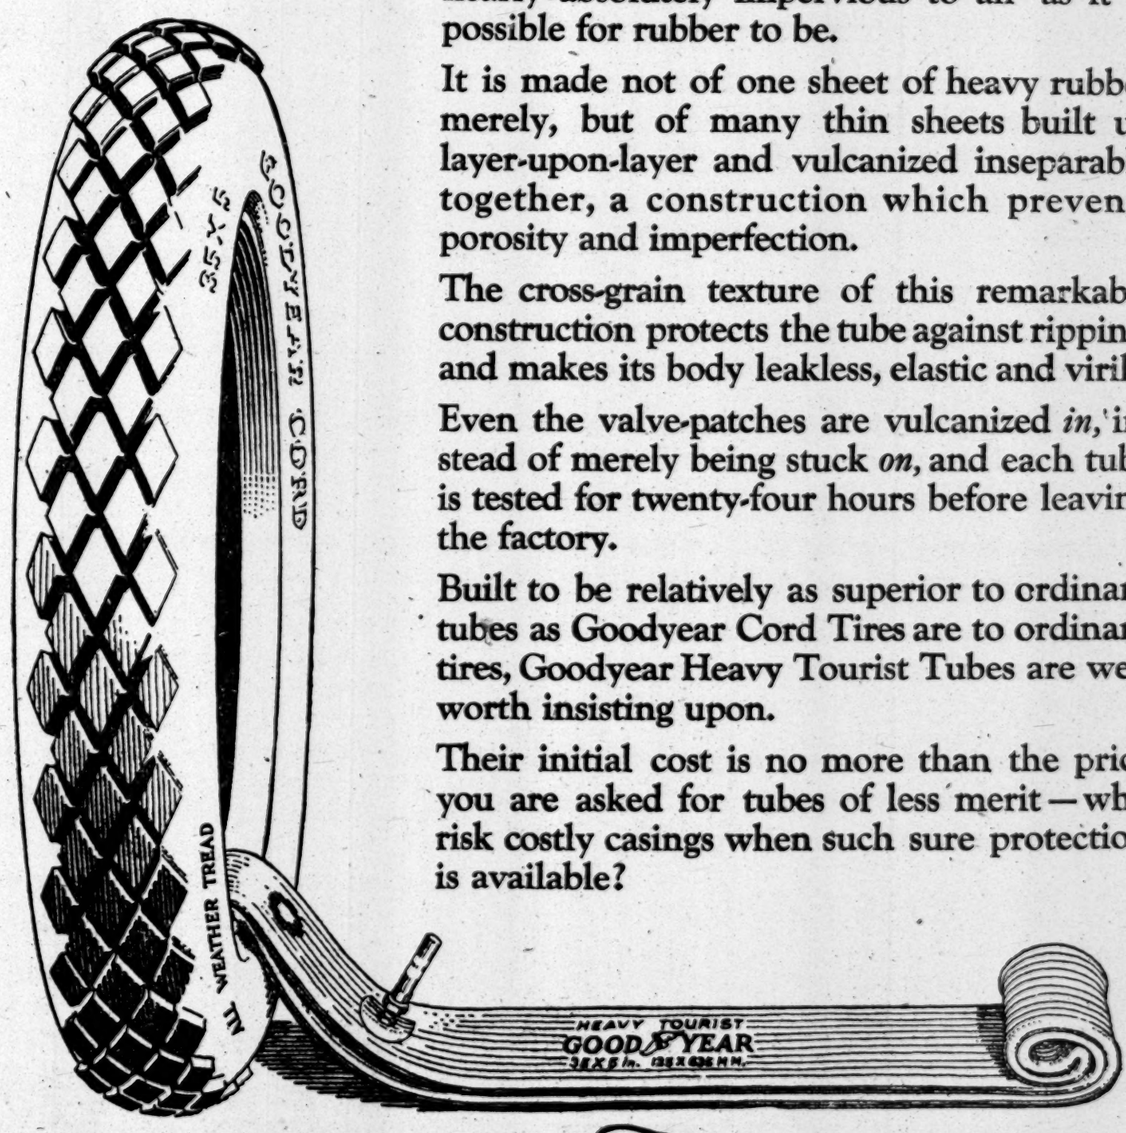
Tubes that are Worth Insisting Upon



The wall of the Goodyear Heavy Tourist Tube is thick, powerful and densely knit—as nearly absolutely impervious to air as it is possible for rubber to be.

It is made not of one sheet of heavy rubber merely, but of many thin sheets built up layer-upon-layer and vulcanized inseparably together, a construction which prevents porosity and imperfection.

The cross-grain texture of this remarkable construction protects the tube against ripping, and makes its body leakless, elastic and virile.

Even the valve-patches are vulcanized in, instead of merely being stuck on, and each tube is tested for twenty-four hours before leaving the factory.

Built to be relatively as superior to ordinary tubes as Goodyear Cord Tires are to ordinary tires, Goodyear Heavy Tourist Tubes are well worth insisting upon.

Their initial cost is no more than the price you are asked for tubes of less merit—why risk costly casings when such sure protection is available?

Be Careful What You Wash Your Hair With

Some soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

A good thing to use is Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy, and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out dust, dirt and dandruff.

CURRAN CRITICISES HOUSING COMMITTEE

ATTACKS SECRETARY DOYLE

Chairman Mann Replies That Plan to be Reported Will Start Record Building Boom.

The Mayor's Housing Conference Committee has done nothing to relieve the housing situation, according to Henry H. Curran, Manhattan Borough President, in a statement issued yesterday criticising the committee, particularly its secretary, Edward P. Doyle, who opposed Mr. Curran's suggestion of a special session of the Legislature for the purpose of amending the State Constitution to permit municipal housing aid.

On learning of Borough President Curran's attack Frank Mann, Tenement House Commissioner, who is Chairman of the Mayor's Housing Conference Committee, defended the committee. He said he favored a special session of the Legislature to take up the housing situation.

"It is surprising that my request to the Governor to call the Legislature in special session for the relief of the housing problem should be attacked by Mr. Doyle, the Secretary of the Mayor's Housing Committee," said Mr. Curran in his statement.

"That is the last quarter where I should expect opposition, although it is true that this committee has done nothing to relieve the situation. Mr. Doyle, who is also the legislative representative of the Real Estate Board and the Rhinelander and Goelet estates, must know as a landlord what conditions are. When he speaks of apartments renting for an average of $80 a month he should remember that there are also families who can pay only from $30 to $40 a month for rent. Whatever the rent may be, they all need help.

"When Mr. Doyle says that I 'know perfectly well' that the experience of this country and Europe is absolutely against Government housing of any kind he displays his ignorance of the facts. Almost every country in Europe has engaged in Government housing for many years, and city building would not be 'wasteful' if it were undertaken by city officials who are not 'wasteful,' and I do not believe that city money spent with the result of helping to prevent further raises in rents all over town is money 'wasted for a few of the people.' In fact, such money is not wasted at all because it would bring in a revenue to the city which would readily cover maintenance, interest and amortization charges. Government housing is an extreme measure, the use of which should be limited strictly to the duration of the present emergency. It seems certain today that the present emergency cannot be overcome for at least five years.

Replying to Borough President Curran's attack, Mr. Mann said the Mayor's Housing Conference Committee was not formed to build houses, that it had no funds for that purpose and that the reason for the naming of the committee was that it might confer with all parties interested, in order to interest capital and find ways and means for the construction of dwellings.

"As a result of our preliminary meetings I think I may say that I believe that people are not in favor of municipal housing. The city has not money to put this plan through and even if a special session of the Legislature took the first step to enact an amendment to the Constitution permitting municipal aid in housing it would take three years to begin the work.

SAYS OSTINOFF OWES $1,500

Landlady Seeks to Dispossess Russian Consul General.

Sarah Graham Mulhall applied to the Federal Court yesterday for permission to bring a dispossess action against Michael Ostinoff, Consul General of Russia. The plaintiff averred that she owned the residence at the southwest corner of Park and Oxford Roads, Scarsdale, Westchester County, and that Mr. Ostinoff owed her $1,500 for rent for the months of April, May, June and July.

Mr. Ostinoff has represented the Russian Government in this city since March 19, 1913, and is immune from legal process save by permission of the court. His office is at 55 Broadway.

Sentenced for Attack on Woman.

John Ward of 111 East Avenue, Long Island City, son of an undertaker and politician of that place, received an indeterminate sentence of from three months to three years in the penitentiary in the Court of Special Sessions at Jamaica yesterday. He was charged with attacking Mrs. Elizabeth Osolneck of 109 Elliott Avenue, Middle Village, in Forest Park, near Woodhaven.

United States.

The commission announces for Oct. an examination for medical interne, men and women, over age of 20, for vacancies in St. Elizabeth's Hospital, Washington, D. C., at $1,200 a year and maintenance. Appointees may be allowed the temporary advance granted by Congress of $20 a month. The positions are tenable for one year. During the year, however, a post-graduate course in mental and neurological diagnostic methods is given, an examination is held, and promotions to the next grade, junior assistant physician, are made. Beyond this, there is regular advancement for employes whose services are satisfactory. St. Elizabeth's Hospital has over 3,000 patients and about 800 employes to care for. In addition to the general medical practice offered, the scientific opportunities and psychiatry are unsurpassed. On account of the needs of the service, papers will be rated promptly and certification made as the needs of the service require. Competitors will not be required to report for examination at any place, but will be rated on physical ability, 10, and education and experience, 90. Applicants must show that they are graduates of a reputable medical college, or that they are senior students in such an institution and expect to graduate within six months from the date of making oath to the application. The names of senior students will not be certified for appointment until they have furnished proof of actual graduation.

WILSON THANKS LATINS FOR JULY 4 MESSAGES

WASHINGTON, July 13.—President Wilson, replying to the congratulatory Independence Day messages from the Presidents of South and Central American republics, expresses the hope that the cordial relations now existing between the Latin-American nations and the United States may continue. A similar note is sounded by Acting Secretary of State Davis in thanking the Foreign Minister of those republics for their messages of good wishes in connection with the anniversary. The replies of President Wilson, made public today, read:

To President Irigoyen of Argentina: "On this anniversary of the proclamation of American independence I offer to your Excellency and the Argentine people my best wishes for your personal welfare and their happiness and prosperity, at the same time thanking your Excellency for the friendly and appreciated message conveyed in your courteous telegram of Independence Day felicitations."

To President Pessoa of Brazil: "I have received your Excellency's kind message of congratulation on this anniversary of American independence and cordially reciprocate, in the name of the people of the United States and in my own, the good wishes expressed by the Brazilian people and yourself."

To President Chamorro of Nicaragua: "Thanking your Excellency sincerely for your cordial and appreciative Independence Day message, I ask your acceptance of my best wishes for your personal welfare and the prosperity of the Nicaraguan people."

To President Lefevre of Panama: "On behalf of the American people I thank you sincerely for your courteous Fourth of July message, assuring you of their hearty reciprocation of the friendly sentiment thereby conveyed and of my own best wishes for the welfare of your Excellency and the happiness and prosperity of the Panaman people."

To President Melendez of Salvador: "I thank your Excellency sincerely for your cordial message of Independence Day felicitations. Your good wishes are highly appreciated and reciprocated."

To President Brum of Uruguay: "I have received with sincere appreciation your Excellency's telegram of Independence Day greetings. In the name of the Government and people of the United States I thank you sincerely for your friendly sentiments."

To Provisional President Bustillos of Venezuela: "I thank your Excellency for your courteous Independence Day felicitations, and on behalf of the American people as well as in my own name extend best wishes for the continued prosperity of Venezuela."

To President-elect Gomez of Venezuela: "I sincerely appreciate your Excellency's cordial Independence Day greetings and heartily reciprocate your good wishes."

Eight years of rapid growth prove Stewart quality and economy

THIS THE IDEAL: From the start, Stewart engineers decided to build only quality trucks; to build them at quantity prices. Trucks from the ground up—not an adapted passenger car part in them; built for work; built to last and pile up profits for owners; hundreds of useless parts and hundreds of pounds of dead weight eliminated; strong, sturdy, hard-working assets to any man or business.

AND THIS THE ACCOMPLISHMENT: In only eight years Stewart has become one of the world leaders. It has fought the daily battle of business for owners, and won out—because it is a stronger truck, simpler to operate, more economical on gasoline, oil, tire and repair costs. Starting with one on trial, Stewart fleets have grown rapidly—one, two, four, and more—all working and earning; piling up profits for their owners; spreading the Stewart reputation for quality and economy. Factory output has been more than doubled this year. Stewarts are in use in 800 American cities, on hundreds of farms, and in 38 foreign countries.

Stewart Trucks have won—by costing less to run

ROBERT GILCHRIST & CO.—A petition in bankruptcy has been filed against Robert Gilchrist & Co., buying and grinding of manganese ore and manufacturer of dyes, at 82 Beaver Street and factory in New Jersey, by Alfred Peterson, a creditor, for $6,583, on trade acceptances. It is stated that the company has admitted in writing its inability to pay its debts; also that the assets, valued at about $20,000, consist mainly of patents and processes for the manufacture of chemicals, office furniture and shares of capital stock of Talc Holding Company, which holding company is the owner of 842½ shares of capital stock of the Anglo-American Talc Company, Limited. The liabilities are stated, in one place, to be exceeding $100,000, and as $200,000, in another. Judge Grubb has appointed Max Rockmore receiver in $10,000 bond, and he is authorized to continue the business five days. The company was incorporated Aug. 10, 1918, with a capital stock of $25,000, and Robert Gilchrist was its President. Mr. Gilchrist was formerly President of the Great Western Foundry Supply Company, against which concern a petition in bankruptcy was filed May 3, 1905. Robert Gilchrist & Co. had a factory in Elizabethport, N. J.; it had no rating with Bradstreet's.

LEWIS GERMAN & CO., INC.—A petition in bankruptcy has been filed against Lewis German & Co., Inc., wholesale dealers in spices, at 136 Water St., by Austin, Nichols & Co., Inc., $891; Clare & Herbert, $349, and Dodwell & Co., Ltd., $148. It is stated that the liabilities are approximately $150,000 and the assets about $75,000. Judge Grubb appointed Harold A. Content receiver, bond $40,000.

KNICKERBOCKER MAIL ORDER CO., INC.—A petition in bankruptcy has been filed against Knickerbocker Mail Order Co., Inc., at 104-6 West 14th St., by these creditors: Berger & Woldman, $118; H. Rothenberg's Mercantile House, $301; W. & B. Novelty Co., $198, and Jennie Pollack, $217.

KEMPTON TRADING CO.—Sidney N. Stone, at 314 West 94th St., who has been engaged in the manufacture of jewelry novelties, under the name of Kempton Trading Co., at 66 West 36th St., has filed a petition in bankruptcy, with liabilities of $13,437 and assets of $5,200, consisting of stock, $2,900, and machinery, &c., $400. Among the creditors are Fanny Metzger, $2,313; Freedman & Co., $813, and Alfred Metzger, $450.

THERESA MOSES, housekeeper, at 204 West 110th Street, has filed a petition in bankruptcy, with liabilities of $4,650 and no assets. There are only three creditors—Union Exchange National Bank of New York, $1,550 on judgment reserved March 8, 1916; Barnet Goldman, $1,789 on judgment docketed on Aug. 8, 1917, and United Cigar Stores Co., $750, claim for unexpired lease of 310 West 125th St.

NICOLO SIPOTI, real estate broker at 215 Bleecker Street, has filed a petition in bankruptcy, with liabilities of $1,632 and no assets. There are only two creditors.

JAMES ROSEN—A petition in bankruptcy has been filed against James Rosen, residing at 1,637 Home Avenue, Bronx, and doing business at 138 Morris Street, McKenzack, N. J., by these creditors: L. Cohen, $153; R. Siegel, 261, and B. Siegel, $50.

LAUREL WOOLEN MILLS—Judge Grubb has dismissed the petition in bankruptcy filed on June 7 against Herman Greatein, trading as Laurel Woolen Mills at 129 Fourth Avenue, upon a settlement with creditors at 30 cents on the dollar—20 cents in cash and 10 cents in notes due in three and six months of 5 cents each.

ALMADO CONFECTIONS, INC.—Judge Grubb has appointed Maurice P. Davidson receiver for Almado Confections, Inc., at 823-829 Eighth Avenue, in $5,000 bond. It is stated that the company formerly operated a retail confectionery store and lunch room at 38 East Forty-eighth Street, but was obliged to discontinue it on account of strike of employes.

THE WEATHER.

WASHINGTON, July 13.—Pressure is now rising over the Atlantic Ocean and eastern half of the United States and rising quite rapidly over the western half, but with a temperature of low pressure extending from West Texas northeastward through the Upper Lake region. This has resulted in quite general thundershowers in the Lake region, the Central Valleys and portions of North Dakota and Eastern Montana. There were also local thundershowers in the South Atlantic and East Gulf States and more light rain on the North Pacific coast. In New England, the Middle Atlantic States, the Southwest and extreme West the weather was generally fair.

Temperatures remain low for the season in the Northwest and the extreme West, while in the Southwest, the lower lake region, the Middle Atlantic States and New England they are higher and above the seasonal average.

Unsettled, showery weather may be expected during the next two days east of the Mississippi River, but probably not reaching the New England and Middle Atlantic Coast before Thursday. It will be cooler Wednesday in the upper lake region and on Thursday from the Ohio Valley and lake region eastward except along the coast.

FORECAST FOR TODAY AND THURSDAY.

Western New York—Showers Wednesday and probably Thursday, cooler Thursday.

Eastern New York—Partly cloudy Wednesday, showers north and extreme west portions; Thursday showers and cooler.

Southern New England—Fair Wednesday; Thursday showers, cooler on the mainland.

Northern New England—Fair Wednesday, except showers in North Vermont; Thursday showers.

New Jersey—Partly cloudy Wednesday; Thursday showers, not quite so warm Thursday north and west portions.

The temperature record for the twenty-four hours ended at 11 P. M., take nfrom the thermometer at the local office of the United States Weather Bureau, is as follows:

3 A. M.	69	65	4 P. M.	88	79
8 A. M.	68	64	8 P. M.	84	75
9 A. M.	76	68	9 P. M.	78	71
12 M.	86	74	11 P. M.	76	69

This thermometer is 414 feet above the street level. The average temperature yesterday was 78; for the corresponding date last year it was 72; average on the corresponding date for the last thirty-three years, 74.

The temperature at 8 A. M. yesterday was 73; at 8 P. M. it was 80. Maximum temperature 88 degrees at 4 P. M.; minimum, 68 degrees at 6 A. M. Humidity, 74 per cent. at 8 A. M.; 68 per cent. at 8 P. M.

The barometer at 8 A. M. yesterday registered 30.19 inches; at 8 P. M. it stood at 30.14 inches.

Motion Pictures on McCALL STREET

All the stars in the movie firmament shine brightly each night on McCall Street.

For wherever there is a picture theatre, there are in its neighborhood families who read McCall's Magazine—and McCall Street is the name we have given to a visioned street on which are all the 1,500,000 homes in which McCall's is read.

Every motion picture production in the country is shown in the thousands of theatres on McCall Street—and McCall Street people spend more than $1,000,000 a week to see the dramas and comedies and travel pictures that are flashed on the silver screens of these movie theatres.

McCall Street people like good entertainment. In the form of fiction, they find it in McCall's, whose pages offer serials and short stories by the most popular authors of the day.

The families in the 1,500,000 homes on McCall Street like good motion pictures, too—in fact, they like the best, in everything. They are the kind of people who know they get the best when they select goods that are nationally advertised—and they remember the advertising messages in McCall's when they buy a tube of tooth paste, a vacuum cleaner, or an evening's entertainment at a motion picture theatre.

COAL CAR PRIORITY EXTENDED 30 DAYS

HELPS OTHER INDUSTRIES

MINES BLAME RAILROADS

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, July 13.—The Interstate Commerce Commission handed down late this afternoon a decision which, in an amended form, extends the life of the coal priority order restricting in the territory east of the Mississippi River the use of open-top cars to the transportation of coal for an additional thirty days from July 21 next.

The commission in issuing the order said that because of the "inability of common carriers properly and completely to serve the public in the transportation of coal, an emergency exists which requires immediate action."

The representatives of the bituminous coal interests were in session when the decision was made public, and the consensus of opinion among the operators was that the new order, with the exception of that part which permits the assignment of cars for certain specific purposes, is a good one and will go a long way toward solving the serious coal problem now facing the nation.

The new order does not refer to the situations in New England or the Northwest, nor does it rule regarding the reconsignment practice which was a subject of so much criticism at the hearings before the commission last week. In a letter to Daniel Willard, President of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad and Chairman of the Advisory Committee of the Association of Railway Executives, Chairman Clark explains that the commission defers action regarding the Great Lakes or Northwest situation as well as the reconsignment practice until after the conference in New York tomorrow of the Railway and Coal Operators Committees, at which conference the railway officials and coal men will try to find a way to straighten out the bituminous coal tangle in which the country is now enmeshed.

Relieves Steel and Other Trades.

The new order also affords some relief to the steel, building trades and other industries which have protested to the commission that unless some open top equipment is allotted to them a great many plants may have to close, while building, road and other contracts will have to be suspended. Under the new order it is stipulated that the phrase "coal car" shall not include flat-bottom gondolas of certain measurements, these cars being automatically released to the service of the industries named.

Relative to the assigning of cars, the commission orders that all common carriers east of the Mississippi River are authorized to assign cars to coal mines for the production of coal needed by public utilities at hospitals, schools and other public institutions, so that these institutions may be kept supplied with fuel for current use, but not for storage purposes. However, even these public institutions are not to be supplied by any railroad unless a written application, concurred in by the delivering railroad, is filed, the application showing that the coal is needed for current use and that except for other public institutions or utilities it is not subject to reconsignment.

Relative to the reconsignment practice, Chairman Clark in his letter to Mr. Willard points out that the reconsignment practice has resulted in numerous abuses; that this evil is one demanding the immediate attention of the railroads, and that it should be reduced to the "unavoidable minimum."

"It seems to us," Chairman Clark says in the Willard letter, "that it would be a very unusual situation in which more than one reconsignment should be permitted during the existing transportation emergency."

Clark's Letter to Willard.

The letter from Chairman Clark to Mr. Willard, in which reference is made to matters omitted from the general order, is as follows:

"Interstate Commerce Commission,
"Washington, July 13, 1920.

"Mr. Daniel Willard,
"Chairman Advisory Committee,
"Association of Railway Executives,
"Baltimore, Md.

"My Dear Mr. Willard:

"Following the hearing which concluded Saturday, July 10, with respect to the coal car situation in territory east of the Mississippi River, Division 5 of the commission has given earnest consideration to the facts disclosed of record and known to it as bearing upon the present emergency. Certain features of the situation seem to call for some clarification or correction of our Service Order No. 7. Accordingly, Service Order No. 9 has been entered amending and supplementing Service Order No. 7, and effective forthwith. A copy of Service Order No. 9 is sent to you for your information.

"It will be noted that no especial recognition is given to the lake cargo situation. It is understood that this is the subject of detailed discussion among the coal operators themselves, to be followed immediately by a conference with various railroad executives and that we will be advised as to the determinations reached. We have not thought it proper to attempt to deal with this situation by order until we know the result of such deliberations.

"There is one feature of the situation as to which we entertain no doubt and which we desire to call to your attention on behalf of the car carriers, which seems to us to require immediate and careful consideration with a view to action which will remedy abuses abundantly shown to exist. We refer to the provisions contained in tariffs of the carriers permitting the general or promiscuous reconsignment of cars under load with coal. As an emergency proposition, it seems to us that the carriers should at once take steps to bring this practice down to the unavoidable minimum. We are not prepared to say that all reconsignment of coal should be prohibited, but it seems to us that it would be a very unusual situation in which more than one reconsignment should be permitted during the existing transportation emergency.

"The privilege of reconsignment of coal is one which is carried in the tariffs of the carriers. Without discussing or deciding whether the commission has power, under the emergency provisions of the Transportation act, to require the restriction or suspension of this privilege, with the myriad situations which exist in the country, it is obvious that the carriers should themselves bring forward promptly proposals to the commission for a suitable amendment to their tariffs on short notice in harmony with the views here expressed.

"We will thank you if you will see that this is called to the attention of the carriers represented in your association.

"Very truly yours,
"E. E. CLARK, Chairman."

The committee representing the coal operators, which will meet the railway executives in New York tomorrow morning, will leave Washington tonight. The committee, which is headed by Colonel D. B. Wentz, President of the National Coal Association, will inform the railroad officials that the failure to give the mines a sufficient supply of open-top cars is responsible for the coal emergency now confronting the country, both as to immediate as well as to the Winter needs. At the two days' conference of the bituminous operators it was the almost unanimous opinion of those in attendance that the car shortage, and nothing else, is to blame for the present situation.

Operators from different fields reported at the conference that contracts which they now hold for coal are sufficient to supply the needs, not only of the Northwest, where the situation is most acute, but of New England and other points where the coal shortage is particularly felt. The whole difficulty about getting coal to these points, it was stated at the conference, is in the lack of cars.

Colonel Wentz, before starting for New York tonight, said that the committee of which he is chairman is prepared to take definite action in co-operation with the railroads, and that such action will be urged at the conference to be held at 75 Church Street, New York, tomorrow. The conference will begin at 11 A. M.

Colonel Wentz said that the weekly movement of coal is still more than 1,200,000 tons short of the requirements, and that until the maximum is attained the present critical situation will continue.

EDITOR ACCUSES RAILROADS.

INDIANAPOLIS, July 13.—Charges that the railroads of the country were obtaining control of all bituminous coal possible and reselling it to dealers, because of the opportunity to make big profits due to present high prices of coal, were made in a statement issued by Ellis Searles, editor of the Mine Workers' Journal, from the headquarters of the United Mine Workers of America here today.

Mr. Searles declared that trustworthy information received at the union offices indicated that the railroads assign virtually all available coal cars to mines with which they have contracts and that these mines work steadily while other mines on the lines work only two or three days a week owing to lack of cars.

"According to reports received here," said Mr. Searles, "the railroads take all of this coal. They do not burn it, nor are they storing it, but are reselling it at a huge profit. Mines that have no contracts with railroads get but few cars, and that fact largely accounts for the scarcity of free coal on the market, according to our information. By such a plan the railroads not only make a profit on hauling the coal, but they can make an outrageous profit on the resale. By refusing to allow other other mines to have cars they compel the public to buy the coal which they sell at outrageous profits.

"Present coal prices are the highest on record, but by no stretch of the imagination can the miners be held to be responsible for them."

UTILITY COMPANIES TO REPORT ON COAL

Will File with Service Board a Record of Fuel Supplies as Compared with Last Week.

The public utility corporations in the city will file with the Public Service Commission today reports showing the exact quantity of coal each has on hand and the change from a week ago. No word reached the commission yesterday that the utilities were in any worse condition than for the last month, and from the silence of the companies it was gathered that they had coal enough for at least four days under the pooling system, with the prospect that the supply would not diminish to a critical point.

A statement by the Wholesale Coal Trade Association yesterday said that "the charge is made that the railroads are using the assigned car order as a club to force the coal-mine operators to furnish them with coal at prices which in some cases are below the actual cost of production."

Then followed a statement by Charles S. Allen, Secretary of the association, to the effect that the assigned car order of the interstate commerce Commission was being widely abused by the coal carrying railroads, and that "this abuse constitutes a grave menace to the distribution of fuel for vital industries and works for the disorganization of the agencies engaged in the production and supplying of coal."

Accompanying the statement was a letter written July 9 by W. H. Williams, Vice President of The Delaware and Hudson Company, to Edgar E. Clark, Chairman of the Interstate Commerce Commission. This letter says that in 1918 the aggregate maximum capacity of all of the bituminous mines, was approximately 15,000,000 tons of coal a week, that the maximum production in any one week from Jan. 5, 1918, to date was 13,286,000 tons, and that the average weekly production for the year was only about 11,100,000 tons. The increased demand for coal, the letter states, has resulted in increasing the estimated aggregate capacity to about 19,000,000 tons a week. Then the letter reads:

"Assuming it were possible to produce 19,000,000 tons per week, the annual output for fifty-two weeks would be 988,000,000 tons, as against our previous high record of 1918, viz.: 579,000,000 tons, an increase of 409,000,000 tons, or slightly in excess of 70 per cent."

The letter suggests that each coal-carrying railroad submit a statement of the number of mines on its route, the aggregate carrying capacity of the cars furnished the mines for loading, the aggregate loaded during the week and the aggregate carrying capacity of cars which were placed but not loaded.

Coal Shortage Darkens Hornell.

HORNELL, N. Y., July 13.—With its last pound of coal exhausted the Hornell Electric Company, this afternoon shut off all but one circuit in the city. Street cars have been stopped and only a few essential industries are kept going. They will be cut off before night and the city will be in darkness tonight. Inability to secure coal at any price is given as the reason for the suspension of service.

Americans Ready to Open Old German Ship Routes

WASHINGTON, July 13.—Arrangements for the opening of former North German Lloyd trade routes to American shipping were completed today at a conference between Chairman Benson of the Shipping Board and officials of the United States Mail Steamship Company. The board recently allocated fifteen former German passenger vessels to the company for operation on the trade routes.

"Every aspect of the arrangement is purely American," Chairman Benson said after the conference, "and will result in inestimable benefit to the American merchant marine."

Assurances were given by the United States Mail Steamship Company, Chairman Benson said, that no German capital was interested in the venture and that the agreement with the North German Lloyd Company provided for the use of its docks and harbor facilities on a fixed price basis only.

RULE OUT EVIDENCE ON COAL GOUGING

OPERATORS FOR OPEN SHOP

SCRANTON, Pa., July 13.—Dr. W. O. Thompson, Chairman of the Anthracite Mine Commission, at today's session ruled that the commission is without jurisdiction to admit anything to record unless it has a direct bearing upon the eighteen demands presented by the United Mine Workers. This decision confines the work of the commission to an adjudication of the wages, hours of employment and other matters dealing directly with the working conditions of the mine workers.

"Today's action upheld the contention of the mine operators and prevented the representatives of the workers from presenting seven exhibits which they alleged would tend to prove charges of monopolistic control of the anthracite industry and profiteering by operators during the last four years. The miners' representatives had offered these charges through their statistician and they had been extensively argued at recent sessions of the commission. The body was appointed by President Wilson to reconcile differences between mine operators and their employes, who have been for some months trying to reach an agreement on points in dispute.

Whether appeal will be made to the President, as has been threatened by the mine workers, should they lose their contention, has not yet been determined.

Following the announcement of the commission's decision, the operators, through S. D. Warriner of the Lehigh Coal and Navigation Company, commenced the presentation of their side of the controversy.

Are Firm for Open Shop.

Adherence to the fundamental principles of collective bargaining as laid down by President Roosevelt's Anthracite Strike Commission of 1902, and reaffirmation of every man's right to work, without reference to membership or non-membership in a labor organization, were insisted upon today by operators.

Unalterable opposition to the principle of the closed shop and its proposed accompaniment, the check-off, was also placed in the record, and figures were presented to show that, under the present wage scale, the annual earnings of anthracite mine workers have more than kept pace with the increase in the cost of living.

These points were contained in the first formal reply presented to the commission in answer to the eighteen demands of the mine workers for readjustment of wages and working conditions. Each demand was analyzed in the reply, and the position of the operators stated, but as the mine workers had previously notified the commission that four of the eighteen demands were of major importance, this was laid on the answers to these four.

To the demand that "the present wages of the anchracite mine workers be increased to correspond to the increases granted the bituminous mine workers by the Presidential Coal Commission," the operators set forth that the bituminous and anthracite industries are not comparable, "since anthracite mining also involves a manufacturing process of cleaning and sizing coal in breakers, with the result that only about one-third of the anthracite employes are engaged in cutting and loading coal, against about two-thirds in the bituminous industry."

"Since the anthracite industry is on virtually a full time basis, employment is steady, compared with about 200 days' work a year in the bituminous mines," the statement says. "Anthracite workers, under present wage scales, are earning more per annum than the bituminous workers with the increase granted by the President's commission."

Produce Payroll Figures.

Payroll figures covering 33,982 employes of mine companies, producing about 75 per cent. of the total anthracite tonnage, were submitted to show actual earnings, which the operators' statement said have increased from 109 to 119 per cent. since 1914. This was supplemented by a table showing that 130 savings banks in the anthracite region show an increase of 48 per cent. in savings deposits in the period 1916-1920.

The operators deny that the minimum rate for unskilled labor in the bituminous mines is $6 a day. Such a rate in the anthracite region, with the mines in line with industries in the anthracite field, competing for labor, they say, and cite figures to show that other industries in the anthracite region are paying 37 to 48 cents an hour for common labor, 41 to 60 cents for semi-skilled, and 54 to 80 cents for skilled. Against this they place the average anthracite rates of 42 to 54 cents for common labor, 48 to 68 cents for semi-skilled, and 82 cents an hour for skilled (contract miners).

With regard to the extension of the eight-hour day to watchmen, pumpmen, fan engineers, stablemen, powerhouse engineers and some hoisting engineers, the operators pointed out that these duties are not arduous, but that, at the suggesion of the Secretary of Labor, they had agreed to put pumpmen and inside and outside hoisting engineers on an eight-hour system, which was to be worked out by the Board of Conciliation. The necessity for such an adjustment does not exist, the reply says, but the operators agreed to the suggestion in a spirit of compromise. The demand for time-and-a-half-time for overtime and double time for Sunday and holidays is flatly opposed. The real issue in this is more pay, the operators say, and not the elimination of overtime.

With regard to standardization of wages, so that occupations of like character at the various collieries shall command the same wage, the operators pointed out that conditions vary in different collieries and in different places at the same collieries, but also called attention to the fact that they accepted the suggestion of the Secretary of Labor that the Board of Conciliation should study this question and report to the joint conference at the expiration of the agreement.

"On the question of a closed shop contract, with full recognition of the union and the establishment of the check off," the statement continues, "the position of the operators is unmistakable. They declared that the principles and practices established by the award of the Anthracite Strike Commission have been applied successfully for nearly twenty years; that this award distinctly established the principle of the open shop and forbade discrimination between union and non-union men.

That the establishment of a closed shop is "repugnant to the American principle of the freedom of choice," that the principle of the open shop has been indorsed by courts, both State and Federal, and that the demand for an extension of the check off, whereby union dues are withheld from a miner's pay by the employer, was denied by the Bituminous Commission.

Collective bargaining and periodical trade agreements are accepted by the operators, provided both parties conscientiously observe their obligations. Such contracts, they hold, can be enforced only by willing co-operation and that the closed shop cannot compel co-operation by an individual not desiring it.

The operators agree to a two-year contract, but object to abolishing individual agreements and contracts in coal mining whereby one man, who may employ others, takes over the working of a section of a vein or a particular opening.

Harold Vanderbilt to Wed Baroness, Three Times Divorced, Says Vienna Paper

VIENNA, July 13.—The Mittagspost reports the engagement of Baroness Marietta Styrcea to Harold Vanderbilt. The Baroness is a daughter of the late Protestant Pastor of Vienna, Johanny, and is a famous Vienna beauty with an interesting matrimonial record.

She was a member of the Vienna Volks Theatre, and married a leading tenor of the Vienna opera named Piccaver, a native of Pittsburgh, Pa. She divorced him, married a Hungarian nobleman, again obtained a divorce and married a wealthy Rumanian, Baron Styrcea.

Last year a painful event occurred at the Hotel Sacher, when a married lady, furious on account of the attentions paid by her husband to the Baroness Styrcea, made a vitriolic attempt against the Baroness, injuring her, though her looks did not suffer thereby.

Her fourth wedding is to be celebrated in London.

Harold Stirling Vanderbilt, who is 38 years old, is the son of William K. Vanderbilt and the brother of William K. Vanderbilt, Jr., and Consuelo, Duchess of Marlborough. His mother is Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont.

He was graduated from Harvard University, and soon after went to Paris to reside.

In January, 1911, Mr. Vanderbilt decided to follow in the footsteps of his father and engage in the railroad business. He identified himself with the New York Central as an employe in the office of General Solicitor Clyde. Eventually he became identified with the directorate of many corporations throughout the country, including the Chicago & Northwestern Railroad, the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Railroad, the Lake Erie & Western Railroad and the Canada Southern Bridge Company.

Several Places Robbed During the Week-End—Bank Messengers Get $500 in Reward.

Loft thieves broke into three places during the week-end and stole more than $36,000 worth of goods. The Breslin Shirt Company of 684 Broadway lost $25,000 worth of silks Friday night. The thieves broke a lock on the door of the loft and cut a hole in the metal ceiling. On the way out they broke open the cash box of another tenant and took $100.

Robbers who broke into the store of the Faultless Dress Company at 154 East Twenty-third Street on Friday night took tricolette piece goods and finished dresses to the value of $6,500. Goods of inferior quality were left. The thieves got in through the skylight and departed by the front door. The police believe they climbed the fire escape of another building and made their way across roofs to the dress company's building. A skylight was broken and the front door "jimmied." The police found a hand print of one of the thieves and photographed it.

Morris Rosengardt, in the woolen business at 122 Bleecker Street, reported that some time on Saturday night his place was entered and forty bolts of woolen material valued at $5,000 taken. A detective found the loot hidden under boards in a yard used for storing wool.

The police of the West Twentieth Street Station have $30,000 worth of clothing stolen Monday night from the loft of Licht & Schlissenger, 18 Washington Place. It was identified by a member of the firm. Detective Sergeant Carmody and several detectives of the West Twentieth Street Station found the clothing yesterday morning, they said, in the basement of the tenement house at 454 West Twenty-sixth Street, soon after neighbors saw the clothing removed from an automobile truck by four men.

While they were investigating, the detectives said, they noticed Paul Rimtrona, 21, of 203 Bay Seventeenth Street, Brooklyn, about ten feet from the tenement. One of the tenants, they said, informed them that Rimtrona drove the automobile truck from which the clothing was removed. Rimtrona was arrested on suspicion of being concerned in the larceny and the clothing was removed to the station in two patrol wagons.

Joseph Gresham, a driver employed by Russell & Co., truckmen, reported that two men had stolen his team and truck, with a load of merchandise valued at $9,000, from in front of the Cunard line dock at the foot of Eighteenth Street. He said he was in the office of the steamship company when two men drove the truck away. The detectives accompanied Gresham to the pier, where they found the truck, but one of the cases of merchandise, valued at $3,500, was missing. Several men in the neighborhood told the detective that a few minutes before he appeared two men drove the truck to the spot and ran away. The detective obtained descriptions of the men.

Two Held as Bank Bandits.

After witnesses in the Flushing Police Court yesterday had identified two men as having participated in an attempted hold-up at the Corona branch of the Bank of the Manhattan Company a week ago, they were held for the Queens Grand Jury by Magistrate James J. Conway in $15,000 bail each. They were Abe Weinberg, 22, of 63 East Ninety-ninth Street, and Harry Friedman, 22, of 52 East 103d Street. They offered no defense. They were locked up in the Queens jail at Long Island City.

The National Surety Company announced yesterday that Robert Cossa and Nicholas Giorna, messengers employed by the Bank of Naples, 524 Broadway, were awarded $250 each for their bravery in fighting off two bandits who attempted to hold them up while they were carrying $60,000 of the bank's cash at Broadway and Prince Street on the morning of June last.

Giorna drew a pistol on the robbers when they began to throw pepper in Cossa's eyes, and after firing several shots at them ran into the Metropolitan Bank and threw the bag containing the money over the partition. Then he returned to the street and resumed firing at the bandits, who were caught by a policeman.

BRITISH SENTENCE SINN FEIN SMUGGLER

MESSAGES READ IN COURT

LONDON, July 13.—William Barry, an Irish fireman on the steamship New York, pleaded guilty in the Bow Street Police Court here this morning to infringing the Defense of the Realm act by bringing in from America arms, ammunition and a number of letters. The letters were from Irish revolutionists and were intended for ultimate delivery to Arthur Griffith, organizer of the Sinn Fein, and other Sinn Fein chiefs in Ireland. Barry was sentenced to two months' imprisonment.

When Barry was first arraigned on July 6 it was stated that he had, besides the letters, two pistols and nearly 300 rounds of ammunition.

When arrested at Southampton on July 2 Barry declared the pistols, ammunition and letters were given to him by an unknown man for delivery at a Liverpool address which he claims was lost. The Magistrate in passing sentence said the prisoner appeared to be part of a system regularly employed to convey communications between revolutionary leaders in Ireland and their agents and sympathizers in America.

The letters presented to the Court comprised a covering letter signed "John" and addressed to "Michael," who the Police say presumably is Michael Collins, Sinn Fein member of Parliament for Cork; three letters addressed to Arthur Griffith, two of them signed "James O'Mara" and the other signed "Noonan;" one addressed to "McSweeney," whom authorities identify as the Mayor of Cork and Commandant of the Cork Brigade of the Republican Army, signed "Peter," who is thought to be the Mayor's brother, and another letter signed "Noonan" and addressed to "Michael."

The letters reported the failure of the Irish to obtain the inclusion of their plank in the platform adopted at the Republican National Convention in Chicago and commented on the split between the Cohaltan and de Valera groups. Noonan's covering letter, dated New York, June 21, said:

"Another man will be going to London Wednesday; will send more news then."

Noonan's letter to Griffith recounted incidents prior to, during and since the Chicago Convention. This letter, he said, was written at the instance of de Valera. O'Mara's letters to Griffith stated that efforts to get the Irish plank into the Republican platform were thwarted because "ground undermined by Cohalan group by introduction of resolution of mere sympathy," and said Cohalan, Devoy, Diarmud, Lynch and Richard Dalton were identified with this group.

One of the letters, signed "Peter" and addressed to "Terry," paid tribute to de Valera's efforts on behalf of the Irish and assailed Devoy. It asked that de Valera be bolstered through passage of a vote of confidence by the Dail Eireann (Irish Republican Parliament).

A letter purportedly written by "Noonan" to "Michael" said:

"Am sending by this delivery two parcels, one containing 400 rounds of 9 mm. auto., the other containing three automatic revolvers, forty-eight rounds filling for same, two spare magazines and leather case. Will send more Wednesday."

A copy of de Valera's statement to the press, dated June 18, regarding the Chicago developments was appended to one of the letters.

WILL SELL MUMM'S WINES.

France Will Auction Off 8,000,000 Bottles of Confiscated Champagne.

PARIS, July 13.—Eight million bottles of champagne will be among the items on the lists of commodities to be placed on sale Jan. 28, when the sequestered property of Baron Walter de Mumm will be auctioned off. This property was seized in 1915 subsequent to the Baron's resumption of German citizenship when the war began.

The number of bottles in the Baron's cellars in the vicinity of Rheims, where the sale will take place, was greatly diminished during the war. When General Ludendorff was making his furious drives toward Rheims and Epernay, the wine cellars were used as shelters for the troops, and the men drank almost priceless wine with their meals.

In addition to the bottled wines there are 500,000 liters of wine in casks, these being stored in warehouses, mansions and cottages, as well as secret hiding places beneath vineyards in the champagne country.

NIKOLAIEVSK STORY TOLD BY AMERICAN

PRAISES CHINESE EFFORTS

WASHINGTON, July 13.—A graphic picture of the situation leading up to the massacre of Japanese at Nikolaievsk, in Northeastern Siberia, and the destruction of that place by fire and explosives at the hands of anarchist forces headed by Trapitsin is given in a lengthy cable report received by the State Department today from the American Consulate General at Vladivostok. Trapitsin claimed to be acting under orders from Moscow.

The cable message was dated July 7, and stated that a Japanese transport had just reached Vladivostok bringing refugees from Nikolaievsk. Among the refugees were the American citizens Mr. Dyer and wife, and Messrs. Freeman and Lee, all of whom were well.

"The transport also brought seven British, seven French and 425 Russian refugees," said an official State Department announcement issued tonight. "Mr. Dyer is reported to have stated that on Jan. 21, the first actual fighting at Nikolaievsk occurred between Japanese and retreating White Guards and anarchist forces under Trapitsin, who wore black red-bordered insignia, and claimed to be under orders from Moscow. At that time Mr. Dyer was arrested while traveling from Nikolaievsk to the mines and after being held four days, during which time the mines were nationalized, he and his assistants were forced to work for the so-called Government.

"The Nikolaievsk fortress surrendered about the middle of February and the City of Nikolaievsk at the end of February. Mr. Dyer stated that on April 4 he was again arrested along with his Chinese contractor and five Russian employes and held on a charge of being a counter-revolutionist and "bourgeois." He stated that the Russians were executed but that he and the Chinese were released after twenty-four hours through the good offices of the Chinese Consul and the commander of the Chinese gunboats. He was ordered to work as a common laborer under threat of being shot.

Japanese Try an Attack.

"The Japanese were ordered by Trapitsin on March 10 to surrender by 12 o'clock on March 12. According to Mr. Dyer, the Japanese, being afraid to trust the promises of the Russians, surrounded the Russian staff at 5 o'clock on the morning of March 11, fired the building and attacked and killed or wounded many Russians as they tried to escape. The Japanese were driven into their barracks by the 12th of March and on March 15 134 survivors surrendered.

"Mr. Dyer stated that before the fighting commenced on March 11 the jails had been filled by Trapitsin with people who were accused of being counter-revolutionists, bourgeoisie and spies. All these were marched by Trapitsin to the Amur River and were killed on the night of the 13th. In this way executions without trial had occurred and they continued until the forces commanded by Trapitsin left the district. During the fighting which continued from the 11th to the 15th noncombatants, men, women and children, were killed, except five Japanese women who were hidden by their Chinese husbands.

"During April the position of the foreigners at the mines, particularly that of Mr. Dyer, who had been former manager, became extremely dangerous, and permission to remove to Nikolaievsk was refused to all of them, except Mr. Dyer, on the ground that the others were needed to prepare the dredges for operation. When Dyer arrived at Nikolaievsk he was detained two days before he was allowed access to the Chinese Consul, demands being made that he serve in the Red-Black Army. This Mr. Dyer refused to do. He finally agreed to write a mining report, whereupon he was permitted to go to the Chinese Consulate, where he lived until May 23 working on the report.

"On May 22 Mr. Dyer stated that he overheard a conference between Trapitsin and Nina, the Chinese Consul, and Captain Mow of the Chinese gunboat, in which Trapitsin demanded the cooperation of the Chinese against the Japanese. This was refused, Captain Mow stating that he would maintain neutrality toward the Japanese just as he had toward the Red and White Russians.

"Trapitsin then asked that the Chinese evacuate Nikolaievsk and assist in evacuating the Russians, stating that the town was to be destroyed. The request was refused, but on May 24 the Chinese did evacuate to Mago, twenty miles up the river. Here they and other foreigners were protected by the Chinese gunboats, whose personnel not only assisted the Americans to reach Mago, but made every effort to make them comfortable in the warehouses where they had to live.

"Mr. Dyer stated further that during the conference at the Chinese Consulate the Chinese expressed the hope that the Japanese prisoners held by Trapitsin would be treated as prisoners of war and not harmed, and this Trapitsin agreed, stating that he would take the Japanese prisoners up on the Amgun River. After the conference, however, being doubtful of the oral assurances given by Trapitsin, the Chinese Consul and Captain Chen, who commanded the Chinese fleet, sent a written request concerning the treatment of Japanese prisoners, which Trapitsin acceded to by telephone.

"Immediately following the Chinese evacuation of Nikolaievsk, the troops commanded by Trapitsin began new attacks, and on the night of May 24 they set fire to the jail and put to death all of the 134 Japanese prisoners, stating that the jail had been fired by the Japanese themselves.

"The destruction of the city by fire and explosives continued over the 26th until only about 100 out of 4,000 buildings remained. Trapitsin then fled up the Amgun River with his band, having lost about 500 men. All other Russians had been killed except a few who had escaped to the forest and a few others who were smuggled into the Chinese settlement.

"Mr. Dyer stated that John Freedman, a British subject, was executed as a counter-revolutionist. He added that he believes he might have met the same fate had it not been for the protection of the Chinese, due to which no Americans were killed. He stated that he was positive that the Chinese at all times have been absolutely neutral, although it was true that Trapitsin's band contained both Chinese and Korean bandits."

HINDENBURG ESCAPES ASSASSIN IN HIS HOME

Assailant Fires at German Field Marshal, Misses Him and Then Flees.

BERLIN, July 13.—An unknown man broke into Field Marshal Hindenburg's house today and fired at him.

The bullet missed its mark and the man escaped.

The Field Marshal was alone at the time and attempted to call a servant. The intruder grappled with the Field Marshal, and during the struggle fired his revolver. The culprit then broke away and made his escape.

Grasshoppers Invade City, Cost Michigan $1,000,000

TRAVERSE CITY, Mich., July 13.—Grasshoppers, which have been devastating farm crops in this district, invaded Traverse City today. Thousands of the insects swarmed through the streets, both in the residential and business sections. Damage to crops by the insects has been estimated as high as $1,000,000.

REVOLUTION OUSTS RULERS OF BOLIVIA

PRO-PERU PARTY'S VICTORY

LIMA, Peru, July 13.—The latest dispatches available here from La Paz, Bolivia, concerning the revolution against the Government of President José Gutierrez Guerra are to the effect that all the Bolivian troops have recognized the newly formed Government, with the exception of the picked cavalry regiment, known as the Abarow contingent, which is reported to be advancing from Guaqui toward La Paz.

A strict censorship is being maintained and only bare details are available. The revolution apparently was brief. Rapid-fire guns bombarded the palace and the Government offered virtually no resistance.

Bautista Savedra has assumed power, and is said to have appointed José Carrasco, former Bolivian Minister to Brazil, Chancellor.

Newspapers here, in commenting on the news, say the revolution is a "crushing defeat of the pro-Chilean policy pursued by the Bolivian Government, and vindicates the community of interest existing between Peru and Bolivia."

"The revolution," says La Prensa, "constitutes a rude blow to Chilean aspirations, which endeavored to engulf Bolivia within its sphere of influence."

El Tiempo says: "The revolution opens a wide pathway for Peru and Bolivia toward harmony and justice. Peruvian statesmen must now grasp the great historic opportunity. The Bolivians have redeemed their citizenship and national honor."

José Gutierrez Guerra was elected President of Bolivia on May 7, 1917. The Government which has been overthrown was formed on March 15, 1920. Bautista Savedra was formerly Minister of Public Instruction, having been appointed to that office Aug. 13, 1909.

The Bolivian political parties have been sharply divided on the question of the move Bolivia should make to secure her desired seaport. The Liberal Party has taken the position that the port should be Arica, which is united with La Paz by a railroad and is the nearest to present Bolivian territory. The opponents of the Liberal Party, comprising the majority of the Republican Party and even a faction of the Liberals, opposed the Arica idea and desired the reaching of an understanding with Peru, as against one with Chile. They insisted, as did the bulk of the Liberals, that Bolivia should have an outlet to the sea, but they took the view that the port should be Antofagasta, which is also united with La Paz by a railroad, and is situated within the territory taken from Bolivia by Chile in the war of 1879.

Bautista Savedra, who has assumed power, is a Republican, widely known as a historian, and a member of the section of Bolivian political thought which sides with Peru. The new Chancellor, José Carrasco, was Minister of Bolivia to Brazil, but resigned his office recently, declaring publicly that he would not indorse the policy of claiming Arica and announcing himself in favor of Bolivia's seeking to obtain Antofogasta.

AMERICAN ADMIRAL STOPS SPALATO RIOT

Six Persons Reported Killed in Fighting Between Italians and Jugoslavs.

TRIESTE, July 13.—Rear Admiral Philip Andrews, commander of the American warships in the Adriatic, has taken command of the situation at Spalato, Dalmatia, where Jugoslavs and Italians recently clashed during a Jugoslav demonstration.

Three Italian destroyers have arrived at Spalato and Serbian military police are patrolling the streets. Order has been restored.

The advice received today from Spalato state that six persons were killed during the demonstration, which occurred on Sunday.

ROME, July 12.—The American Admiral controlling the coast outside the armistice zone near Spalato, Dalmatia, was responsible for the ending of an encounter that occurred recently between Jugoslavs and Italians in the town of Spalato, it was announced in a semi-official communiqué today. The Admiral intervened, with the local authorities, restoring order.

According to a Zara dispatch to the Giornale d'Italia, a warship anchored in the harbor sent a small motorboat to rescue several Italian officers, who had been attacked, but the boat was fired upon and forced to retreat to the ship. It subsequently returned, accompanied by another boat, but Serbian troops are said to have opened fire on the two. Later the crowds engaged in the demonstration were dispersed by the Serbians. During the fighting a naval Lieutenant and three sailors were wounded and a mechanic was killed.

WASHINGTON, July 13.—No report of the killing of an American officer during street fighting at Spalato or the participation by American naval forces in recent disturbances there has been received at the Navy Department.

LONDON, July 13.—The estate of the late Empress Eugenie is valued at considerably more than £2,000,000, according to The Daily Mail. Some of the jewels of curious design are considered almost priceless.

The late Empress bequeathed her mansion and her estate at Farnborough, England, to Prince Victor Napoleon and his wife, formerly Princess Clementine of Belgium, according to a Madrid dispatch to The Daily Mail. She also left a considerable sum to Queen Victoria of Spain, who was her god-daughter, the newspaper says.

LONDON, July 13.—Minsk has been captured by Russian Bolshevik forces, according to an official statement received here from Moscow, which says the Soviet troops occupied the town on the morning of July 11.

The communiqué also announces the capture of the town of Svantsiany, thirty-five miles north of Dvinsk and fifty miles northeast of Vilna. The statement continues:

"In the direction of Usohitsa we captured a section of the railway from Gukhevitch station to Bobrovka station. In the Rovno region our cavalry, pursuing the enemy, occupied Olyka village. In the direction of Tarnopol we occupied the station of Charay-Ostroff (fifty miles east of Tarnopol), capturing an armored train."

Making Sure of Reorders.

One of the interesting points which the buyers for a large retail organization of stores settle for themselves before placing orders is to get assurances that future purchases of the same article may be made. When "special" prices are made, buyers realize that the manufacturer is usually making up the merchandise from goods bought "at a price." In many cases the materials purchased in this way are not large in quantity and would not permit of future orders being placed. Thus, the store when it desires to replenish its stocks might have to pay a higher price. So, to make sure that supplies are all that will be required, the guarantee is sought that future business can be taken.

Gray Goods Have Fair Day.

Yesterday was one of the most active days the local gray goods market has seen for some time and, although the volume of business done was not large as compared with previous "big" days, it was pretty fair. August-September lots of Eastern 38½-inch 64-60s were sold at 19½ cents, while Southern goods of the same construction, for shipment during next month, brought 18 cents. July deliveries of 38½-inch 60-48s were sold at 17 cents for Eastern makes and 19½ cents for Southern. Spot business in 39-inch 72-76s was done at 24 cents, with "prompt" 56-44s in that width disposed of at 16 cents. Not much was done in other quarters of the market, although some July business was transacted in 5.50-yard sheetings at 14½ cents.

Buying is divided in the women's novelty knit goods field at the moment between goods for immediate delivery, for the August sales and advance orders for Fall, and for delivery in September. The sales goods have something the better of it. In them is a very large representation of surplice effects in fibre silks, although Tuxedos are being taken freely. For Fall Tuxedos are far and away the freest sellers just now. Angora effects are liked also, both in all-angora and in sweaters showing angora trimmings. In both the special sales and Fall orders black, navy and white are the best shades, selling most freely in the order given. A feature of the Fall business done so far is that buyers are not ordering for more than thirty days' delivery at a time.

While it was possible to get information concerning all the lines manufactured, the impression prevailed strongly in the local dress goods market yesterday that the so-called corporation fabrics would not be priced for Spring, as is usually the case, coincident with the annual meeting of the Jobbers' Association of Dress Fabric Buyers in this city. These are staple all-wool and cotton-warp cloths that play a very large part in the dress goods business done by the jobbing and retail trades. It was definitely learned, however, that some of the most prominent lines would not be priced before Aug. 1, and possibly as late as Aug. 15. The reasons given were the same as those advanced for the late showing of Spring men's wear fabrics this year—that time must be given for the market to find some level at which real business can be done.

Buyers Careful This Season.

Not for a long time have ready-to-wear buyers now in this market been more careful about ordering merchandise than they have so far this season. Up to early yesterday afternoon, nine buyers had called on one of the biggest dress and waist concerns here, but not one of them had left an order. They all looked the lines over and said they would be back later. They really were expected to come back, for the house in question has already done considerable business with buyers who had previously gone through the same performance. A very well-known buyer, it was related, who was for a long time known for the rapidity with which he placed his business, called three times at this place before he finally bought a complete assortment. Between hesitant buyers and buyers who are later than usual in coming to market, Fall business is not up to where it was at this time last year. However, it is expected to develop with a rush later on.

GIRLS' TRADE SCHOOL GETS 29 TEACHERS

ALLOTMENTS FOR MUSIC

Twenty-nine full-year teachers for the Manhattan Girls' Trade School were requested by George J. Loewy, Director of Vocational Activities, at yesterday's conference on the school budget for 1921. The request was allowed; also one for three teachers on part time and two new teachers for the Vocational School. He asked for a complete organization of the new textile school, which is not yet giving instruction, and nineteen teachers were allowed.

The representatives of the Board of Estimate said that the salaries of the teacher-clerks of the Girls' Trade School should be paid from the $30,000 obtained by the sale of the products of its pupils, but President Prall of the Board of Education reminded them that Controller Craig had that sum this year for the city and so it is not available. Mr. Loewy estimated the registration for the school for 1921 at 1,200.

George H. Gartland, Director of Music, then made his requests for his department. He asked $44,010 for replacement of new pianos in the schools. He was granted $22,000 for that purpose.

For pianos in new buildings, especially with auditoriums, $33,500 was asked. There are twenty-six such schools. The full sum was granted. He was allowed $7,975 for repairs and similar items and $4,075 for Morris High School, and $9,500 for five additional special teachers.

Director Nifenecker, in the absence of Fannibelle Curtis, presented the wants of the kindergarten department. He said that there would be twelve kindergartens in the greater city, six of them in Manhattan, Brooklyn four, and the Bronx and Queens one each. Buildings for these schools were now being constructed. He asked and received $18,000 for them. For sixteen new kindergartens in buildings to be opened soon $16,250 was granted.

Ernest L. Crandall, Director of Lectures, had his estimates badly cut. In 1920 his bureau had an appropriation of $71,821. He asked for $139,300 for 1921, and received $82,898. For visual instruction $30,000 was allowed, instead of the $100,000 which he requested.

WASHINGTON, July 13.—Regulations for wool warehouses under the United States Warehouse act, recently approved by Secretary Meredith, are now being distributed by the Department of Agriculture.

The act, which is not mandatory, was enacted with a view to bringing about the uniformity of warehouse receipts and making them of the highest collateral value. Such receipts, readily negotiable and generally acceptable as security for loans on wool, will be of definite assistance in financing. They will be issued by the warehouses storing wool to be licensed by and bonded to the Government under the act.

Because the act is entirely permissive in its nature, warehousemen will be licensed only upon their application to the Secretary of Agriculture. By becoming members of the Federal Warehousing System, warehouses acquire a better standing, are more highly regarded by bankers and depositors and the added confidence so created serves to attract additional business of the more substantial and desirable kind.

Parties interested in obtaining the license should address their inquiries to the Chief of the Bureau of Markets of the Department of Agriculture at Washington.

Where Nerve Won Out.

Half of the recent sacrificing of women's ready-to-wear merchandise was unnecessary, according to one of the best-known local dress manufacturers, and due to commercial "cold feet." "While other manufacturers were throwing their goods away during May," he said yesterday, "we had 600 expensive dotted Swiss dresses hanging on our racks. The weather was not right for them, and they appeared deader than all the doornails in creation. Time and time again I was advised to let them go for whatever they would bring and charge the loss up to experience. I did not need money that badly, however, and I let them alone. I sold the last of them a few days ago and, although some of your readers will say 'bull' if you print this, I give you my word that I got the full wholesale price for every one of them."

Summer Cloths Up.

Mohairs, tropical worsteds and other materials used in the manufacturing of men's Summer clothing have all shown advances. In mohairs, the increase amounts to about 10 per cent., and on worsteds between 10 and 20 per cent. more is asked. While the advances have raised some question in the minds of buyers, nevertheless the general feeling is that the mills have squeezed generous profits to legitimate margins. For this reason quite a little business is being taken. The Summer clothing industry, as explained before, has not suffered the slump which has occurred in other branches of the trade. In fact, at the present time there is a scarcity of desirable merchandise of the sort.

Buying at Cheap Prices.

According to a mill representative, who believes that a demand will set in for woolens later on that will send prices up again, there is much to be said in favor of the Wall Street motto which advises purchases when on one else is purchasing. In its entirety, this motto goes: "Buy them when no one else is buying and sell when everybody wants them." Much of the present slump in demand, this mill man believes, is due to psychological reasons which in the past have produced the same result although underlying conditions did not warrant anything but a normal business. Curtailment of production, he said, will only make goods scarce when they are needed

Equitable Treatment for Buyers.

Contrary to the general expectation of buyers, representative worsted spinners see no great drop in prices on their products for the near future. There have, however, been some concessions already made. On 2/40s, for instance, the price reached $5.25, and now there are reported offerings at $3.50. It is said that at the last-named figure amounts suitable for manufacturing in quantity are not available. A more common figure is understood to be $4 and $4.25. Where these reductions have been put in force, the spinners are not only making the allowance on yarns now being sold but upon past shipments. This is done in order to put all customers on the same basis.

Work for a Clocker.

In the opinion of a wholesaler, who lately has had many hurried calls from retailers for small quantities to fill in, it would be good business for a store to "clock" the number of people visiting the establishment. He believes that many sales are being lost because customers cannot find what they want, since many stores are trying to force out undesirable goods with which they are overstocked. By numbering the people who go into the store a fair idea of the proportion of sales to visitors might be obtained, and at the same time a knowledge of whether the customers were being actually satisfied.

FINANCIAL MARKETS

Short Selling Aids in Further Depression of Stocks—Money Rates High.

Stocks were under fairly persistent selling pressure yesterday until the last half hour of trading brought a moderate rally from lowest quotations. At times there were signs of speculative purchases of railroad issues, which were not, however, as potent in stabilizing the industrial group as on Monday. Taken as a whole, the rails and industrials were equally in disfavor on the long side and it looked as though short sellers gained confidence as the day advanced. The final rally was not sufficient to prevent a wide distribution of net declines extending from large fractions to 2 points. An exception was supplied by the Mexican oil issues on the Stock Exchange, Mexican Petroleum and Pan-American Petroleum and Transport shares standing out with noteworthy gains. As other oil shares were uncertain in their movements, at best, it appeared as though trading in shares of properties located south of the border was stimulated by expectations of more satisfactory treatment by the Mexican Government under the present régime than during the last years of Carranza's control.

As the market tended lower, the volume of trading declined somewhat in comparison with the turnover of Monday and the more active days of last week. It seemed as though the trading element had lost much of the interest which became evident early in the month when the price list showed strength in the face of high money rates. It is to be said that the market this week is considering a phase of the industrial outlook which, while apparent for some time, has not been emphasized until the last few days. This is comprised in the continued reports of coal shortages in localities where great manufacturing plants are located. As the fuel situation may be analyzed chiefly in terms of insufficient railroad transportation, the former is to be considered in close relation to credit. Widespread curtailment of plant operation is considered in Wall Street comment as possible, but whether or not this actually occurs it is certain that the railroad factor continues to keep a vast amount of credit tied up in commodities which cannot be moved fast enough. Both of these influences, coupled with apprehension of tight credit conditions in the Autumn, are evidently working to make buyers of stocks decidedly cautious and are supplying professional traders with material for putting out lines of short sales.

Call money remained at 8 per cent., the same as on Monday and time funds were in decidedly meager supply. Through error in examination of reported loan rates, it was stated in this comment yesterday that there had been offerings of time money as low as 7½ per cent. There actually has been no change this week, bidders at 8½ and ½ per cent. uncovering very little money and signs of easement are yet to be discovered. The Government is scheduled to withdraw about $11,000,000 of bank deposits on Thursday, this amount representing practically all existing balances at New York. On that day payment by subscribers is due on the latest offering of Treasury certificates, about $200,000,000 for the country, and the Treasury is to retire nearly $84,000,000, old certificates. These transactions are not large in comparison with the recent income tax and certificate operations, but in a tense credit period their influence is hardly conducive to easier collateral loan rates.

Sterling exchange declined further and Continental rates also receded slightly, the movement evidently reflecting an expansion of exports in the last few days. At 3.92⅝ signi drafts on London were seven-eighths of a cent lower than the day before, the rate being the lowest since around the middle of June.

WILL SUE FOR SHIP'S LOSS.

Government to Ask $1,000,000 for Sinking of the Lake Frampton.

Announcement was made yesterday at the offices of the Admiralty Board in the Custom House that a libel suit for $1,000,000 will be filed by Francis Gaffney, United States Attorney for the Southern District, on behalf of the United States Shipping Board against the Southern Pacific Company for the loss of its freighter Lake Frampton, sunk by the Southern Pacific passenger steamship Comus early Monday morning off Atlantic City.

Officers and crew of the Lake Frampton and Comus appeared before Captain G. T. Charlton and J. L. Crone of the Local Board of United States Steamboat Inspection yesterday and testified in the investigation to determine which vessel was at fault in the disaster.

MEXICO ACCEPTS OIL MEN'S TERMS

VILLA GAINING ADHERENTS

Washington Reports Discredit the Statement That the Bandit Is in Desperate Situation.

MEXICO CITY, July 13.—The Government has accepted in principle the definite proposals of the representatives of the petroleum interests, according to the Universal today.

No final agreement will be reached, however, the newspaper says, until the conference on Saturday next between Provisional President de la Huerta and the oil men.

General Jesus H. Guarjardo, leader of an insurrection in the Laguna region, has been defeated by Federal troops, and is fleeing, having been abandoned by most of his men.

Brigadier General Pablo Gonzales, another rebel leader, has been defeated at Sabinas Hidalgo, in the State of Nuevo Leon, and is in flight, according to the Excelsior.

All private banks in Mexico will be permitted to become integral parts of the National banking system, according to a statement made by Manuel Padres, Under-Secretary of the Treasury, in an interview printed by the newspaper Universal today.

Reports reaching this city indicate that the receipt of Mexican newspapers in the United States has given rise to rumors that the censorship is again in operation. This was due to the fact that large blank spaces appeared in several issues of journals printed here.

Publishers of this city explain these blank spaces by saying that the United States postal laws forbid the circulation of newspapers carrying lottery advertisements, and special editions, from which these advertisements have been withdrawn, were printed for subscribers across the international frontier.

The newspapers print today what purports to be a copy of a letter from Heinrich von Eckhardt, former German Minister to Mexico, to the late President Carranza. The letter, dated at Hamburg Nov. 10, 1919, reads in part:

"Respectful thanks for your greetings, which have been my only joy since I left your country. Dr. Krum Heller (former advisor to President Carranza) has had much success regarding relations with Mexico and I think he can do much for emigration to Mexico.

"The situation here is difficult, but I think we shall soon overcome our obstacles and that the Nation will be as strong as ever. What is happening in Europe today is not final. Great modifications are expected and we hope that Mexico, guided by your strong hand, will continue our friend."

Doubt That Villa Is Surrounded.

WASHINGTON, July 13.—Reports from Mexico City that Francisco Villa had been surrounded and that his capture was imminent were not credited today in Mexican circles here.

A courier from Villa's camp, who is on his way to New York, where an important Villista conference is being held, was in Washington today with a report that Villa was gaining recruits rapidly among the minor chieftains opposed to the present regime in Mexico.

The courier said that within a month sixty-five military and civil leaders had declared their adherence to the Villista movement and promised their aid. Each of these chieftains has from 26 to 100 men, according to the courier.

RISE FOR STEEL WORKERS.

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, July 13.—Sheet workers will get an increase of 20 per cent. in wages as a result of the bi-monthly examination of selling prices held here today. It was announced by J. H. Nutt, acting for the Independent Sheet Manufacturers and M. F. Tighe, president of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers.

The wage agreement of the Amalgamated is on a sliding scale, based on selling prices of sheets, and is revised bi-monthly. The average selling price for sheets for the last two months was found to be $5.75 per 100 pounds and both this price and the resulting wages are said to be the highest ever paid in the industry. The settlement affects many non-union mills which base their scales on the union scale.

Crop Price Level Drops 1.7 Per Cent.

WASHINGTON, July 13.—The "level of prices" paid farmers for principal crops decreased about 1.7 per cent. during June, according to a report issued today by the Department of Agriculture.

On July 1, however, the report added, the index figure of prices paid farmers was still more than 20 per cent. higher than a year ago, 37 per cent. higher than two years ago and 102.5 per cent. higher than the ten-year average.

REDFIELD'S FIRM SUES FOR $5,000,000

HAD DEAL FOR MEXICAN OIL

William C. Redfield, former Secretary of Commerce, and Harley P. Wilson, who are in the oil brokerage business as the firm of Redfield & Wilson, at 50 Broad Street, filed suit in the Supreme Court yesterday against the National Petroleum Company for $5,000,000 damages.

The plantiffs allege that the oil company broke a contract to deliver to them 2,000 barrels of crude oil daily at Tampico, Mexico, beginning July 1, at 45 cents a barrel. They say the contatrc was perpetual and was made Jan. 28 last. The oil was to be delivered from the Barragan lease of forty acres near Vera Cruz, Mexico, and the contract price was to fluctuate as Mexican taxation rose and fell.

The complaint states that although the delivery was to be 2,000 barrels a day Redfield & Wilson could call for up to 5,000 barrels a day at the end of two years. The contract was to continue during the life of the wells on the Barragan property and was to apply to wells driven during the life of the contract as well as in existence when it was made. The contract was broken on March 26, the complaint states, when the defendant gave notice that it had made other arrangements for the disposition of the oil.

Service of the papers was made on O'Brien, Boardman, Harper & Fox, attorneys for the defendant.

Japan's Foreign Trade Declines.

WASHINGTON, July 13.—Japan's foreign trade for June showed the lowest unfavorable balance for any month since January, imports of $109,000,000 exceeding exports by $28,000,000. Compared with the preceding month, June exports decreased $15,000,000, while imports fell off $37,000,000.

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

Stocks Again Reactionary.

Stock market prices declined further yesterday, following another period of heavy profit taking sales. It is, however, clear that the professionals are not playing the long side. They started the tide upward early last week and quite a public following was drawn to the market. Prices having gained ground, the professionals have shifted their position and are once more playing the part of raiders. Apparently the professionals have no very lasting faith in the ability of the present market to cope with high money and other untoward conditions. Either this is the case or the play on the bear side is simply a diversion of the moment, designed to turn into something real the paper profits which have accrued. Even the most optimistic have all along been loath to predict a long continued rise in the present state of the market. Also there are few willing to make predictions as to whether the rally has come to an end. If it has, volume of business should gradually taper off and prices ease back to something in the neighborhood of the levels which prevailed before the upturn commenced. This applies particularly to the industrial stocks. The rails, having been in a thoroughly liquidated condition, are rather apart from the general run of issues and not a few expect to see them give a good account of themselves during the next few months.

The decline in prices during the last two trading days has been in part attributable to raids. It is not long since that raiding was an art that seemed to have gone out of favor. This was because the market was in such a thoroughly liquidated state that short selling did not succeed in its purpose to loosen holdings of long stock. A different condition exists now. The rise which the market has had has undoubtedly added to the number of weak holders of stocks who are in a hurry to let go of the line when it appears that paper profits are endangered. This condition makes raiding profitable.

Turnover in Stocks.

Some interesting figures have been compiled by Dow, Jones & Co. showing the turnover in certain of the more important trading issues for the first half of the year. The volatile character of some of the issues is shown by the fact that Baldwin, for instance, was traded in to the extent of approximately 7,500,000 shares during the first six months of this year. This total is 37.4 times the common capital outstanding. Studebaker was turned over 8.9 times, while United States Steel was traded in to the extent of 1.7 times the outstanding common capital. Pierce Arrow was turned over 9 times, the trading being about on the scale that ruled during 1919. The activity in the rails during this year, as compared with 1919, is shown by the fact that the turnover in Reading for the first six months of this year has been 2,000,300 shares, while during all of 1919 there was a turnover of only 650,000 shares in excess of the present half year total.

Tomorrow will see some more large Government operations in the money market. The Treasury, which has about $11,000,000 now on deposit with local banks, will withdraw all of this, but against these withdrawals the local banks will gain deposits to the extent of their subscriptions to the new six and eight months' certificates, and the banks will also gain through the redemption of the $33,903,000 in three-months 5 per cent. certificates, which mature tomorrow. Of this issue $33,039,500 were sold in this district. As the money the Treasury realizes on the new offering will in all probability remain with the banks for some days at least, there should be a somewhat easier tone in the call money market, if nowhere else.

The Anglo-French Loan.

A report cabled from abroad yesterday which stated that France had withdrawn objections to Britain's opening trade relations with Soviet Russia in return for England's taking over of the French "portion of the Anglo-French loan" could not be verified by bankers in close touch with the foreign Governments. No one, however, would say that the report might not be true. As for payment of the obligation, that is taken as a matter of course, although it has been intimated that one or the other of the two foreign nations might do a relatively small amount of new financing here about the time the loan falls due. This will depend, it was said, upon the state of the money market, as well as the market for foreign securities.

Foreign Bonds.

The rather unusual success of the Swiss Government offering of $25,000,000 twenty-year 8 per cents., which went on the board yesterday and sold at 102⅜, with some odd lots selling above 103, has caused many people to believe that the market has at last "got right" for foreign bonds. Whether this is so or not hardly can be said just yet. The Swiss offering was extraordinary in many respects, and the sharp advance to the present substantial premium may be due in part to a technical condition brought about by the unwise sale by persons who expected the offering price to be "cracked" as soon as the bonds appeared in the market. But, at all events, the bankers who brought out the Swiss bonds should, as doubtless they do, feel pretty well satisfied with their work.

Profits Taxes.

Word that the British House of Commons had rejected the proposal to reduce excess profits levies from the present basis of 60 per cent. to the basis of 40 per cent. was not received with any great joy in the financial district. Even the Government's announcemet that onlyl 40 per cent. would be asked next year failed to stimulate enthusiasm, for it was hoped England would set the pace in reducing excessive and extraordinary taxes, just as she had set the pace in assessing them.

Call Money Plentiful.

So far as could be ascertained there was no paucity of money available for call funds yesterday. The rate stood at 8 per cent. throughout the day, and after the close of business it was reported that not all of the funds offered had been taken up. Time money remained as firm as usual at unchanged rates. The report circulated yesterday that time rates had declined to 7@7½ per cent. was an error.

Foreign Exchange Quotations.

B. A. Duis, Vice President of the National City Bank, who has been most active in the movement to change the system of quoting Latin exchanges in terms of cents, announced yesterday that a sufficient number of institutions dealing in foreign exchange had agreed to the proposal to make it virtually the rule and that the new system would go into effect tomorrow. There has been opposition to the change, but it was based mainly on the objection of having two sets of quotations. Now that a majority of dealers have agreed to the change it is expected it become the nation-wide practice within a short time.

The Bank of Germany.

The Bank of Germany keeps on pumping out bank notes at a great rate. In the most recent statement, that of June 30, the increase for the week was 2,318,602,000 marks, making the total increase for the month 3,958,350,000 marks, which is the greatest, with the exception of March, when the increase was 4,136,021,000 marks, of any month thus far reported. Since the beginning of the year the increase has been 12,276,927,000 marks, which is greater than the outstanding total at the time of the armistice, which was 17,454,320,000 marks. The increase since the armistice has totaled 36,520,966,000 marks, making the present total 53,975,286,000 marks, and if the present rate of expansion is continued to the end of the current year the total will be in the neighborhood of 75,000,000,000 marks, with only about 1,000,000,000 marks gold cover to protect them.

On an Unusual Basis

We suggest the 6% Gold Bond of an important railway for semi-speculative investment purposes. The road is one of the few that earned more than the government guarantee during 1919. There is every reason to believe that under the Esch-Cummins Law the position of the road will be materially strengthened.

DAY OF BUS LINES PAST, SAY EXPERTS

PUBLIC OPINION CHANGING

Cities Using Unrestricted Jitneys Must Revert to Electric Cars Again, Says J. H. Pardee.

Efforts to supplant electric railway transportation with the motor bus are doomed to failure, according to some experts who have studied the subject. It is their belief that the motor bus service can be nothing more than an adjunct to the electric railways.

In commenting on the situation, John H. Pardee, President of the American Electric Railway Association, writing in The Electric Railway Journal, says both Mayor Couzens of Detroit, himself an automobile maker, and Henry Ford have shown a preference for the track transportation system in preference to the so-called "jitney" service.

"I have no fear," he says, "that the motor vehicle will intrude itself into the situation to an extent that will imperil the usefulness of electrical transportation upon tracks. Nowhere in the United States is the motor vehicle giving a complete system of local transportation in any but the very small communities. Faced with the choice between street railways and the jitney, the Massachusetts cities served by the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railways have unanimously decided in favor of the former and have eliminated the latter from streets. I have no doubt that the City of Bridgeport will make a similar choice.

"Those cities in which unrestricted jitney competition is now permitted must, in my opinion, soon make a similar choice. I do not believe the electric railways can hamper the development of the motor vehicle. I do not believe that it should do so if it could. I do believe, however, that the motor vehicle has no greater rights than the electric car and that it should not, and ultimately will not, on its part, be permitted to interfere with electric railway development.

"There is almost unanimous opinion among those who are familiar with electric railway affairs, and I speak now not of the owners and operators of the properties, but of those who represent the public in the regulation, that local transportation should be a strictly regulated monopoly. Only in this way can the communities receive that full and efficient service to which they are entitled. To introduced into the situation the element of competition is to revolutionize the entire theory upon which the relations of the companies and communities are based, and to make necessary an entirely different policy in the treatment of all transportation utilities."

Mr. Pardee says the experience in those cities where jitneys are most widely used has hown that service is not improved, but that there is a surplus of service on certain routes and a dearth of transportation on the less-frequented highways. A change, he asserts, is taking place in the public mind, whereby the appreciation of electric transportation is becoming more general.

There is understanding that the companies are in distress in many cases, says Mr. Pardee, and that relief must be accorded. Not only is the attitude of the public becoming more friendly to the electric systems, but the viewpoint of city authorities, the traction man finds, is changing in response to popular demand.

The Colonial Days

are long since passed, when sugar, at 75c a pound, was a luxury found only on the tables of the rich.

Sugar is now a world necessity, with demand everywhere outstripping supply.

The possibilities in American sugar securities during this period of world shortage — which may last for years—should be fully appreciated.

Send to-day for letter T-35, which indicates what we may expect of them.

Your July Funds

This July, through the payment of hundreds of millions of dollars in interest and dividends, and the high price at which real estate and other property may be turned into cash, combined with the unusually low prices at which bonds are selling, offers to an unusually large number of persons a great investment opportunity.

Your Problem of making the wisest or most profitable use of your funds involves, we believe, your considering at this time the high, safe incomes for years obtainable from bonds.

An exceptionally broad selection of high-grade bond issues is offered in our July List of Recommendations describing over 150 issues of

Municipal Bonds yielding 5% to 6%
Railroad Bonds yielding 6% to 7½%
Foreign Government Bonds yielding 7% to 8%
Long Term Corporation Bonds yielding 7% to 8%
Short Term Bonds and Notes yielding 7½% to 8½%

HELP RAILROADS WITH NEW LOANS

EQUIPMENT NEEDS MET

WASHINGTON, July 13.—New loans to railroads of the country amounting to $17,022,273 were approved today by the Interstate Commerce Commission, making an aggregate of $22,086,875 so far certified to the Secretary of the Treasury for payment out of the $300,000,000 "revolving fund" provided by the Transportation act.

A loan of $135,000 was approved for the Aransas Harbor Terminal Railway, for the reconstruction of a considerable portion of its line between Aransas Pass and Port Aransas, Texas, which was damaged by a hurricane. The reconstruction of the road, the Commission says, will make available a port for shipments of oil from Mexico.

The Carolina, Clinchfield & Ohio Railway was granted a loan of $2,000,000 to assist it in financing "immediately pressing maturities," the commission announced, adding that a heavy coal tonnage was carried by the road.

For the Bangor & Arrostook Railway a loan of $200,000 was approved. The commission pointed out that "the road handles a very large tonnage of wood pulp, which is manufactured into newsprint paper."

The Illinois Central Railroad is to receive a loan of $4,511,750 for the purchase of rolling stock, including 1,000 refrigerator cars for the transportation of perishable food products.

Loans of $4,446,523 to the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad and $235,400 to the Salt Lake & Utah Railroad also were approved. Both of these loans are to enable purchase of additional equipment.

Reliable Information

THIS is a familiar phrase often found at the bottom of many advertisements of securities. No house selling securities can guarantee them to the investor. They don't need to if the information relative to the security is reliably passed upon by those who make a specialty of Valuations and Investigations

Ford, Bacon & Davis Service does just this. It provides the means of ascertaining the facts and making a valuation that can be accepted as reliable. Its name used as the source of a Valuation or Report establishes confidence and adds to the selling power of a security.

6% PRUDENCE-BONDS

If You Can!

Fourth, we lend conservatively and through amortization have large equities all the time.

Fifth, we guarantee with every dollar of our resources every dollar of your resources that you invest in Prudence-Bonds.

There are other exclusive features in Prudence-Bonds, but suppose you try to punch holes in these for a start.

If you can't do it, send for us, and if you can do it, send for us, because we want to know about it.

Do You Worry Over Your Investments?

THERE ARE tens of thousands of investors who do. If you are one of them, you will find it profitable to investigate investments that will free you from worry and anxiety, and give you the peace of mind which every client of this House knows.

These investments are the first mortgage bonds, safeguarded under the Straus Plan. They combine safety and assurance of prompt payment of both principal and interest in cash when due, with freedom from market fluctuations and declines in value.

Investigate. A letter or postcard or a telephone call will bring you literature describing these securities in full and telling why and how they will free you from investment cares. Ask for our July Investment Guide, which lists a well diversified variety of sound bonds in $1,000 and $500 amounts, yielding 6% with 4% Federal Income Tax paid. Specify

High Grade Railroad Bonds

LONG TERM underlying railroad bonds legal for Savings Banks and Trust Funds and selling 30 points below their pre-war investment values, are available in only limited supply. We believe that at present prices they are an investment purchase.

We have made a careful analysis of several hundred issues and have selected six as worthy of special attention in that at present prices they combine high yield with exceptional security and liberal protection as to earnings even under existing conditions.

NIXON CLAIMS WIDE FARE JURISDICTION

HE ISSUES LIST OF LINES

Public Service Commissioner Lewis Nixon said yesterday that the recent decision of the Court of Appeals made clear that the commission had jurisdiction to change the established rate of fare on all trolley lines within the city except those operating under franchises granted between 1875 and 1907, in which the rate of fare was fixed. He declared the decision a complete victory for the commission and took direct issue with Corporation Counsel John P. O'Brien, who contended that the decision prevented the commission from changing rates of fare without the consent of the Board of Estimate.

Mr. Nixon prepared a list of twenty-four companies in the city whose rates, he said, were within the control of the commission in whole or in part, according to the dates and conditions of their franchises. The companies and the lines over which he declares the commission has control are the following, whose franchises were granted prior to Jan. 1, 1875:

BOROUGH OF MANHATTAN.

BOROUGH OF THE BRONX.

Union Railway Company—On lines operated pursuant to franchise grants to the Harlem Bridge, Morrisania and Fordham Railway Company on Boston Post Road, Kingsbridge Road, through the old villages of West Farms and Westchester, Lincoln Avenue, 138th Street, and a number of other streets in the borough of the Bronx.

BOROUGH OF BROOKLYN.

Brooklyn, Queens County & Suburban Railroad Company—Broadway and Metropolitan Avenue Lines.

BOROUGH OF QUEENS.

BOROUGH OF RICHMOND.

Similiar jurisdiction is claimed over the following companies, whose franchises for the lines indicated were granted since July 1, 1907, when the commission came into existence:

BOROUGH OF BRONX.

Richmond Light & Railroad Company—Fort Wadsworth Extension.

Mr. Nixon made no forecast as to the probable outcome of the commission's claim of jurisdiction further than to say that applications made by the companies for changes in rates would receive proper attention. Mr. Nixon believes that the decision of the Court of Appeals has clothed him with power to disregard the acts of lower courts which have prevented him from considering applications from railroad corporations.

One of the writs obtained by the city stayed him from taking any action on the application of the receivers of the Manhattan & Queens Traction Corporation, which sought more revenue.

"Mr. Farley advises me," said Mr. Nixon, "that the Public Service Commission has the undoubted right to regulate street car fares of all lines constructed under legislative charters or municipal franchises granted prior to 1875, when the constitutional amendment requiring the consents of the local authorities took effect, also that the commission has the undoubted right to regulate fares of all street car lines constructed under municipal franchises granted subsequent to July 1, 1907, the date when the Public Service Commission act took effect. Similarly it also has the undoubted right to regulate fares of lines constructed under municipal franchises granted between 1875 and July 1, 1907, that contained no provision fixing the rate of fare. The full effect of the decision, therefore, is to establish the jurisdiction of this commission over all street railroad rates within the city except for a comparatively small number of important lines constructed under franchises issued between 1875 and July 1, 1907, and fixing, by definite provision, the rate of fare."

From the records of the commission Mr. Nixon learned that prior to Jan. 1, 1875, more than 200 franchises were granted and that more than fifty were granted since 1907.

STAGE COACHES of EARLY NEW YORK

Very early indeed in its career, the Bank of the Manhattan Company sounded the note of progress which has brought it from its beginnings in 1799 with a capital of $2,000,000, to the great Institution of today—with connections all over the world and total resources of more than $250,000,000. Despite the fact that the only communication of the day was by stage coach or post rider, the Bank established Branches in Utica and Poughkeepsie, which were maintained from 1809 to 1819. While by its side, the Merchants' Bank (now merged into the Bank of the Manhattan Company), early formed connections with the Philadelphia Bank, the New York State Bank of Albany, and the Hartford Bank, which relations have remained undisturbed to this day. Beginning with the launching of Robert Fulton's "Clermont" in 1807, and the establishment of a regular schedule via steamboat up the Hudson, communication with Albany was made much easier. Once the way had been shown, steamboat service was quickly extended to other mercantile centers, and in 1819 Colonel John Stevens put into commission the first Trans-Atlantic steam liner. Then about 1830, again due to the genius of Colonel Stevens, began that great railway development which for the first time gave full scope to the keen insight and sound ability of the Bank of the Manhattan Company.

20 PER CENT. RISE FOR CITY EMPLOYES

$600 MAXIMUM DEFEATED

Resolution Designed to Provide Most for Lower Salaried Workers Is Voted Down.

The Board of Aldermen, at a session lasting more than five hours yesterday, the longest in fifteen years, passed resolutions authorizing salary increases for city employes on a 20 per cent. basis. Opposition to the flat percentage increase which, the Republican leaders said, would raise the salaries of the higher paid employes out of all proportion to the amount available for increases, provoked a bitter fight. The Aldermen voter 65 to 2 in favor of the schedules presented and 66 to 1 in favor of the issuance of revenue bonds for $5,256,930 to provide the increases.

Several amendments, introduced by Republican members and looking toward the distribution of a larger proportion to the lower salaried workers, were voted down. The principal amendment, offered by Alderman August Ferrand, the Republican leader, provided for limiting increases to $600, which would cut down the rise for employes receiving more than $3,000 a year and would give more to the lower salaried men.

Fiorello H. LaGuardia, President of the board, spoke in favor of Alderman Ferrand's amendment. The Ferrand amendment received thirty-two votes, but there were thirty-seven against it. The result showed the opponents of the 20 per cent. plan could have defeated the increase, which required a two-thirds vote. Rather than block the increase, however, the Republicans finally joined with the Democrats in passing the resolutions.

President LaGuardia said the purpose of the increase was to give the city employe enough to live on and to make the city "a model employer."

Rise Not Fair, Says Curran.

Henry H. Curran, President of the Borough of Manhattan, said the 20 per cent. increase was not fair to the lower salaried workers, particularly those in the Police and Fire Departments. "This 20 per cent. jumbles up the whole plan," he said. "The chief of the Fire Department gets a raise of $2,000 but the first grade fireman gets only $380. When the Board of Estimate got down to nurses, attendants and helpers in hospitals, they gave them only a 10 per cent. increase, because they received maintenance. They should have got the 20 per cent. and more. They should have got $200 minimum, but they are only increased $22 a year."

Alderman Robert S. Allyn of Brooklyn contended that the schedules as received from the Board of Estimate were illegal, as Section 56 of the Charter provided the salary of no elected official or department head could be increased during his term of office. He referred to the increase of $800 provided for William P. Kenneally, Vice Chairman of the board, and Frank A. Cunningham, Chairman of the Finance Committee, who now receive $4,000, or $1,000 more than the other members of the Aldermanic Board.

President LaGuardia ruled that Alderman Allyn's point was well taken, but Alderman Collins, Democratic leader, appealed from the decision of the Chair on the ground that the two officials had not been elected to their present positions by the people but by the Board of Aldermen itself. Mr. LaGuardia was overruled by a vote of 50 to 7.

$500 Increase Defeated.

An amendment providing for a flat increase of $500 for all employes, introduced by Alderman Vladeck, Socialist, was lost, 61 to 0.

Alderman Collins objected to all of the amendments on the ground that they would penalize the men who had worked themselves up to the higher positions. "I know all of these amendments to be pure bluff," he said. "You won't dare hold up these salary increases or you will have 43,000 city employes on your backs.

"Let's see what this $600 increase above $3,000 amounts to. You have 102 police captains receiving $3,500 a year. Instead of giving them an increase of 20 per cent., you give them $600. This would save you $20,000 to divide among 11,173 employes of the force—an increase of about one-half a cent a day. Under a previous administration the police got an increase of $100 a year. Under this administration they are getting an increase of $750. Every policeman in the service should get down on his bended knees and thank God that he has a man like John F. Hylan Mayor of this city."

The Chile Copper Company in a report for the quarter ended March 31 shows a surplus, after charges, of $1,233,036, or 32 cents a share on the capital stock. In the preceding quarter there was a deficit of $390,016 and in the March quarter of 1919 a deficit of $660,769.

San Juan Dockers End Strike.

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, July 12.—By an agreement reached this afternoon between the striking longshoremen and the steamship companies, the former will return to work tomorrow at their former wages and under the old working conditions. The strike was called on April 20. The steamship companies guarantee that there shall be no discrimination against the strike leaders.

FINANCIAL NOTES.

The American Wholesale Corporation reports net earnings of $2,007,339 in the six months ended June 30, from which $683,694 was set aside to cover Federal taxes. Dividends on the preferred stock required $287,959, leaving a balance of $1,035,775.

Munds, Rogers & Stackpole, members of the Stock Exchange, the New York Cotton Exchange and the Chicago Board of Trade, announce that an office will be opened July 19 in the Grand Union Hotel, Saratoga.

Harris, Forbes & Co. have issued their July bond list, containing over 150 issues of municipal, railroad and foreign Government bonds and corporation bonds and notes yielding from 5 to 8½ per cent.

UNIFORMED MEN PROTEST.

Patrolmen and Firemen Will Ask for $2,500 a Year.

More than 2,000 members of the Patrolmen's Benevolent Association and the Uniformed Firemen's Association last night adopted resolutions asking for a salary of $2,500 a year, and directing that a joint committee petition the Board of Estimate for consideration of this increase in the coming budget. In the discusson that preceded the adoption of the resolution the policemen and firemen contended that if the men in the trades were receiving $10 for an eight-hour day the salary of the patrolmen and firemen should be the same:

The resolutions follow:

"Resolved, That the Patrolmen's Benevolent Association and the Uniformed Firemen's Association, in joint meeting, hereby record the protest of the patrolmen and firemen of the City of New York against the method of distributing the special funds provided by the Legislature for relief of distress among city employes by which larger sums are given to those already better able to meet the high cost of living, and be it

"Resolved, That we record our approval of the stand on the salary question taken by Joseph P. Moran and Albert E. Guinness, Presidents of our respective organizations, as reflecting the overwhelming sentiment of the patrolmen and firemen, and be it

"Resolved, That the thanks of the patrolmen and firemen be extended to the President of the Board of Aldermen and to the President of the Borough of Manhattan for having given voice to the appeal of the lower paid employes before the Board of Estimate and Apportionment."

UNPROFITABLE INDUSTRIES MADE PROFITABLE

Failure of industries to show profits is often due to conditions which if discovered in time can be corrected. An Avram Industrial Investigation is the "acid test" to discover the trouble and effect the cure—and if required, to devise new methods and processes carrying out reorganization and assuming permanent management if necessary for the best interests of the business.

We shall be glad to arrange a conference to discuss these or any phases of our service for bankers, investors, manufacturers.

JULY COTTON RISES TO RECORD OF 40.40

REST OF LIST NEGLECTED

There was a very brisk demand for the July contract in the cotton market yesterday, and the price rose to a new record high of 40.40, which is better than the previous record for the month, made on April 13, by 15 points. Incidentally it was the first time the option had sold at or above 40 cents. Since the break of April 19, and the trade was inclined to make much of this. However, the rest of the market joined in the advance only moderately, the distant options advancing only 5 to 12 points, with the amount of gain diminishing with the maturity date of the contracts, as compared with the 75 point advance in July. Spots were up 50 points to the basis of 41 cents for middling.

The rise in the spot month and the spot contract was due to trade buying, both domestic and foreign, while other options were neglected. As a matter of fact, the rest of the list was unusually dull, with the total range for December, the most active of all late months, within 30 points, while March and May moved less than 20 points in the whole day.

Weather conditions were generally good and private reports on conditions were all that could be asked. But at that the trade is still in much doubt as to what the next Government report will show and this uncertainty found reflection yesterday in a disposition to keep out of the commitments.

Exports were extremely small, amounting to only 166 bales, all out of New York for British ports. For the week to date the exports have been only 8,717 bales, and the outlook, unless the late days of the week show unexpected increases, is for another very poor export week.

Liverpool was quiet and not greatly changed. The situation there was said to be improved because of the belief that foreign trade conditions are bettering. Resumption of trade relations with Russia is expected shortly.

INDICATION OF PORT TRUCE

Longshoremen Expect Settlement if Steamship Companies Are Permitted to Raise Rates.

The strike of 1,000 longshoremen employed by the Oriental Navigation Company on Pier 88, near Forty-sixth Street, North River, which came as a result of the company's refusal to boycott goods brought to its piers by independent trucks, ended yesterday as suddenly as it had begun. The strikers were ordered back to work by the union leaders, who said their contract with the steamship companies must be adhered to.

The return of the men to work gave indications that a truce between the longshoremen and the steamship companies was in sight and that a settlement of the labor troubles which have seriously affected the port for many months might be brought about, provided the steamship companies get permission from the Interstate Commerce Commission to increase freight rates. A ruling from the commission is expected within a few days and, union leaders said, they do not wish to jeopardize the expected increase by failing to carry out their present contracts.

The longshoremen, according to Philip De Ronde, President of the Oriental Navigation Company, were handling all freight yesterday, following their return to work, regardless of its origin. The forty-five boxes of cotton goods the delivery of which by non-union trucks caused Monday's walkout, have been loaded by union men, Mr. De Ronde said.

The United States Shipping Board yesterday telegraphed its indorsement of the action taken by the Oriental Navigation Company. The telegram, which was signed by Commissioner John A. Donald and which was in reply to a telegram sent to Mr. Donald on Monday by Mr. De Ronde, said:

"Telegram received. Shipping Board's policy is not directed against unions, but is in favor of equality of opportunity for employment either for non-union or union men. Your action in refusing to comply with demands of union men working on your docks that union truckmen only shall deliver goods to your dock receives the board's hearty indorsement."

Mr. De Ronde denied reports that the Oriental Navigation Company had refused to receive freight delivered on non-union trucks in an effort to appease the union. "We expect to receive all freight tendered to our steamers," he said. "The manner in which it reaches our docks, the question of whether union or non-union men drive the trucks on which it is conveyed, does not interest us. We are a cargo-carrying concern. Personally, I believe in the 'equal chance for all,' as expressed in the Shipping Board's telegram, and it is a great source of satisfaction to know that the Federal authorities are backing us up in this matter."

The Citizens' Transportation Committee, whose campaign for uninterrupted transportation of all merchandise, regardless of labor disturbances, had brought threats of union action such as the walk-out of Monday, is making an investigation of the walk-out. Legal action is believed to be unlikely, however. Walter Gordon Merritt, Chairman of the Law Committee of the Citizens' Transportation Committee, declined to comment on the position the committee would assume. Officials of the committee expressed satisfaction with the attitude taken by the steamship company.

T. V. O'Connor, President of the International Longshoremen's Association, said the men had returned to work as the result of instructions he had issued. He said he would see to it that the men kept their contracts with the trans-ocean companies.

SALE AT HOTEL MANHATTAN.

Entire Equipment Will Be Sold at Auction, Beginning Today.

The final chapter in the closing of the Hotel Manhattan will begin today, when virtually the entire equipment of the once famous building will be put up at public auction. About 15,000 separate lots are listed, making, it is said, the largest sale of its kind ever attempted in this city. The furnishings and decorations of 711 bedrooms and of all the public rooms, and all china, silver, glassware, linen, electric fixtures and bathroom equipment are included. There are 58,000 yards of carpet to be disposed of.

The bedroom furnishings include the mahogany set of the famous "Presidential suite," where President McKinley made his home when in New York. Though brisk bidding for the Manhattan bar and its fixtures is not anticipated, the final passing of the native lair of the Manhattan cocktail is expected to attract many an enthusiast.

The auction will be conducted by James P. Silo & Son.

APARTMENT TRADING A MARKET FEATURE

Apartment house trading was a strong feature of yesterday's realty market, one of the largest transactions involving 562 to 568 West End Avenue, which was sold by Daniel H. Jackson, an operator, to the L. and J. Realty Corporation, of which Arthur Lobe is President.

The property, which was held at $700,000, consists of a thirteen-story fireproof structure, on a plot 78 by 100 feet, located 22 feet north of Eighty-seventh Street.

It was erected in 1916 by Sumner Gerard and is arranged to accommodate twenty-six families. All the apartments are occupied at present, but a number of leases expire in October, 1920.

Mr. Jackson bought the building and the adjoining building, being the northeast corner of West End Avenue and Eighty-seventh Street, a few months ago from Martha S. Whittauer. The smaller structure is restricted to its present height in order to give permanent light to the larger building. Nassolt & Lanning were the brokers in this transaction.

This is the second large deal on West End Avenue this week. On Monday a syndicate of New York business men, headed by R. S. Monger, purchased 584, 586 and 588 West End Avenue, three three-story and basement private dwellings, on a plot 60 by 100 feet, located between Eighty-eighth and Eighty-ninth Streets. The buyers will erect an apartment house of the California type on the site to cost about $450,000.

Norman Denzer has resold for the Lestol Realty Company to Max Gold and Henry Bernstein the five-story apartment house, on plot 50 by 110, at 75 Northern Avenue. It was held at $95,000.

Buys 115th Street Flat.

The four-story flat at 109 West 115th Street, on plot 25 by 100 feet, has been purchased by Arthur Reich from an estate, represented by A. H. Matthews as trustee. Harry Levy was the broker in the sale.

Fine Yonkers Apartment Sold.

One of the largest apartment houses in Yonkers, being the building known as the Park Hill Apartments, at 242 to 248 South Broadway, has been purchased by a Yonkers investor from Mrs. Elizabeth C. Pomeroy. The structure covers fourteen city lots and has been held at $150,000. It was erected eight years ago by the American Real Estate Company. Fish & Marvin were the brokers.

$250,000 HARLEM SALE.

Clarence H. Kelsey, as administrator of the estate of Mary G. Pinkney, sold to Harris and Maurice Mandelbaum and Fisher and Irving Lewine, operators, seventeen lots on Manhattan Street, running through to West 126th Street. Plans are now in progress for a garage to cover the entire area and it is expected that the building will be ready for occupancy by the first of the year.

The property, which had been in the possession of the Pinkney family for more than seventy-five years, was held at $250,000.

Private House Buyers.

Franklin Pettit purchased from Dr. Dowd the four-story dwelling 127 West Seventy-second Street, on a lot 20 by 100. Koelbe & Schuyler were the brokers.

Charles S. Kohler, Inc., in conjunction with Leroy Coventry, has sold the private dwelling at 142 West Seventy-fourth Street for William L. Kennedy.

The three-story dwelling at 551 West 152d Street, on plot 15 by 99.11, has been purchased by Ennis & Sinnott from Adelia B. Tinkham. The broker in the sale was Charles H. Dubois.

The three-story dwelling at 450 West 153d Street has been sold to a Mrs. Williams. The house covers a site 16.2 by 99.11, abutting the Croton Aqueduct right of way.

New Jersey Deals.

Charles A. Edison has purchased from Mrs. Louis W. Wallner the latter's residence with two acres of land on Bloomfield Way, Llewellyn Park, West Orange. The Payson McL. Merrill Company acted as brokers.

Adelaid De Hart Cook has sold to Arthur C. Thraves her property at Ridgedale Avenue, Madison. It consists of a lot 120 by 350 feet, on which is a large dwelling and outbuildings. Joseph V. Keating was the broker.

Long Island Buyers.

Dr. Samuel Eden has purchased a bungalow on Nottingham Road, Malverne, L. I., through the Amsterdam Development and Sales Company. Other recent buyers at Malverne include William Most, Amy Hawthorne, Lyle La Pine and Charles H. Breunig.

Herman Frankfort has sold for Howard Auerbach to Benjamin Abramson the Auerbach homestead, on Brookhaven Avenue, Wave Crest, on a plot of about one acre.

Long Island City Deal.

The Roman-Callman Company have sold for John Manley the plot containing 7,000 square feet on the west side of Hulst Street, 196 feet north of Foster Avenue, Long Island City. It will be improved with a building to be used as an iron foundry.

Sale in Percy Street.

Joseph De Allesandro, dealer in paper at 291 Hudson Street, has purchased from Agnes Fiorgo, through George W. Mercer & Son, 106 Perry Street, a three-story building, adjoining the southeast corner of Hudson Street. The plot is 25.2 by 96 feet.

Brooklyn Transactions.

The three-story residence at 170 Clymer Street has been resold by the B. F. Knowles Company to a Mr. Tischler.

Realty Notes.

The Audubon Sporting Club of 910 Seventh Avenue has taken title from Lowenfeld & Prager to a vacant plot on the north side of 145th Street, 100 feet west of Lenox Avenue, 175 by 99.11 feet. Plans have been drawn for a boxing arena to seat 6,500 persons by David S. Lang.

L. Tanenbaum, Strauss & Co. were the brokers in the recent sale of the six-story building, 50 by 100, at 193 and 195 Mercer Street for Clara Rose to Abraham Schwartz.

Resale Opposite Ritz-Carlton.

The eight-story commercial structure at 12 and 14 East Forty-sixth Street, on plot 50 by 100.5, opposite the Ritz-Carlton Hotel, has been resold by Henry Mandel to an investment syndicate. Mr. Mandel bought the property a short time ago from Livingston Phelps. It was held at $850,000. Cushman & Wakefield were the brokers.

BRONX LOTS SELL WELL.

More Than $150,000 Obtained by Mr. Day in Afternoon Session.

A striking example of popular interest in city real estate well situated for early home improvement was shown yesterday in the Vesey Street Salesroom when Joseph P. Day opened at noon the auction sale of 1,492 lots in the East Bronx section. More than a thousand persons faced the auctioneer when the call for bids began and there was scarcely any diminution in attendance until the afternoon session closed shortly before 8 o'clock. At that time more than $150,000 had been obtained. A total of 686 lots had been sold for a total of $151,880, averaging about $221 a lot. After a short intermission the sale was continued during the evening and the remaindor will be offered today at the same place.

The largest price for a single lot was $1,800, paid for a choice plot on Gun Hill Road at the junction of Fenton Avenue. The next highest was $1,200. Patrick Hanley bought four lots at that price, a total of $4,800, at the northeast corner of Gun Hill Road and De Witt Place. A lot at the corner of Gun Hill Road, De Witt Place and Morgan Avenue went for $1,000.

The first lot sold was No. 1,449, at the corner of Eastchester Road and Allerton Avenue. It was bought by Henry Weinberg for $600. He also bought the two adjoining lots on Eastchester Road for $325 and $450, respectively. There was very spirited bidding for the Eastchester Road lots, those between Allerton and Arnow Avenues bringing from $425 to $700. A lot at the northeast corner of the road and Arnow Avenue went for $700. The lots on the east side of Arnow Avenue, between Eastchester Road and Fenton Avenue, averaged about $500.

The property was sold for the Eastchester Road Company. It has the advantage of the direct service of the New York, Westchester & Boston Railroad, which has a station at Gun Hill Road, on the property.

The lots have extensive frontages on Gun Hill Road, Burke Avenue, Eastchester Road, Allerton, Mace, Arnow, Wilson, Throop and other adjacent avenues. The property extends to within two blocks of the Bronx and Pelham Parkway and is convenient to the Gun Hill Road and Burke Avenue stations on the White Plains Road subway. One of the largest outlet sewers in New York is being constructed through the property. Harvard University, as a beneficiary under the will of the late Lawrence E. Sexton, who was one of the original purchasers, has a substantial interest in the sale.

As revealing the general interest in the sale the following telegram to Mr. Day from J. F. Dorsey, a New London lawyer, was read prior to the sale.

"Buy two lots, price $200 or lower, for me. Will mail check or have Bank of Commerce remit. I am buying these lots for my little girl and know they will increase in price as she advances in years."

The property is adjacent to the Burke Relief Foundation lots sold last month by Mr. Day.

BUYERS FOR LOFTS.

Two Structures on West Forty-second Street Sold for $275,000.

Sidney L. Warsawer sold for Marion Klinker the six-story and basement modren loft building, 449 and 453 West Forty-second Street, on a plot 60 by 100, to William Birns, Inc.

The purchaser will occupy the entire building for its own business. The building has been occupied since its completion by Park & Tilford as a candy factory and warehouse, and was held at $225,000.

The same broker has also sold the five-story building at 334 West Forty-second Street, on a plot 25 by 100, for The Millblanche Realty Company to Christopher A. Dovas. The buyer will alter this building for his own occupancy. The property was held at $50,000.

Vera I. Schwartz purchased through Horace S. Ely & Co. 40 Union Square, a remodeled four-story and basement business building, 26 by 112.7, situated between Sixteenth and Seventeenth Streets. The property was sold by Frances H. Sackett and others. Its last recorded sale bears the date of March 15, 1877.

The six-story elevator building with two-story rear extension, on plot 26 by 120, at Fifth Avenue, near Twenty-second Street, has been sold by the United States Trust Company, as Trustee, to the Favorita

ELWELL CLUE LEADS POLICE TO CHICAGO

LETTERS REPORTED FOUND

Swann Admits He Still Is Baffled—H. Hobart Porter Fined $250 for Having Whisky.

Although District Attorney Swann yesterday reiterated that no new developments had been uncovered in his Joseph B. Elwell murder investigation, it was learned that the police have been conducting a secret inquiry for several days into the movements of a resident of Chicago—the divorced husband of a woman who has admitted to Assistant District Attorney Dooling intimate relations with the slain turfman and whist expert. The police are now trying to learn whether this man was in New York at the time of the murder.

District Attorney Swann and Mr. Dooling professed to know nothing about the inquiry. They admitted, however, that detectives had conducted many similar inquiries without informing the District Attorney's office.

At Police Headquarters it was reported that a detective had been sent to Chicago to interview the former husband, but this could not be confirmed. On the other hand, it is said, several detectives are opposed to questioning the man until some tangible evidence is obtained concerning his presence in New York on the day of the shooting.

The man probably has no idea the detectives are centring their attention on him, although it is believed that detectives have questioned his friends here. It is understood that a packet of personal letters found among Elwell's effects contained two epistles from a woman which passingly referred to the man.

The police have maintained secrecy right along about the existence of those letters. Assistant District Attorney Dooling, on the other hand, repeatedly has declared he never saw them. He repeated this denial yesterday. And when Assistant District Attorney Joyce, head of the District Attorney's Homicide Bureau, was asked about them, he replied:

"I'll do no more talking about the murder of Elwell, or anything that might have been developed in connection with it."

Mr. Joyce refused to say whether he examined the letters.

"Won't you say whether any such letters were found in Elwell's house by anybody?" he was asked.

"I must decline to talk about this case," insisted Mr. Joyce.

Both Mr. Dooling and Mr. Joyce were asked if they knew about the police inquiry regarding the movements of the Chicago man. Both declared they did not. They shut off further questioning by entering Mr. Dooling's office for a conference. Half an hour later they left the Criminal Courts Building.

Earlier in the investigation Mr. Swann said his office was making every effort to avoid interfering with the police and that detectives were handling certain features of the case without conferring with him or his assistants.

"We shall not ask them to tell us what they are doing," the District Attorney explained, "but we are giving them whatever aid we can when they call on us."

Mr. Swann made it plain that he felt it was not the function of the District Attorney to engage in detective work; that the proper sphere of the District Attorney was to examine any witnesses the detectives felt could shed light on a crime.

Neither the police nor the District Attorney evinced any interest in reports that a young woman, before her marriage recently, had placed herself in Elwell's power by writing endearing letters to him and receiving checks for large amounts, and that Elwell had kept the canceled checks as evidence of their relations.

The young woman and her husband, according to the report, are socially prominent in this city and the South. It is known, however, that neither the young woman, her husband, nor any of their friends have been questioned by the District Attorney or any of his assistants.

Several detectives assigned to run down the murderer said they had never heard the woman's name connected with the turfman's affairs. They laughed at the check story and intimated no such letters had ever come into their possession.

H. Hobart Porter, President of the American Water Works and Electrical Company, 50 Broad Street, pleaded guilty yesterday before Judge Howe in the Federal Court to violating the Volstead act by having whisky in his possession without a Government permit. He was fined $250. William E. Barnes, former secretary to Elwell and steward of the Studio Club at 384 Park Avenue, of which Elwell was the secretary at the time of his death, testified before August Hasenflug, special counsel for James Shevlin, Supervising Prohibition Enforcement Agent in this district, that he sold four cases of whisky to Mr. Porter which, Barnes admitted, was obtained from bootleggers.

SAYS HE MURDERD ELWELL.

DETROIT, July 13.—A telephone call from a man representing himself as the slayer of Joseph Bowne Elwell, New York turfman and card expert, was received today by I. H. Polozker, Assistant United States District Attorney, without disclosing his identity. The man, who spoke with a slight foreign accent, asked Polozker to advise the New York authorities to "leave those other people alone; they had nothing to do with it." He intimated that he was a former soldier and shot Elwell because the latter had broken up a romance between him and a woman. He said he would surrender "when he got around to it."

All efforts to learn the identity of the man or whence the call came were futile, although the prosecutor said the conversation lasted fifteen minutes.

The man told a story of an unsuccessful suit for the hand of a Bohemian Countess almost a decade ago in the capitals of Europe. A final refusal, he told Polozker, led him to abandon his country for America, where he settled about eight years ago. During the early months of the war Elwell, then visiting Europe, is said to have made the acquaintance of this woman and her sister. Several months later the sisters came to New York, living there since.

When District Attorney Swann was informed last night of the dispatch from Detroit he said: "That is in line with many anonymous communications I have received in connection with the Elwell murder. It is either a hoax, in my opinion, or is the vaporings of a disordered mind. I shall not even bother to communicate with the Detroit authorities about the matter."

Mr. Swann explained that at no time during his investigation of the Elwell case has he received any information that Elwell had been on intimate terms with a "Countess."

MERCER

Mercer's high gear ability will surprise you

THE long stroke and high speed of the Mercer motor give it surprising torque for its cylinder area.

Its high gear performance is correspondingly versatile. It throttles to a walk and picks up to far greater speed than the average owner will ever need—all on direct drive at fourth speed; and its fourth speed work on hills is truly extraordinary.

Mercer is a Hare's Motors product—built for all-around utility. But with that utility it combines such individual points of merit as are often emphasized as if they were in themselves enough to indicate sound investment value.
